Local Farmers' Foreign Trade Update Given

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Half of the 500 farmers who bought $100-per-share stock in a corporation to develop foreign and domestic trade attended an update meeting held at the Hoffman building Tuesday evening. Many Amish farmers were in the audience.

Allen Weicksel, who formed the Pennsylvania Producers Research and Development Commission, Inc., presented his elaborate plan to establish export and distribution systems in various foreign countries and domestic distribution in the U.S. Actually two corporations have been formed, one for the research and development side of the business and the other to protect the wealth of the corporations.

While the plan includes small business and has been expanded to include statewide representation, many of the Lancaster, Chester, York, and Lebanon County farmers joined before the October 1 stock price increase because of the promise that raw production products from agriculture would have special emphasis in the distribution system. Now the price of stock is $4,000 per share.

Weichsel listed countries that are being worked or contacted to include Russia, Vietnam, Mexico, Hungary, Czech Republic, and Latvia. He said they have prospective Russian partners to establish a contract for joint ventures.

While the prospect of large potential profits was presented, right now the expense of making these international contacts is coming from the money raised from stock sales. Several farmers have put leins against their farms as backing for the $400,000 line of credit the export corporation needs to purchase products for distribution.

While expectations are running high among farmers who are looking for additional income and markets from their products, it may be several years before any real profits come back to the farm from this venture.

MARYLAND POLLED HEREFORD PRINCESS

Kathy DeHart and Gordon Sheetenheim, public relations spokesperson for the Maryland Polled Hereford Association, pose with Kathy's steer "Fred." The two advocate ~~Polled Herefords for their good nature and gentle disposi~~tions. Sheetenheim was honored recently at the Eastern National Livestock show with the dedication of the Polled Hereford Standard of Perfection in his honor.

DeHarts Appreciate Docile Nature Of Herefords

JEFFERSON, Md. — Fifteen-year-old Kathy DeHart loves Polled Hereford cattle. She loves them so much that she and her family keep four steers on their property.

That's nothing out of the ordinary for this 4-H and FFA member, who also happens to be Maryland Polled Hereford Princess.

Until you realize that the DeHart family lives in the middle of a development.

"Other people walk their dogs; we walk our steers," said the energetic spokesperson for the breed.

It's easy to tell the priorities of this family. "The cattle keep the family together. They're something we all do that we can enjoy," said Kathy's father, Jack.

Jack and Nancy DeHart have two children at home: Kathy, and her brother Kenny. Two older daughters, Rose and Helen, live away. In addition to the steers, the tidy two-acre homestead is home to three breeding ewes and a market lamb, 10 turkeys, one rabbit, and a border collie pup named Buster.

Crowned Princess at the Montgomery County Fair this August, Kathy has been involved in the Maryland Polled Hereford Association (MPHA) as a junior member for three years. In addition to her public speaking dates and appearances at shows such as the upcoming Red, White, and Blue sale at Frederick, Kathy is making a priority out of recruiting new junior members.

She thinks Polled Herefords are especially suited for youth to work with because of the gentle nature of the breed. Polled Hereford Public Relations volunteer Gordon Sheetenhelm echoes this sentiment.

"This is an opportunity for youth to have a positive experience with the cattle. I'd hate to see some youngster get injured work-

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — October was proclaimed as Poultry Month by the Lancaster County commissioners during the Lancaster County Poultry Association banquet held Tuesday evening at the Willow Valley Convention Center.

Growth in the layer and broiler industry has placed Lancaster County in the number one spot for producing layers and pullets in the nation.

Mark Price officially handed over the reins of leadership of the association to George Georges, president of the board. Georges is affiliated with Wenger Feeds in Rheems.

"We promise we will be agressive in promoting poultry products to the non-farm community," Georges said of the association's focus in the upcoming year.

Georges said that strong support is growing for the association despite a smaller number of

Set Clocks Back Tonight

For those farmers who have been using Daylight Saving Time throughout the summer months, the time has come to change back to standard time. The change becomes official at 2 a.m. on Sunday morning, Oct. 29. For that extra hour of sleep, turn your clocks back one hour before you go to bed on Saturday night. If you are a dairy farmer, you will likely want to change your milking time gradually over several days.

PCC Honors Bupp, Eckenrode, And Robinson

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Three deserving supporters of cooperative education programs were recently honored at the Leadership Recognition Banquet of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC) Annual Meeting last week at the Penn State Nittany Lion Inn in State College.

Receiving the Distinguished Service Award was Joyce Bupp of Seven Valleys. Joyce and her husband Leroy milk 225 registered

Revised Kennel Regulations Get Approval

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — There are some significant, changes with how the state Department of Agriculture intends to enforcing the state Dog Law.

According to a recent news release, state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius has announced efforts to make the PDA Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement "more responsive while returning it to firm financial footing."

Primarily this means the PDA Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement is seeking to allow veterinarians the authority to issue dog licenses as part of the rabies vaccination program, and reduce the age of dogs required to be licensed from 6 months to 3 months old.

While this would require action by the state Legislature and approval by the governor, the PDA has used its authority to alter the regulations covering the operation of dog kennels and how dogs are to be treated while in transit.

The state Independent Regulatory Review Commission (IRRC) last week approved a package of revised dog kennel regulations as part of a final review process.

That means the regulations which affect the operation of state-licensed dog kennels should take effect soon.

The next step is to have the new regulations published in the Pennsylvania Bulletin. They then become effective.

Licensed kennel operators then have 90 days to comply. For some operators it may mean redesigning or upgrading kennel facilities.

The state Department of Agriculture has authority over the

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

PHILADELPHIA
OCTOBER 24, 1995

Prices were higher. The market tone was fully steady to firm. Demand for trucklot volumes was light as most large buyers were already covered, but less-than-trucklot buying was fairly active as buyers hesitated to purchase full trucklots, and instead only purchased for immediate needs. Floor stocks were adequate. Raw material prices were unchanged to higher, and supplies were mixed with some plants seeking eggs while others offered gradable nest run eggs into shell egg channels.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA

OCTOBER 25, 1995

Movement of yellow U.S. Grade A ready-to-cook whole birds was slow to fair. Seller offerings were fully adequate to ample and extra supplies were difficult to place. Live supplies were fully adequate; weights remained in a range of light to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 56 to 67 cents. Trade sentiment was steady at best. Boneless skinless breasts were adequate and generally cleared well. Bone-in breasts were in tight supply. Leg quarters, drums and wings were available and were slow in clearing. Thighs were generally no more than adequate.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA

OCTOBER 25, 1995

Prices were unchanged to higher for mediums in the Midwest, and the balance of prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady to firm, mostly steady. Demand was fair to good, mostly moderate and best into retail specials and food service channels. Supplies were generally adequate. Breaking stock supplies were also generally adequate, and prices were unchanged to instances higher. Light type hen offerings were sufficient for the light demand.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO

OCTOBER 25, 1995

Harvest winding down, late start but early finish. Minor price changes today as industry counting the supply side figures. Wheat steady to 2 cents higher. Corn steady to 2 cents higher. Sorghum 1-2 cents higher. Soybeans 1-3 cents higher. Amazing what the big combines can do; it is mostly a matter of getting enough trucks to move the grain and keep them running. Computers in the cabs keep track on yields and tonnage. Elevators and storage houses now trying to compile totals and see where they stand. U.S.D.A. Crop Production report comes out Monday and it will be outdated but may offer some direction.

Everybody has heard world wheat supplies are tight. Attention is now turning to next year's crop, guessing on acerage seeded. Some private sources estimate as much as a 10 percent increase. However very strong price competition from other commodities and dry weather covering a large area. Kansas City new crop wheat on the Board at 4.51 and elevators paying a 5-7 cents premium. Corn harvest on the down hill side. Bean harvest about over and corn headers now on most combines and going full steam for the rest of the corn. Finish up weather forcast for the rest of the week. Rail car shortage but no reports yet of dumping corn on the ground or in the streets. Some producers that are short of bins and do not want to pay elevator storage are not in a hurry to shell as prices keep going up. Foreign country's again making very large purchases. Running out of beans —in the fields. Elevators and processers upping basis trying to get more beans. However, producers and bankers optomistic with offerings in strong hands.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC
THIS WEEK WITH

OCT 30-NOV 5, 1995

WILL ROGERS DAY, NOV. 4.

ALL SAINTS' DAY

Originally celebrated on May 13, All Saint's Day was a catch-all holiday to honor saints without days of their own. In the 8th century the date was changed to November 1, making All Hallow's Eve October 31st, as an attempt to counteract a pagan holiday traditionally celebrated then. The Celt's celebrated the end of the old year on October 31, their New Year commencing November 1, and bonfires were lit to help the Sun through the dark days of winter. The masquerade elements of the holiday were added in the 18th and 19th centuries, when "guisers" stepped out in costume to drive away evil.

They are not all saints who use holy water.

— Anonymous

TIP OF THE WEEK

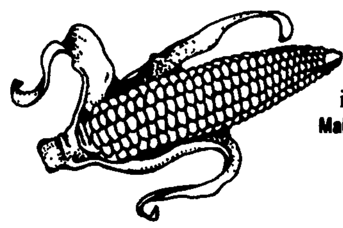
☞ To combat a sweet tooth, rinse your mouth with a teaspoon of baking soda in a cup of water. Your craving will disappear.

POPCORN BALLS

1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup molasses
1 teaspoon vinegar
4 tablespoons melted butter
8 cups popped corn

Bring syrup, molasses, and vinegar to boil in a saucepan, stirring, until a candy thermometer reads 270° F. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Pour over popcorn, tossing gently until well coated. Grease your hands and form popcorn into balls.

Makes 10 to 12 popcorn balls.



THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Hang up a snakeskin and it will bring rain.

If the beech acorn is wet on All Saint's Day, (Nov. 1) the winter will be wet.

The swine jerk up their heads before a big wind.

Special Offer Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
OCTOBER 25, 1995

Compared to last Monday: Feeder steers and heifers steady to 2.00 lower. Demand moderate for feeder steers, fairly light for small supply of feeder heifers. Steer and heifer calves 2.00-4.00 lower with moderate demand. Yearling cattle carried medium flesh and average to full weigh-ups. Calf flesh is improving for buyers and is medium to moderately fleshy. Wheat planting is basically completed with most fields germinated. A general rain is needed but pastures would still be late. Slaughter cows 1.00-2.00 lower, with exception of fleshy cows steady. Slaughter bulls steady to 1.00 lower. Packer demand moderate. Bred cow buyers fairly active at this level. 65 percent of cows and bulls bought by packers. 730 cows and bulls sold. Receipts this week 11,475; last week 11,005; last year 14,327. OPINION

Storekeepers?

Editor's Note: The following excerpts were written more than a half-century ago. But they contain a certain reality that can be felt by the farmer-at-heart even today.

·"—a hord of tattered feverish Americans poured in. And such was their hunger for land that they—guarded with guns the land—. They put up houses and barns, they turned the earth and planted crops. And these things were possession, and possession was ownership. —frantically—Americans ·wanted land.

"Then with time—their children grew up and had children on the land. And the hunger was gone from them, the feral hunger, the gnawing, tearing hunger for land, for water and earth and the good sky over it, for the green thrusting grass, for the swelling roots. They had these things so completely that they did not know about them any more. They had no more the stomach-tearing lust for a rich acre and a shining blade to plow it, for seed and a windmill beating its wings in the air. They arose in the dark no more to hear the sleepy birds' first chittering, and the morning wind around the house while they waited, for the first light, to go out to the dear acres.

These things were lost, and crops were reckoned in dollars, and land was valued by principal plus interest, and crops were bought and sold before thy were planted. Then crop failure, drought, and flood were no longer little deaths within life, but simple losses of money. And all their love was thinned with money, and all their fierceness dribbled away in interest until they were no longer farmers at all, but little shopkeepers of crops, little manufacturers who must sell before they can make. Then those farmers who were not good shopkeepers lost their land to good shopkeepers. No matter how clever, how loving a man might be with earth and growing things, he could not survive if he were also not a good shopkeeper. And as time went on, the business men had the farms, and the farms grew larger, but there were fewer of them.

"—And it came about that owners no longer worked on their farms. They farmed on paper; and they forgot the land, the smell, the feel of it, and remembered only that they owned it, remembered only what they gained and lost by it. And some of the farms grew so large that one man could not even conceive of them any more, so large that it took batteries of bookkeepers to keep track of interest and gain and loss; chemists to test the soil, to replenish; straw bosses to see that the stooping men were moving along the rows as swiftly as the material of their bodies could stand. Then such a farmer really became a storekeeper, and kept a store. He paid the men, sold them food, and took the money back. And after a while he did not pay the men at all, and saved bookkeeping. These farms gave food on credit. A man might work and feed himself; and when the work was done, he might find that he owed money to the company. And the owners not only did not work the farms any more, many of them had never seen the farms they owned." —From The Grapes Of Wrath, by John Steinbeck. Copyright 1939.

Now Is The Time

To Check Smoke Detectors

This weekend marks the end of Daylight Saving Time. At 2 a.m. Sunday morning, we are supposed to turn our clocks back one hour, otherwise we will be at church one hour early.

This Sunday also marks "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery Day." The International Association of Fire Chiefs sponsors this day to encourage homeowners to change the batteries in their smoke detectors the same time they turn back their clocks. This helps to insure all battery operated smoke detectors are kept operational.

If you do not have smoke detectors installed in your home, now would be a could time to do it. If you have smoke detectors in your home, change their batteries this weekend and look to see if you need to install additional smoke detectors.

Properly located and operational smoke detectors saves lives. So check your smoke detectors and change their batteries this weekend.

To Produce Healthy Calves

Healthy and vigorous calves start with cows and heifers that are healthy, properly fed, and well cared for to calving, according to Glenn Shirk, extension dairy agent.

To help reduce stress on the calf and its dam at time of calving, someone should be present to render assistance if necessary.

As soon as the calf is born, be sure air passages are open and that it is breathing. Another concern is to protect the newborn calf from exposure to infectious organisms. This starts with providing the dam with a clean maternity area.

One of the best places is a well sodded pasture. Then separate the calf from its dam immediately after birth and move it to its own individual pen or hutch. This minimizes the risk of the calf ingesting any Johnes contaminated fecal material from older animals.

Do not even let the calf nurse its dam. Instead, wash the dam's udder, milk out some colostrum, and bottle feed it to the calf. Aim to have at least 1 to 2 quarts of colostrum into the calf within the first hour of birth and about 4 quarts by 6 to 8 hours after birth.

The early feeding of colostrum is key to the health and life of the calf. It is the calf's first line of defense. Also, dip the calf's naval in tincture of iodine.

To Prevent Accidents

Dr. Zoann Parker, extension 4-H agent, reminds us accidents are the leading killer of children.

More children die from preventable injuries each year than from all childhood diseases combined. Last year, nearly 8,000 children under 14 were killed and 50,000 were permanently disabled. This year one child in four will suffer a preventable injury serious enough to require medical attention.

The major risk areas for kids fall into five groupings: motor vehicle accidents, fires and burns, drownings, falls and poisonings and chokings.

What can you do to prevent these things? Some ways are:

- When children are passengers in a car, they must wear seat belts.
- As children grow up they also need instruction in safe bicycle riding and crossing streets.
- Children need to learn what to do if the smoke detector awakens them.
- They should be taught to swim as early as possible and to respect water.
- Keep poisons, cleaning materials, and medicines away from children.

By always thinking and practicing safety, you could prevent a very serious accident.

LETTING THE GLORY OUT

October 29, 1995

Background Scripture:
Acts 11:19-30; 12:24,25
Devotional Reading:
Acts 12:1-11

John Lahr, son of Bert Lahr who is best remembered as the Cowardly Lion in The Wizard of Oz, wrote of the seemingly endless array of obstacles director Victor Fleming faced in producing that movie. "How do you get a rusted Tin Woodsman off his mound of earth and onto the road for a dance? How will the Cowardly Lion wag the tail of his one-hundred pound lion suit? How do you teach 350 Munchkins to sing 'We Welcome You to Munchkin Land,' when only a third of them speak English?" The key, says Lahr, was Fleming's production phiosophy: "Don't get excited — obstacles make a better picture."

I have been a long time in beginning to learn that obstacles also make a better life. I confess that I'd rather not have it that way. I would prefer that life be always onward and upward, progress steady on a 45-degree angle. I would probably sacrifice a few big victories for a steady procession of little ones.

PAINS AND GAINS

Yet, I have personally experienced that obstacles have often provided me with some of my best opportunities. And what I have regarded initially as defeat has often been seen in retrospect as an opportunity for victory. The problem is that I do not have the divine intelligence and understanding to know what is defeat and what is victory. Some of the biggest gains and growths in my life have come to me in the midst of what seemed like insurmountable obstacles. Sometimes the experiences that have saddened and depressed me most have yielded the greatest growth and understanding.

Unfortunately, at the moment I faced those obstacles, it seemed anything but a time of encouragement or hope. That's the problem — confronted by an obstacle we cannot see our situation clearly. Someone once said, "Obstacles are those frightening things you see when you take your eyes off your goal."

This is obvious — at least to us — in the earliest days of the life of the Church. Stephen was stoned to death and the terrible persecution broke out against the church. A black day for the cause of Christ? Not necessarily. "Now those who were scattered because of the persecution ... traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch" (11:10). The persecution actually served a good purpose because it ignited the spread of Christianity from Jerusalem to other cities.

THE CHOICE

But it's not automatic. The persecuted Christians might have decided to cease and desist from practicing their new faith in their places of refuge. If they had done that there would have been no spread of the gospel there. But the refugees chose to seize their opportunities and the gospel prospered as a result. And because news of the growth of the gospel at Antioch got back to Jerusalem, Barnabas was sent there. And Barnabas persuaded Paul to join him, thus initiating one of the great missionary movements of Christian history. It is amazing what can happen when we choose to regard our obstacles as opportunities.

But after the good news from Antioch, there was also some bad news. A prophet there by the name of Agabus foretold that there would be a great famine over all the world. Another obstacle — but also another opportunity. "And the disciples determined, every one according to his ability, to send relief to the brethren who lived in Judea..." (11:29). The famine was an obstacle, but it was also an opportunity for the church to experience Christian love and brotherhood.

As Edwin Markham has written: Defeat may serve as well as victory to shake the soul and let the glory out.

PMMB Postpones Premium Reduction 90 Days

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) has recently approved a 90-day delay in reducing its mandatory over-order Class I premium by 10 cents.

The PMMB is the state's dairy industry regulatory agency and is charged primarily with an accounting mission to ensure that dairymen are being fairly compensated for milk delivered to processors, that consumers are not being cheated, and that commercial, non-farm retailers do not undersell dairy products to entice other business.

The over-order premium on Class I milk (fluid milk for drinking, etc.) was instituted in 1988 as a means of directly helping Pennsylvania milk producers realize a better income, in light of localized natural disaster.

Droughts were the initial reason the premium was instituted. Other economic factors have also played a role in maintaining the over-order premium or increasing it.

Earlier this year, upon petition by milk processors and dairy cooperatives to reduce the premium, the PMMB held hearings on the matter and decided on a gradual reduction of premium.

The reason given for the desire to reduce the premium was that it forced processors to pay more for Pennsylvania-produced Class I milk than for drinking milk purchased from producers in surrounding states.

This difference in price reportedly encouraged volume milk buyers to purchase out-of-state milk for drinking and to sell instate milk for Class II uses and at those lower prices. Class II use carries no over-order premium.

This buyer/processor switch from using locally produced milk for fluid products has driven the call to reduce the premium to the point where it would be more advantageous for processors to purchase locally produced milk for Class I uses, instead of paying to have it hauled into the state.

Also, for members of cooperatives with territory crossing state lines, it created a situation whereby it could possibly cause internal conflicts.

Some disagreed with the move, but the majority of arguement supported reducing the premium.

Effective August 1, the premium was reduced from 80 cents per hundred pounds (cwt.) of milk to 70 cents. On Sept. 1 it was further reduced by a dime to 60 cents per cwt.

A third 10-cent reduction had been scheduled to take effect Oct. 1, but as a result of a late September meeting, following closely after a hearing, the PMMB approved a 90-day delay in the last 10-cent reduction.

According to estimates, it could mean $437,000 extra statewide in dairy producer income.

Because of this year's drought and its effects, particularly in thin and northern soils with low water-retention qualities, dairymen have suffered from increased costs of production, and reductions in production per cow. This means less cash available to buy and bring more supplemental feed to the farm.

A representative from Pennsylvania Farm Bureau — which had opposed any premium reduction, because that would hurt its in-state dairy producer members, unlike a multi-state cooperative — testified recently that production costs were increasing.

Also, testimony on behalf of the Pennsylvania State Grange also indicated a desire to postone the premium reduction until the end of December, and then review the situation.

Emu Incubating, Hatching Seminar Set

MILLVILLE (Columbia Co.)—The Pennsylvania Emu Farmers' Association (PEFA) will be hosting an Incubating and Hatching Seminar on Saturday, Nov. 4 at the Centre County Vo-Tech School in Pleasant Gap, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Ardell Nelson, owner and CEO of Canyon Global Corp.

Nelson brings with him 12 years of expertise in the emu industry. He has hatched thousands of chicks over the years and will be sharing many new and exciting industry developments on the horizon, which will be heard for the first time at this important seminar.

A native of Pennsylvania and a graduate of Penn State, Ardell has one of the largest emu breeding operations in the U.S. His corporation is a completely integrated entity involved with emu ranching, rendering and processing of emu oil, tanning emu hides, emu oil based skin care and pharmaceutical development, manufacture of emu oil products, continuous research of the emu and its many products, and marketing of the products of the emu.

Nelson started raising and studying exotic hoofed animals in 1973. He has been recognized for doing integrated emu research and raising outstanding emus since the early 1980s. He has one of the largest and most productive emu ranching operations in the United States.

Swine Receiving Station Opening November 1

Walter M. Dunlap & Sons Inc.
Lancaster, Pa
Announce A New Marketing Service For Pennsylvania Pork Producers.

Beginning November 1, 1995, Walter M. Dunlap & Sons Inc. will be operating a Lancaster Stockyards swine receiving station every Wednesday (except during the week of Thanksgiving) so that swine producers have a new swine marketing opportunity. Producers, therefore, can market animals on Mondays through the Auction or Wednesdays through the receiving station. Marlin Becker, having served as White Oak Mills' hog dispatcher and marketing agent for 12 years, will be joining Walter M. Dunlap & Sons Inc. as manager of their hog division effective October 16, 1995 to oversee this new Lancaster Stockyards receiving station. A life-long Lancaster County resident, Marlin has over 14 years of experience as a swine producer, fieldman and marketing agent.

Should you have any suggestions regarding how to better service your need, please contact Marlin at (717) 397-5136.

Cumberland County Recognizes Outstanding 4-H'ers

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co. Correspondent

HUNTSDALE (Cumberland Co.) — Plenty of awards were given out during the Cumberland County 4-H Achievement Banquet.

Theme for the event, which was held at the Penn Township Fire Hall, was "4-H: More Than You Ever Imagined."

The I Dare You awards went to Matthew Day of Shippensburg and to Tanya Zelger of Carlisle.

Day is a member of the Dairy Club, the dairy judging team and was the top news reporter.

Zelger was a Pennsylvania Keystone winner and has been involved in sewing and food projects.

The Cumberland County Club of the Year Award was won by the Conodoguinet Sheep Club.

John Creek of Shippensburg was the winner of the Outstanding 4-H Boy honor. The 15-year-old has been a 4-H member for seven years. He is a dairy club member and a participant in the wildlife habitat judging team.

The Outstanding 4-H Girl award was captured by 17-year-old LeAnne Haycock of Shippensburg. She has been in 4-H for five years, is president of the Cumberland County 4-H Council, and is a 4-H camp counselor.

The 4-H Spirit Award was won by the Cumberland Valley School District. The school superintendent, Dr. Orr Brenneman, accepted the award on behalf of the district.

Rebecca Cornman of Boiling Springs captured the Outstanding Junior 4-H'er Award. She is 14 years old and has been a 4-H member for half of her life, and has been involved in dairy, food, and clothing projects.

The Gladys Holtry Award, which recognizes outstanding 4-H leaders, was granted to Sandy Long of Carlisle, who has been a 4-H leader for 31 years and is the coach of the county drill team.

Jason Mowery of Shippensburg took home the 4-H Wildlife Audubon Society Award. The 4-Speak-Out Night Award was won by the Four Clover Stitchers.

Michelle Cornman of Carlisle, a seven-year 4-H member who has joined in livestock and clothing projects, was picked as the outstanding secretary.

The outstanding treasurer was Sandra Anderson of Boiling Springs, who is involved in clothing projects and is a member of the dairy club and the Conodoguinet Sheep Club.

Kristin Sanderson was selected as the outstanding news reporter.

Cassandra Knerr was recognized for winning honors in the State Fashion Revue. Her victory there entitles her to participate in the National 4-H Fashion Revue in Memphis, Tenn.

New county 4-H officers who were installed during the banquet were Jen Beck, president; Matthew Day, vice president; Amy Witmer, secretary; and John Leib, treasurer.

Many 4-H leaders also were congratulated for their service. Galen Smith was honored as a 30-year leader. Raymond Bear was cited for 15 years of service and Ed Jones and Donald Nailor were applauded as 10-year leaders.

Five-year leaders were Debbie Beck, Pattie Creek, Timothy Hocker, and Doug Nichols. Those recognized as first-year leaders were Karen Barrett, Darlene Beaston, Carolyn Clinch, Wendy Heister, Judy McNew, Dennis Nailor, Joanne Nailor, William Noss, JoAnn Sanderson, Wendy Witmer, and Ron Zeigler.

Secretary Of Ag To Speak At National FFA Convention

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman will speak to more than 34,000 FFA members, advisors, supporters and guests at the 68th National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo. Glickman will give remarks at 1 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10, the second day of the three-day convention, the nation's largest annual student gathering.

Prior to being sworn in as the 26th U.S. secretary of agriculture on March 30, 1995, Glickman represented Kansas' 4th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives for 18 years. He served on the House Agriculture Committee for nearly two decades, including six years as chairman of the Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and its predecessor, the Subcommittee on Wheat, Soybeans and Feed Grains. He is widely recognized as a leading spokesman for American agriculture, leading the way in such areas as expanding trade in agricultural goods and food safety, and reinventing the United States Department of Agriculture.

The 68th National FFA Convention also features sessions filled with recognition of FFA members' accomplishments and addresses by top speakers including John Alston, motivational speaker; Emanuel Cleaver, mayor of Kansas City; Diana Golden, Olympic gold medal skier; Fred McClure, motivational speaker and former national FFA secretary from Texas; Jeanne Robertson, humorist; Shawntel Smith, Miss America, sponsored by AGCO Corporation; and David Toma, former New York City policeman. Additional speakers will be announced as they are confirmed.

In addition, convention participants will have opportunities to attend leadership workshops, tour Kansas City manufacturing and agribusiness sites, learn about agricultural careers and education options from nearly 300 exhibitors at the FFA National Agricultural Career Show and meet with fellow FFA members from around the nation.

Berks Holds Market Steer Roundup

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — On October 11 at the Leesport Farmers Market, Inc., the Berks County 4-H Beef Club held its annual market steer roundup.

Fred Weaver of Ephrata judged the 18 market steers.

The champion steer was shown by David Newpher of Fleetwood. The steer was a 1,285-pound crossbred steer. Reserve went to Kelly Dietrich of Hamburg, with her steer named "Duce." The steer was a Charolais/Limousin crossbred.

The steers were then sold. Annex Florist of New York purchased the grand champion steer and Meridian Bank purchased the reserve grand champion steer. The club had a very successful sale with all steers averaging $200-$300 above market price.

4-H'ers are now looking forward to their annual 4-H Livestock banquet held Nov. 4 at the Kutztown Grange. They will enjoy a meal of 4-H meats purchased at the 4-H Livestock sales.

Other placings are as follows:

Light Lightweight: 1. Cathy Levan, 2. Justin Levan, 3. William Willits III.

Heavy Lightweight: 1. Mark Manwiller, 2. Kristy Dietrich, 3. Jason Leiby.

Light Mediumweight: 1. Kelly Dietrich, 2. Kelly Holcombe, 3. Matt Samsel.

Heavy Mediumweight: 1. David Newpher, 2. Jason Manwiller, 3. Emilie Miller.

Light Heavyweight: 1. Troy Geisinger, 2. Lee Gauker, 3. Melissa Leiby.

Heavy Heavyweight: 1. Michael Holcombe, 2. Ben Weist, 3. Kyle Zerbe.

The Berks County 4-H Beef Club held its annual market steer roundup. The champion steer was shown by David Newpher, left, of Fleetwood. Reserve went to Kelly Dietrich of Hamburg.

York DHIA Annual Meeting

SHREWSBURY (York Co.) — Awards presentations and gospel music entertainment will share the program at the annual meeting of the York County Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA), scheduled for 7 p.m. on Monday, November 20, at the Shrewsbury Fire Hall.

The annual dinner and awards program will also feature election of new directors to the county board, a report from district director Neal McCullough, Newville, and information on the Milk Urea Nitrogen (MUN) testing available through the state DHIA.

Cost for the roast beef dinner is $8.50 for adults, $4 for children 6 through 12, and free for children 5 and under. Tickets may be ordered through the county's DHIA technicians or by contacting Scott Cooper at 717-456-5355 or 717-456-5484, or Gary Thoman, 717-428-1832.

The Shrewsbury Fire Hall is located in Shrewsbury, on Route 851, west of Exit 1 of Interstate 83.

Chester To Hold Annual Meeting

GUTHRIESVILLE (Chester Co.) — County residents and friends are invited to attend Chester County Cooperative Extension's 1995 annual meeting on Thursday, Nov. 9 here at the East Brandywine Firehall.

Charles Brosius, Pennsylvania's secretary of agriculture and Chester County resident, will be the dinner speaker.

The doors open at 6:30 p.m. and a family-style roast beef dinner begins at 7 p.m. Door prizes and educational exhibits are included, too.

Tickets are $10 each. Call the extension office at (610) 696-3500 for details or order your tickets by Nov. 3 by sending your check to Penn State Cooperative Extension, 601 Westtown Road, Suite 370, West Chester, PA 19382-4546.

Dairymen's Banquet Scheduled

The Penn State Dairymen's Club annual dinner meeting will be held in the Penn State Ag Arena mezzanine on Friday, November 10, at 6:30 p.m. This is the evening before the Nittany Lion Fall Classic and offers a great chance for friends and alumni of Penn State to renew old acquaintances, honor award winners, and enjoy a roast beef and chicken buffet. Graduating seniors will also be recognized. The meeting is informal and is open to all persons. Delivering the keynote comments will be Peter Witmer of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. His topic is, "Promoting Pensylvania Products on the World Stage." Special efforts are being made to help reunite past Penn State dairy barn workers.

Banquet tickets are $12, and reservations can be made by calling LuAnn Weatherholtz or Dale Olver at 814-863-3664. The reservation deadline is noon on Monday, November 6.

Scholarship Application Deadline Nov. 10

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius today announced that Friday, Nov. 10 is the deadline for Farm Show exhibitors to apply for Farm Show Scholarships.

Money for the scholarships comes from a fund established following the 1993 Farm Show Sale of Champions. A non-profit foundation was established to administer contributions and distributions of the scholarship money.

Any young person who exhibited a market animal (steer, market swine or market lamb) at the Farm Show since 1993 is eligible to apply. Applicants must be full-time students working toward a degree at a post-secondary institution.

Criteria for selection includes scholarship; leadership in school, community and 4-H or FFA; participation in the Farm Show; and financial need.

Scholarship awards will be presented prior to the 1996 Farm Show Sale of Champions.

Applications can be obtained from the county extension office, high school agricultural instructor or from the Farm Show Scholarship Foundation Office, 4717 Orchard Road, Harrisburg, PA 17109. The telephone number is (717) 787-2905.

MILK. IT DOES A BODY GOOD.™

ASA Announces Call For Contestants

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The American Soybean Association (ASA) announces a call for contestants for the Soybean Marketing Challenge, which begins December 1 and runs until November 1, 1996.

During that time, producers get hands-on experience for both before and after harvest. The Challenge is sponsored by the American Soybean Association and American Cyanamid.

This popular program affords producers an opportunity to practice marketing soybeans for more profit, without actually risking a dime. Producers in 17 states participated in last year's contest.

The Challenge provides an opportunity to test marketing skills on the Chicago Board of Trade using a fictitious soybean crop. Whoever makes the most money on those soybeans will win. But even though there are great prizes for winning marketers, the Soybean Marketing Challenge is more than a game or contest. It is a unique educational opportunity based on real time trading.

Here's how it works: producers will be marketing the soybeans raised on the "Challenge Farm," 500 acres of soybean production based on the 1995 national average soybean yield. Participants will "open an account" with the Challenge trading desk and market new-crop 1995 soybeans. The contest will work just like the market and "authentic" account statements will be issued.

A special 800 number is provided to make "transactions." Accounts are treated like real ones, with margin calls, commission fees and storage costs to be drawn from an imaginary beginning cash balance of $20,000. The account statements will reflect these deductions and all transactions. In addition, participants will receive a trading manual and monthly newsletters from a University economist.

Open to all soybean farmers, the registration fee for a full-playing member is just $59. If you wish to receive the marketing materials and observe the game without actually playing, the fee is $39. A special student rate is also offered for just $25.

The grand prize winner of the Challenge will be awarded 400 acres of Pursuit herbicide and a trip for two to the Chicago Board of Trade! (Grand prize value approximately $7,500. First, second and third prizes also awarded.) On top of the grand prize, last year's contest winner added 87 cents per bushel based on the techniques he learned using the Challenge contest materials. How much additional value would that 87 cents have added to the average crop last year?

Find out how good a marketer you can be, and maybe win some great prizes in the process. For more information, contact the American Soybean Association at (800) 698-5770 or write to ASA Soybean Marketing Challenge, PO Box 419200, St. Louis, MO 63141-9200.

How To Expand Facilities

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Are you interested in building, remodeling, or expanding your livestock, poultry, or dairy facilities? Are you interested in learning more about new products and concepts related to animal care and housing?

Do you want to hear from other farmers who have made these changes and learn from their experiences — before you embark on your own project? Do you want to make contact with people who can provide you with the products and services you need?

If these concerns are on your mind, you will want to attend the Animal Housing Expo, Nov. 8-9, according to Dan McFarland, general chair of the event and cooperative extension agent in York County.

The Expo will be held at the Lebanon Fairgrounds in Lebanon. Hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event is sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension in conjunction with local agribusinesses. In addition, there will be numerous other displays, demonstrations, and presentations on topics related to animal care and housing.

The program for Wednesday, Nov. 8 is:

- 9:30 a.m. - "Avoiding Building Failures," by Tim Royer of Timber Tech Engineering.
- 10:15 a.m. - "A Vet's Common Sense Perspective of Cow Comfort, With a Focus On the Stall Barns," by Gordon Jones, veterinarian, Wisconsin.
- 1:30 p.m. - "Your Business - Will It Continue On Into The Future?" by Gary Heim, attorney, Mette, Evans and Woodside plus Liz Brown, tax consultant and preparer.

On Thursday, Nov. 9, the speaking program is:

- 9:30 p.m. - "Do You Have Sufficient Coverage?" by Doug Wallick, Agway Insurance.
- 10:15 a.m. - "Paying Attention to Swine Production Details," by a veterinarian-producer panel.
- 1:30 p.m. - "A Vet's Common Sense Perspective of Cow Comfort With a Focus On Freestall Barns" by Gordon Jones, veterinarian, Wisconsin.

Admission is free. Food will be available and drawings will be made for door prizes. For more information, contact your local cooperative extension office.

Lancaster Swine Club Honors Outstanding 4-H'ers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — Holding the trophy close to her heart, Lancaster County 4-H Swine Club Rookie of the Year Allison Hughes smiled and made this promise:

"Tomorrow I'll bring this into the classroom and thank them for letting me get it," she said.

Why? Because after showing the grand champion hog at the West Lampeter Community Fair this year, she asked her Hans Herr Elementary fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Faith Martin, if her classmates could walk down to the fair to see her hogs. Mrs. Martin agreed. And by the way — along with Martin's class came the fourth grade class of Mr. Shoff.

Allison admitted the class really had a fun time when one hog got away — until her father, Lancaster County livestock agent and 4-H adviser Chet Hughes, could round it up.

The 9-year-old daughter of Chet and Marie Hughes, Lancaster, said that when she realized all the shows in which she won champions this year, she couldn't believe "I did all that stuff."

Allison participated in a variety of championships the past year, including winning reserve champion overall at the Southeast Pennsylvania market hog derby.

Allison Hughes, right, was honored as Rookie of the Year at the annual 4-H Swine Banquet on Thursday night at the Country Table Restaurant in Mount Joy. Outstanding 4-H Member was awarded to nine-year 4-H member Melissa Becker, 17, president of the swine club, center. A special appreciation award was presented to Keystone Farm Credit, ACA for support of the 4-H club projects. Gerald H. Phillips, senior loan officer, left, accepted the award.

The 4-H member was honored along with several others at the annual 4-H Swine Banquet on Thursday night at the Country Table Restaurant in Mount Joy.

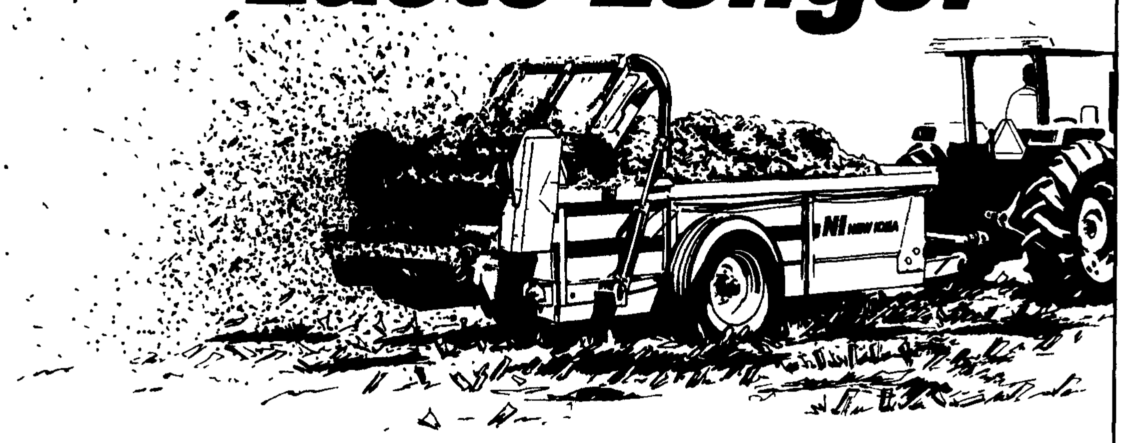
Outstanding 4-H Member was awarded to nine-year 4-H member Melissa Becker, 17, president of the swine club. Melissa, daughter of Marlin and Nancy Becker, Manheim, also served as club reporter, treasurer, and vice president.

A special appreciation award was presented to Keystone Farm Credit, ACA for support of the 4-H club projects, including ongoing financial support of every youth swine show in the county. Gerald H. Phillips, senior loan officer, accepted the award.

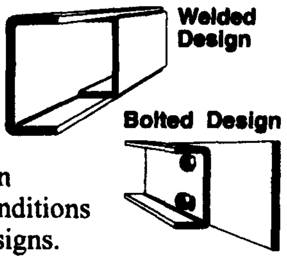
Top three project books went to Gerald Boyd, first place; Sarah Boyd, second; and Andy Weaver, third.

Chet Hughes thanked the 4-H leaders and parents for their support of the club. He said this is the 8th year of the county club. This year marked the 10th show and sale at Manheim Fairgrounds and the seventh carcass show. Membership in the club stands at 83. Twenty-five members of the club will be attending the 1996 Farm Show.

Simply Lasts Longer



One-piece frame and simplified gearbox designed for longer life, rougher fields.



- Rugged, one-piece welded undercarriage can't vibrate apart in tough field conditions like bolted designs.
- One-piece copper bearing, culvert-grade galvanized steel sides won't rust, leak or leave messy trails on yard or road.
- Polyurethane-coated floor stays slick even in extreme temperatures. Resists rotting, pitting and warping, too. Our one-piece floor provides strength and rigidity when compared to flimsy slatted floors that flex and give under heavy loads.
- 17,000 lb. minimum tensile strength T-bar conveyor chain is strongest available. We specify minimum, not average strength because, just like your log chain, it's the weakest link that fails.
- Corrosion-resistant rail-steel conveyor slats resist bending even with demanding subzero conditions or heavy slabs of pen-pack manure.
- Heat-treated replacement paddle tips bolt to worn-out paddles reviving them. Or bolt heat-treated tips on new paddles to extend life making them a full 1/2" thick. Ideal for spreading heavy pen-pack or highly abrasive chicken litter.
- Labor and parts included in our 10-year warranty on sides and floor. Compare. Most don't cover labor.

Poultry Association Recaps Year's Activities producers.

Involvement of members made the association's food stand at the Ephrata Fair the most profitable ever. Clair and Shirley High, who have headed the food stand committee for the past 15 years, presented a $3,771 check for the profits.

Clair High said that this year the stand sold more in one day than it sold in a week during the first years of opening the food stand. More than 1,200 chicken breast sandwiches and 1,400 pounds of chicken corn soup were sold.

"If we wouldn't have run out of soup two nights and the broiler would have worked during Tuesday's lunch, we would have sold much more," High said.

Lancaster County Poultry Ambassador Debbie Landis was introduced to members. She will promote the poultry industry through school promotions and at fairs, malls, and the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

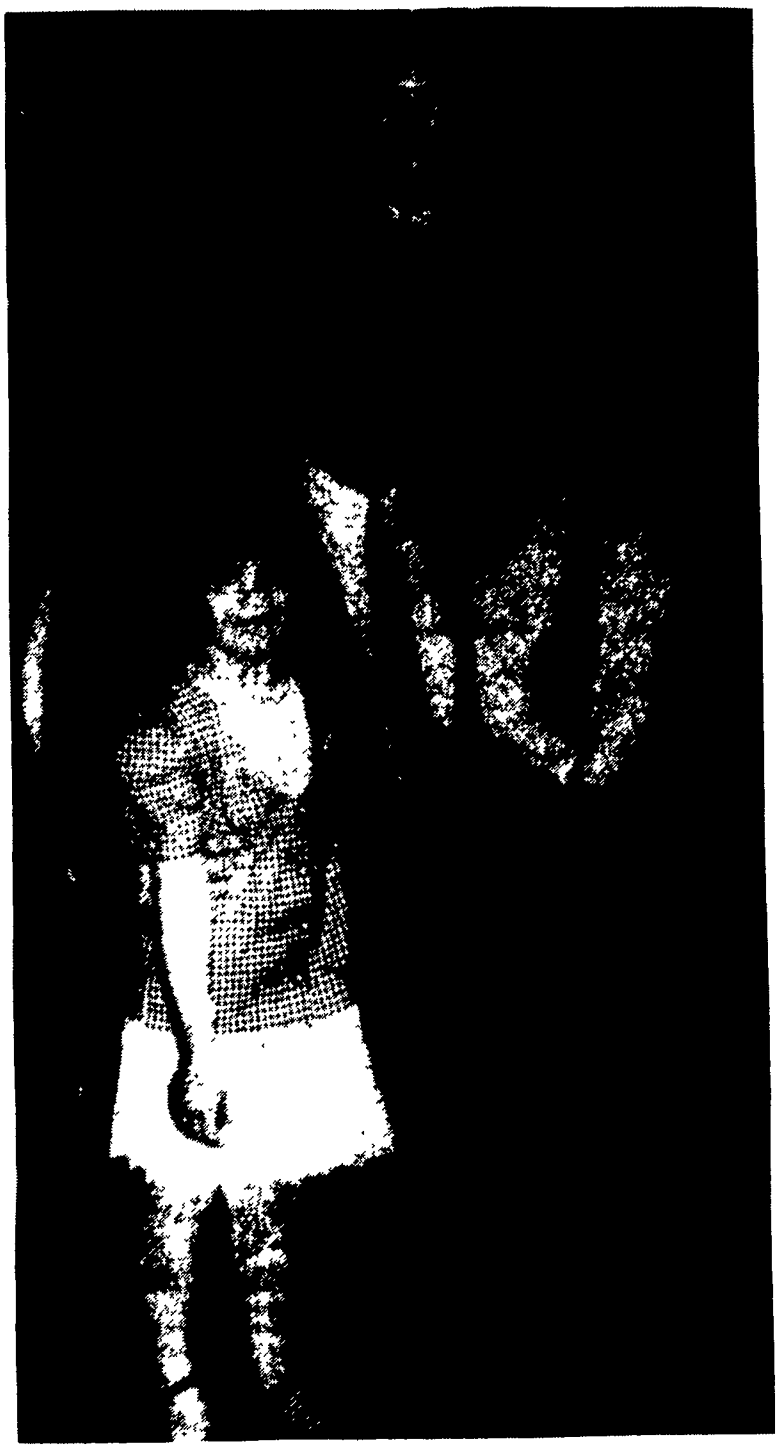
Don Brubaker, treasurer of the association, reported a balance of $26,650 in the treasury.

Two members, Walter Longacre and Doug Metzler, were added to the board of directors.

Mark Price, past president of the organization, told the audience to enjoy themselves. "Tonight is a night to feel good. We can't always control the market and other circumstances, but we can enjoy tonight."

Debbie Landis, Lancaster County Poultry Ambassador, stands with her parents Dick and Jean Landis.

The annual banquet provides a quick recap of the year's activities and entertainment. This year's entertainment was provided by Lois and Neil Feltham who sang a medley of musical numbers.



George Georges, president of the Lancaster County Poultry Association, with his wife Jeanne and children Steven, 7, and Victoria, 4.

Raleigh DHIA Holds Annual Meeting In Lancaster

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The dairy records processing center headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina, held the annual meeting at Eden Resort last Friday and Saturday. Lancaster DHIA is an affiliate and hosted the group of officials from across the nation who attended.

Ken Butcher, chief executive officer, gave an overview of the 1994 accomplishments. Butcher said they set a new record of 2.7 days turnaround time in August with a yearly average of 2.9 days. Fifty-five percent of the herds have a turnaround of two days or less. Vermont DHIA set a new affiliate record of 1.7 days in August.

Other accomplishemnts were listed as:

- Worked with Lancaster DHIA to develop SCC and reproduction CMR reports printed and mailed from their office. Richland County, Wisconsin, is also printing local CMR's.
- Expanded service area with the addition of Delaware, New Jersey and West Virginia herds through mid-East DHIA and Wisconsin herds through Indiana DHIA.
- Developed a conprehensive disaster recovery plan that keeps all dairy farmers records available should something happen to destroy these records in the main computer.
- Significantly increased enrollment of consultant programs.
- Established a veterinary advisory group to give input on program development.
- Developed a Windows-based graphics analysis program.
- Updated education, promotional and program support materials and expanded promotional efforts.
- Incorporated new lacatation curve equations into mainframe standarized 150 day milk calculations.

The total number of Pennsylvania herds between Lancaster DHIA and Crawford DHIA listed in TPE enrollment was 1,314 herds with 67,889 cows.

The DRPC advisory board rotates between dairy farmers and DHIA staff members. From the Lancaster DHIA, Joe Graybeal, southern Lancaster County farmer, has finished his term, and Jay Mylin, Lancaster DHIA manager, has been appointed to the board.

The Raleigh DRCP lists herds in 27 states, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico. Each year the annual meeting is held at one of the 18 affiliate locations. Therefore, it will be quite some time before an annual meeting is held in Pennsylvania again.

On Saturday afternoon the out-of-state visitors toured the Lancaster County Amish community and visited an Amish farm.

Pennsylvania Juniors Head To Louisville

LIBERTY (Tioga Co.) — Twenty Pennsylvania Jersey Junior members are ready to hit the show ring as they compete in the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, KY this weekend.

The National Junior Jersey Show, which takes place Saturday, November 4, draws exhibitors from across the United States.

Exhibitors from Pennsylvania include Lynde Vanderstrappen, of Mercer County, showing her junior calf; Jessica Chyle, of Wayne County, also showing a junior calf; Gwen Medic, of Mercer County and Lee Bailey of Blair County showing Intermediate calves; Ryan Sprout, of Susquehanna County and Erin Mowery of Mercer County showing senior calves; Ben Cloninger, of Centre County with his summer yearling; Amy Plummer, of Montgomery County and Randi Marchezak showing spring yearlings; and Cathleen Norman, of Tioga County showing her winter yearling.

Taking cows to the show are Joshua VanTassel, of Somerset County and Roberta McConnell, of Lawrence County with junior two-year-olds; Lynne Koinski, of Berks County with a senior two-year-old; Janet Vance, of Westmoreland County, Emily Norman, of Tioga County, and Scott Lackey of Mercer County with junior three-year-olds, Janelle Koontz, of Bedford County, with a four-year-old; Matthew Moyer, of Somerset County showing a five-year-old; and Michele Proctor, of Erie County and Andrew Youse, of Berks County showing in the six-years and over class.

Animals will also compete in the open All American Dairy Show which will be held Monday, November 6.

Animals qualified in September at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show held in Harrisburg.

Junior exhibitors are expected to pay about half of the cost of the show expenses, while the other half of the expenses are covered by the state association and contributions from area businesses and individuals. Donations are still being accepted to offset the cost of the trip. Contributions can be sent to David Norman, PJCA secretary at RR1, Box 30, Liberty, PA 16930.

enforcement of the state's Dog Law. This includes the authority to create regulations to carry out that enforcement.

According to comments included in a proposed order, expected to be signed by state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius, for those concerned about attempts to link local municipal zoning authority with the state's licensing of kennels, that request was rejected.

"Caernarvon Township, Lancaster County, and IRRC requested that local zoning approval be made a prerequisite to the issuance of a kennel license by the Department (of Agriculture)," the comments state.

"The Department (of Agriculture) rejects this suggestion. The Dog Law does not provide a basis upon which the Department can refrain from issuing a kennel license once the conditions of licensure are met.

"Any person seeking to operate a licensed kennel in the commonwealth must obtain a kennel license and comply with local zoning. The Department views these as two distinct requirements, and is disinclined to entangle them."

Except for one provision that exceeds federal regulations, the changes to ammendments to the state Department of Agriculture-promulagated regulations reflect a state government-wide effort to have state regulations coincide with federal regulations, and an effort to include the regulated community in the development of regulations.

Work on the regulations has occured over the past several years, with input generated by the state Dog Law Advisory Board, a consulting group representing the spectrum of interest within the state dog industry, and a number of other groups and individuals concerned with the regulations.

According to the 18-page order, "(The amendments to the Dog Law) are intended to facilitate enforcement of the Dog Law by providing kennel licensees a clearer picture of what is expected of them.

"The amendments draw language from kennel regulations promulgated by the United State Department of Agriculture ... which contain more specific language regarding housing and sanitation requriements for kennels."

The order contains a summary of comments and explanations for decisions made by the PDA regarding specific requests for change in regulations.

Overall, the significant changes to the regulations include that the dimensions of kennels are now to be determined according to the measured dimensions of the animal, not the weight, as has been the practice.

Also significant are provisions that increase and make more specific the amount of time that water is offered to dogs, in transit or in stationary confinement.

New minimums also have been set for the function of raised, screened flooring and the amount of solid resting place per animal confined.

New qualitative minimums have been set for lighting standards for interior kennels, and for the function of shelter materials used.

Additionally, a definition for an "attending veterinarian" has been made which clarifies who qualifies to hold that title and what authority and responsibilities they have in judging whether a real situation conforms with the intent and letter of the regulations.

The set of regulations seem to reflect a more realistic treatment of the variety of dogs.

For example, the confinement dimensions had been set according to a breakdown of three weight classes — 5 square feet for dogs up to 25 pounds; 8 square feet for dogs weighing from 25 to 45 pounds; and 12 square feet for dog weight more than 45 pounds.

The point was argued that with a dog breed such as Basset Hound an animal can weigh 45 pounds but not require the same confinement dimensions for comfort as would a 45-pound English Setter.

Dimensions for kennel runways also had been provided according to dog weight under the outgoing set of regulations. Runways are to be considered the same as any confinement area, as far as minimum dimensions.

The new regulations set up a formula for determining dimension of floor space, based on the length of the dog.

According to the final proposed regulations, in order to determine the amount of floor space:

"1. Measure the length of the dog, in inches, from the tip of its nose to the base of its tail.

"2. Add 6 inches to that number.

"3. Square that sum.

"4. Divide that product by 144.

"5. That quotient equals the minimum required floor space for that dog, in square feet."

As an example given in the regulations, a 24-inch long dog would required 6.25 square feet of floor space.

The regulations already provided that height and width of the confinement structure (referred to as the "primary enclosure") should be so constructed and maintained "to provide sufficient space to allow each dog to turn about freely and to stand erect, sit and lie down in a comfortable, normal position."

This has been modified to the extent that the "interior height of a primary enclosure shall be at least 6 inches higher than the head of the tallest dog in the primary enclosure when it is in normal standing position."

Also added, as regards floor space, the regulations state that for female dogs with nursing pups, additional floor space is to be provided "based on her breed and behavioral characteristics, and in accordance with generally accepted husbandry practices as determined by the attending veterinarian.

"If the additional amount of floor space for each nursing puppy

Maryland DHIA Report For September

The September 1995 Dairy Herd Improvement information for dairy herds from the DHI processing center in Provo, Utah. The list includes herds from Maryland, Pensylvania, and West Virginia. The information is listed by herd name, county association, number of cows in the herd and the average production per cow in the herd. To be included, the herd must have 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of 3.5 percent fat corrected milk per cow, per day. All herds reported are on official DHI or DHIR test.

Also listed are the top eight herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys, and the top six herds for Ayrshires.

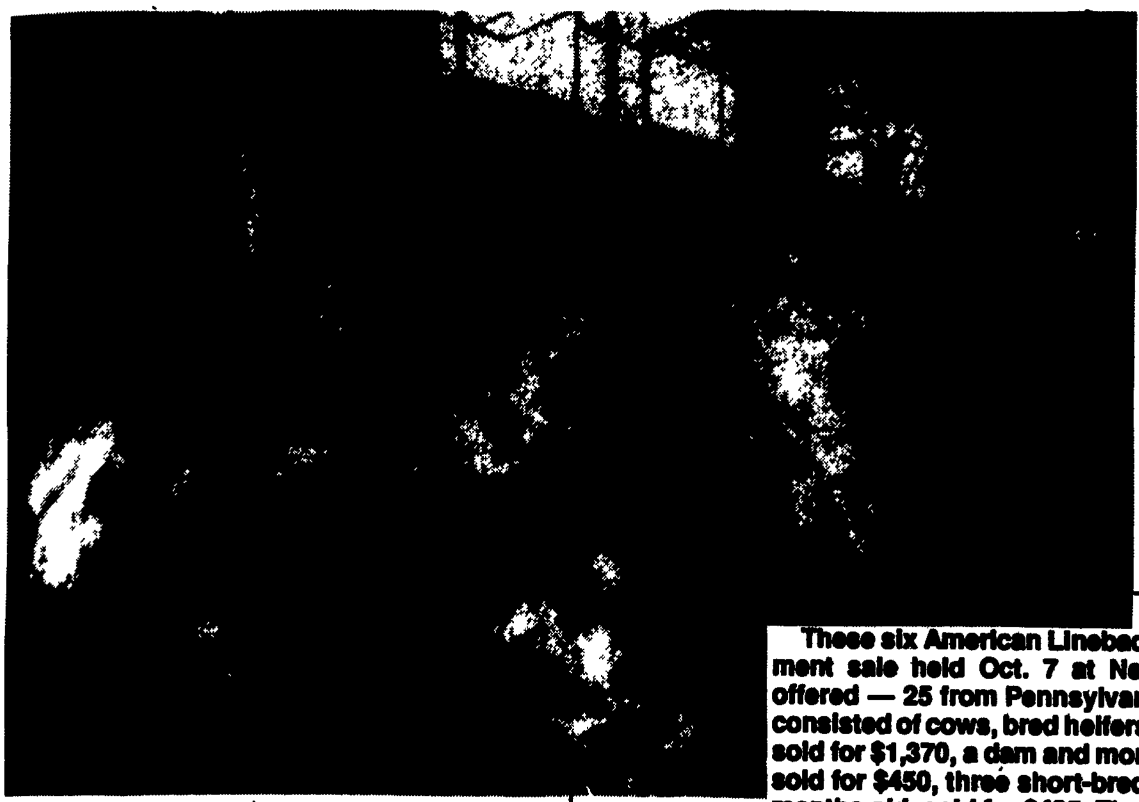
37-Head American Lineback Sale At New Holland Stables



These six American Lineback cows averaged $1,245 after being sold at a consignment sale held Oct. 7 at New Holland Sales Stables. A total of 37 head were offered — 25 from Pennsylvania, five from Wisconsin, seven from Maryland — and consisted of cows, bred heifers, and bull and female calves. Out of the cows sold, one sold for $1,370, a dam and month-old heifer calf sold for $1,700, a 4-month-old heifer sold for $450, three short-bred heifers sold for $975 each, and the top bull calf, 5½ months old, sold for $425. The Lineback registry reports that 13 of the 17 buyers are new Lineback owners.

is less than 5 percent of the minimum requirement for the bitch, the housing shall be approved by the attending veterinarian."

This last part is an example of some of clarification of what is the expected responsibility and competency of attending veterinarians.

The watering requirements for dogs being transported have been made more specific and demand more attention by the caretaker.

Under the old set of rules, water was only required once every 12 hours, while dogs were being transported.

Under the new regulations, mature dogs (those over 6 months old) must be offered fresh water for at least a 10-minute interval every six hours.

For dogs under 6 months, the requirement is to be fresh water being offered for at least 10 minutes every four hours.

The department may also now test or require testing of water offered to dogs, and may make inspections of facilities at any time.

For more information about the state Dog Law, contact the Department of Agriculture Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement at (717) 787-4833.

Like A House, Farmland Requires Maintenance

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ST. THOMAS (Franklin Co.) — Ken Myers remembers when, exactly two years ago, he spent endless hours restoring his farm's homestead, originally constructed in 1809.

Myers can remember the countless hours of sandblasting and cleaning away the old white paint to restore the original brick surface of the house.

The land, according to the dairyman, is much the same as a house — "There's always maintenance to it," he said — especially when taking on additional responsibilities.

Some of those responsibilities include long-standing conservation work dating back to when Myers purchased the farm in 1972. They include literally miles of underground drainage tiles for his fields, sod waterways, runoff catch basins, and a huge concrete manure storage structure.

The Myerses were honored for conservation stewardship with the Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Clean Water Farm Award, presented at the quarterly meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts (PACD) in July.

Myra-Brek Farm, operated by Ken and Martha Myers and family, became the Franklin County Conservation Farm of the Year in 1980. In the years before and since, the Myerses have done extensive conservation work on their farm to retain the precious soil and to improve the quality of water that enters and leaves their farm.

The Clean Water Award, according to Ken Myers, wasn't awarded to the family for "one thing we did," he said, but "several things we had done over the years." After purchasing the dairy from his brother-in-law in 1972, Ken quickly signed up with the Franklin Conservation District.

"When we moved here, this whole area was just pastureland," he said. "Now we farm a lot of it. So we had to do work."

When he signed up, he farmed about 164 acres. Today he farms about 400 acres, 240 of which are tillable. The additional 160 acres included rented land on two other farms, one east and one west of the original farm.

The Weikert soil on which Myers depends for his livelihood is often very droughty. It is a combination of shale and slate that makes management of water that much harder.

A real worry is when it rains a lot, because of erosion concerns.

After purchasing the farm, Myers re-evaluated the use of strip crops and started installing contours. He said some farmers "despise" contour stripping because "you're going around a hill and you always end up with little short point rows — they just despise that." But if a three-inch rain falls, according to the dairyman, the soil is retained.

While growing up on a farm, Myers said he was used to working limestone fields, which are often "nice and level." But working with the "slatelike" soil of the Cumberland Valley has Myers think "in smaller terms.

"If you don't, you get a heavy rain and it just washes the soil away," he said.

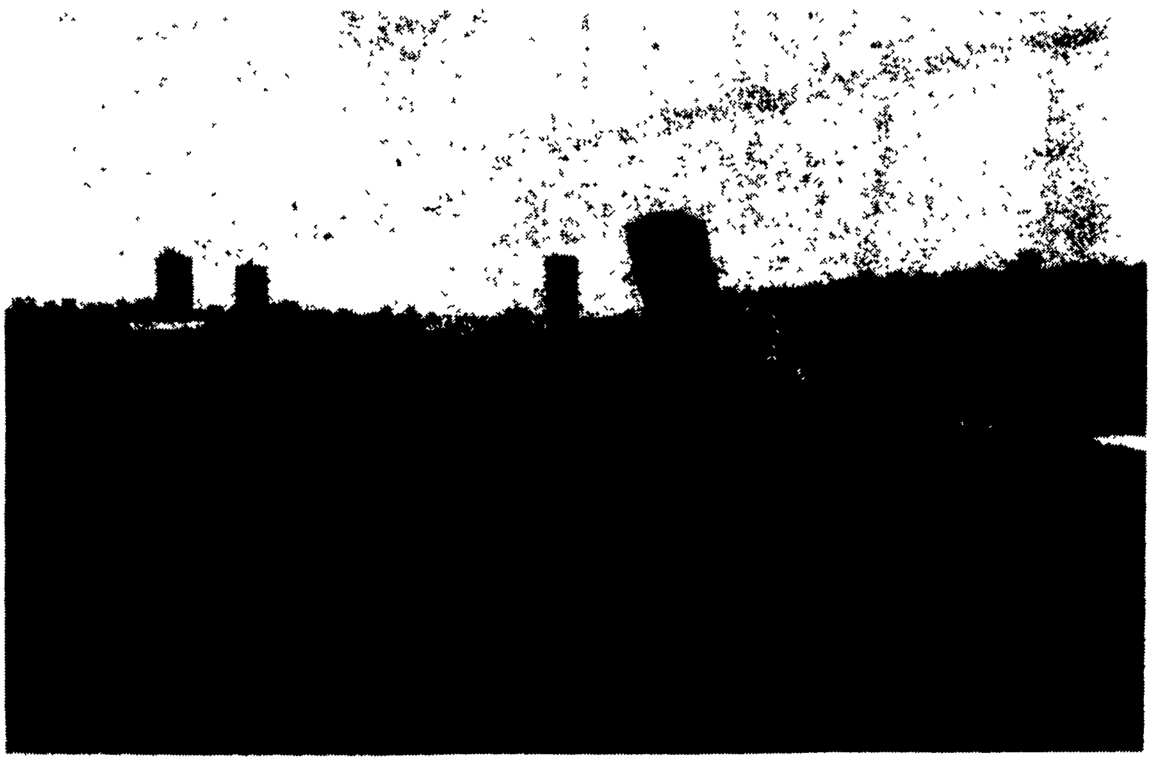
One of the largest projects Myers faced was installing the underground drainage systems, including about three to four miles of tiles. The drainage systems cover about 164 acres.

Also, installing sod waterways was important. "There was a ditch on the farm that you could actually pull a (pickup) through and you'd never have seen it," he said. The area was smoothed down and graded off. "That was a major undertaking; that was a big deal," he said. A sod waterway measuring 1,200 feet was the largest installed.

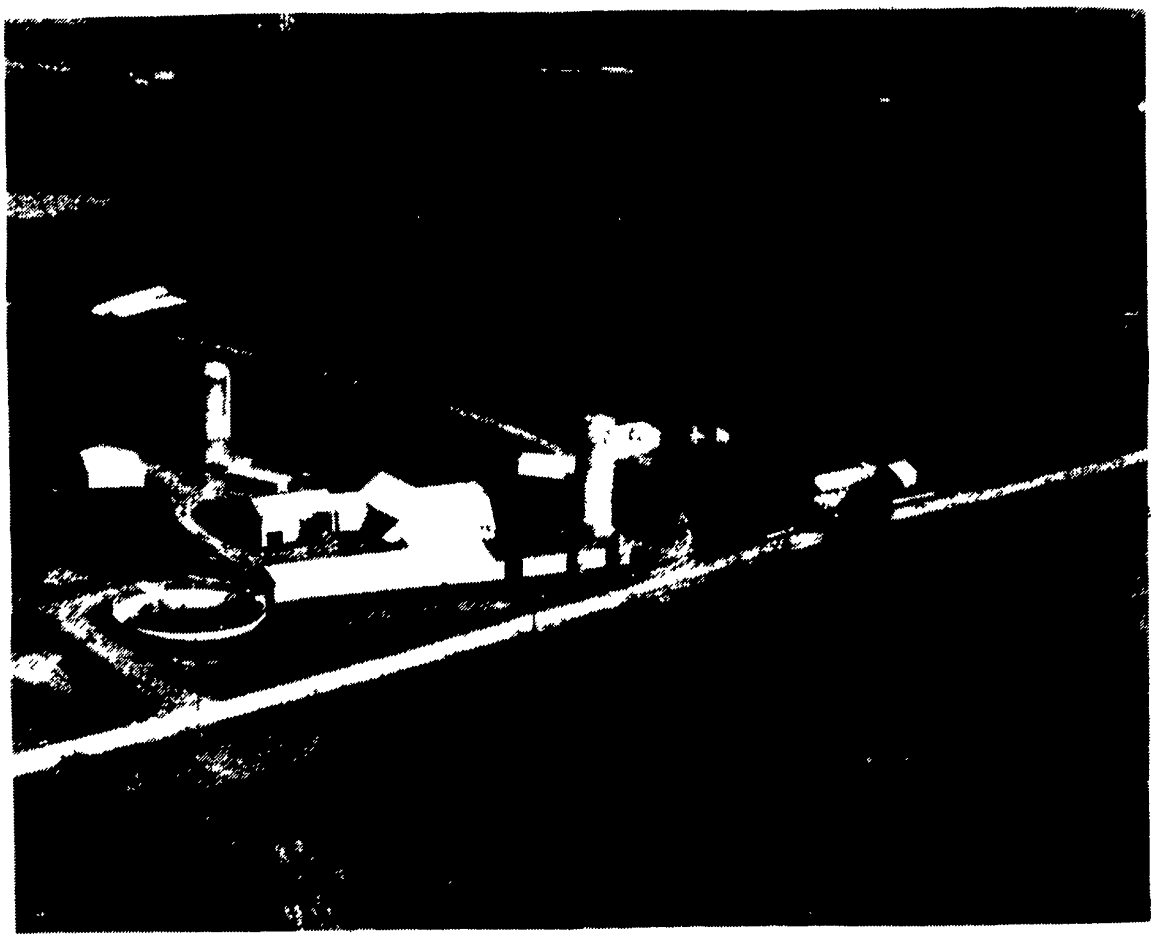
To Myers, installing the grass buffer zones on the roadway helped to retain soil.

"I don't like farming right to the edge of the road," he said. He said he concentrates mostly on the soil upslope, which, before the buffer zone, could easily run off in to the creek.

(Turn to Page A29)



Farmland, according to dairyman Ken Myers, is much the same as a house — "There's always maintenance to it," he said — especially when taking on additional responsibilities. The Myerses were honored for conservation stewardship with the Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Clean Water Farm Award, presented at the quarterly meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts (PACD) in July.

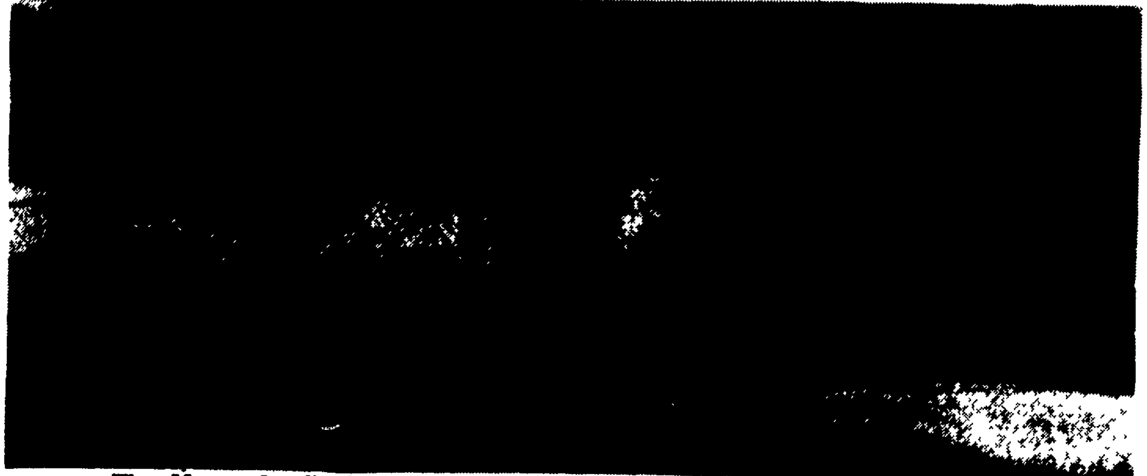


After purchasing the dairy from his brother-in-law in 1972, Ken quickly signed up with the Franklin Conservation District. "When we moved here, this whole area was just pastureland," he said. "Now we farm a lot of it. So we had to do work." When he signed up, he farmed about 164 acres. Today he farms about 400 acres, 240 of which are tillable. The additional 160 acres included rented land on two other farms, one east and one west of the original farm.

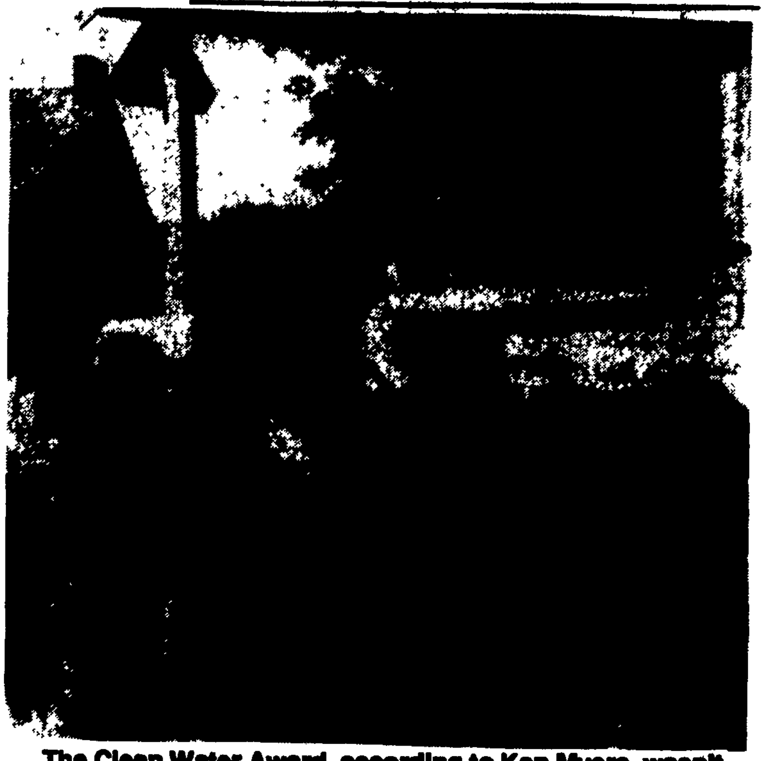
Ken inspects the brickwork on his restored house, constructed in 1809.

Myra-Brek Farm, operated by Ken and Martha Myers and family, became the Franklin County Conservation Farm of the Year in 1980. In the years before and since, the Myerses have done extensive conservation work on their farm to retain the precious soil and to improve the quality of water that enters and leaves their farm.

A pump, in center, transports the material 250 feet into a 750,000-gallon circular concrete manure storage structure. From left, Kevin, Ken, and Jeff Myers.



The Myers family inspects the circular manure structure built in 1992.



The Clean Water Award, according to Ken Myers, wasn't awarded to the family for "one thing we did," he said, but "several things we had done over the years." Here, Ken cleans the battery terminals on his 60-horsepower tractor.

Like A House

But the maintenance is never over. Myers said where he used to graze cattle next to a stream, the area has been closed off, and he is thinking about putting up streambank fencing to protect the water quality.

One way in which water quality was improved at Myra-Brek Farm was through the installation of a liquid catch basin at the bottom of the feedlot. In years past, during a heavy rain, runoff would cascade off the manure pile in the feedlot and run down into a creek.

Myers said the creek feeds into Campbell's Run, a favorite trout stream, which goes into one of the tributaries of the Conococheague River. That river feeds into the Potomac River, emptying into the Chesapeake Bay.

Now, the catch basin is used to collect the liquid manure. A pump transports the material 250 feet into a 750,000-gallon circular concrete manure storage structure, measuring about 12 feet deep. The pump and structure were installed in the fall of 1992.

To retain any runoff, Myers constructed a retention area at the bottom of the barnyard in the spring of 1993. The area has a concrete bottom and earthen sides, which is cleaned out on a regular basis.

Myers raises 115 registered and grade Holstein cows (85 replacement stock) at the farm, which sits just east of Mt. Parnell in the North Mountains. Myers farms with his wife, Martha, and sons Jeff, 31, and Kevin, 26 and families. He has a son, Brian, 20, who is an occupational therapist and a daughter, Debbie, 28, a schoolteacher in Oregon.

Ken said he grows about 30 acres of barley, 25 acres of wheat, 140 acres of alfalfa, and about 100 acres of corn, with the balance in mixed hay.

Myers said he intends to do more work and maintenance on an underground pipe system that had been giving him some trouble in the past.

Like the catch basin, it is a task that he admitted was "not something I really wanted to do," but was necessary because of the important conservation practices already in place on the farm.

And whether it is houses or farmland, "the more stuff you have, the more upkeep there is," he said.

Patz®

15 YEAR WARRANTY

Manufactured
in Pound, Wisconsin

Here is something often overlooked...

Only Patz gives you 47 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain, resulting in a chain so good that others are attempting to copy it.

Many Patz Gutter Cleaner chains still working well after more than 30 years of use.

After the Patz patent on hook-and-eye chain expired, some other companies have attempted to copy the Patz chain. Some promote 10- and 12-year warranties on chain—but they have not yet had 10 or 12 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain.

Patz has continued to improve its chain for 47 years with special-formula steel, special forging techniques and special steel hardening processes.

Rely on the proven, long-life chain. Patz provides a written 15-year chain warranty because so many chains are working well long after 15 years of use.

Better yet, your chain warranty is backed up by a solid, reliable company that has been serving farmers for 47 years with the same family ownership.

Insist on Patz chain!

SAFETY!

Holsteins, in addition to raising corn, hay and beans. In 1984, Bupp was elected to Dairymen, Inc.'s Division Board of Directors. Subsequently, she has been elected as Vice President of the Middle Atlantic Division Board and as a Director on the Corporate Board of what is now Mid-America Dairymen, Inc.

While serving in her role as a director and farmer, Bupp has served as a member of PCC and Penn State's instructor staff responsible for training directors of cooperatives and management personnel. Bupp also served as an instructor on the cooperative's Young Dairymen's Couples training seminar with special emphasis on media response training. Moreover, she is a writer/columnist for Lancaster Farming and York Dispatch newspapers.

Luanne Eckenrode, Manager of Member Services and Public Relations for Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, was the 1995 recipient of the PCC Master Educator Award.

For several years, Eckenrode has been heavily involved in PCC's South Central Cooperative Council where she has taken various leadership roles and responsibilities. This includes primary leadership of the local council's one-day training program for young farmers, as well as her support of the statewide young farmer program. Luanne joined the PCC Board of Directors in 1993. She currently serves as Chair of the Membership Committee, and has been instrumental in supporting greater membership efforts.

At Valley REC, Eckenrode's responsibilities include preparing the Cooperative's Annual Meeting and district nominating meetings, and preparing and presenting civic programs for youth and adults, to such audiences as schools, youth groups, and fire departments. She also coordinates the Cooperative's booths at the Huntington and Juniata County Fairs and also assists the State-wide Association with rural electric displays at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and Ag Progress Days.

Also recognized was Donald Robinson, the 1995 recipient of the Hal F. Doran Cooperative Business Education Award, who has served as a lifetime educator regarding farming and cooperatives to both youth and adults. Presently serving as the administrator of the Lancaster County Conservation District, Robinson previously held the position of adult-farmer teacher in the Eastern Lancaster County School District.

An integral part of the PCC/PSU Summer Institute for Youth, Robinson served as Institute Director from 1988 to 1994. While Director, he was instrumental in the development and promotion of a cooperative business enterprise study guide that has been used throughout Pennsylvania, and the world, to teach business principles to youth and young adults.

The Doran Award recognizes individuals who demonstrate exceptional dedication and leadership in furthering the understanding and importance of cooperatives in the American business enterprise system. The award consists of cash and a Penn State Nittany Lion statue, and is sponsored by the Penn State Cooperative Business Education and Research Program. It is made possible by the Hal F. Doran endowment fund.

The Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives is a statewide association of cooperative businesses owned and controlled by farmers and rural Pennsylvanians. Its membership includes major marketing and farm supply cooperatives and Pennsylvania Farm Credit Associations and Rural Electric Cooperatives. Organized in 1933, PCC is the voice for agricultural and rural cooperatives in Pennsylvania. For more information contact the PCC office at Building 2 Suite 104, 600 Chestnut Avenue, Altoona, PA 16601.

Donald Robinson, right, receives the Hal F. Doran Cooperative Business Education Award from Dr. Theodore Alter, professor and head, Ag Economics and Rural Sociology Dept., Penn State.

Luanne Eckenrode received the 1995 Master Educator Award from Bruce Stainbrook, senior accounting officer, Penn West Farm Credit.

Penn State Educates PAADS-goers About Dairy-MAP

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Help is available for dairy farmers seeking to improve profitability.

That's the message delivered by Penn State Cooperative Extension agents Timothy Beck, Roland Freund, and Galen Kopp, who explained the Dairy-MAP (Dairy Management and Profitability) program to participants at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, held at the State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg this week.

"Profitability, and not production, is the key to successful dairy farming," said Freund, of the Cumberland County Extension Office. "Dairy-MAP is designed to facilitate the learning of business management skills for farmers and agribusiness firms."

Dairy-MAP involves [illegible] two-day instruction workshops or "modules" designed to address specific dairy management issues.

The first module, "Managing for Success," focuses on the establishment and monitoring of goals. Using the acronym "SMART", participants are taught th[illegible] goals should be specific, measurable, attainable, rewarding, result oriented, and timed.

The second module, "Managing Finance," addresses the financial management of a dairy business, and the third module, "Labor Resource Management," analyzes the efficient use of human resources in a dairy operation.

Dairy-MAP recognizes that management is a total process, including planning, organizing, staffing, controlling and directing.

"A dairy farmer must work in several roles - manager, technician, laborer, and more," Freund said. "Dairy-MAP helps farmers to look at themselves, their businesses, and the industry as a whole."

Dairy-MAP workshops are available to dairy farmers statewide through Penn State Cooperative Extension offices. For more information on Dairy-MAP, or for a schedule of workshops, contact your local County Extension Office.

ing with a steer. Some of the other breeds are a little more rambunctious," Sheetenhelm said.

The generally docile nature of the Polled Herefords makes them an excellent introduction to animal agriculture for youth who may not have previous experience working with livestock, Sheetenhelm said. "A lot of juniors were never raised on a farm. Their mom and dad look at the animals and say, 'What do I do next?' With our juniors, there are a lot that just have maybe four or five acres. Well, here is something they can get involved in. I like the Polled Hereford cattle myself. They have a gentle, good disposition."

He sees involvement with the association as an excellent way to instill confidence and self esteem in the youth, while at the same time teaching families about the importance of farming.

"Nobody is getting by the breakfast table, or the lunch table, or the dinner table," said the Hereford enthusiast. "You've gotta eat."

By raising beef, Sheetenhelm believes youth can have a hands-on experience with agriculture that will be educational to them and to their families.

"Maybe then, when they see a piece of meat on their table, they'll know it didn't just fall out of the sky," he said.

Sheetenhelm has been a tireless crusader for the Polled Hereford breed since the 1970s. He is a familiar face at MPHA events throughout Maryland. Those fortunate enough to make his acquaintance never turn away empty-handed; in addition to literature on the breed, Sheetenhelm is widely known for the trademark horse chestnuts he passes out for good luck.

Sheetenhelm's faithful support of MPHA was recognized recently at the Eastern National Livestock show held at Timonium. He was honoree of the Standard of Perfection Show held Sept. 30 at the Maryland State Fairgrounds, which was dedicated as a salute to him for his promotion of the breed.

Nice for County Commissioner

Dear Friend,

I believe in...

- Local tax reform that includes tax exemptions for land still being used for farming.
- tax assessments based on land use, not on future development value.
- building the farmland preservation treasury to shorten the waiting list for farmers wanting to have their land preserved.

I ask for your vote on November 7th.
Lilia A. Nice

On Tuesday, November 7th, vote for Lilia Nice for County Commissioner.

Paid for by Nice for County Commissioner, Lloyd G Arnold, Treasurer

Champions Named At New Holland Dairy Show

The annual dairy show was held at the New Holland Sales Stables Wednesday with the judging of eight cow classes. The two large dairy cows that stood first and second in the mature fresh cow class were named champion and reserve champion.

C. Goldenflo Mathw Endeaver, a fresh Valiant granddaughter was the grand champion for Stonehurst Farms, Strasburg. Both the dam and the cow herself were classified VG86. Fresh earlier this month, she was milking 85 pounds and sold to WeaLand Farms, Quarryville, for $2,000.

The reserve grand champion was Blue-Knoll Missy CH-TW RC, for Duane Richard, Landisburg. Missy was classified VG89 and was fresh, milking 95 pounds. The sire was an Enhancer son and the dam had a 10y record of over 34,000m 1072p 11230. Missy sold to Steve Cunningham Farm, Manchester, Tenn., for $4,100.

A number of other cows sold over $2,000.

Stonehurst's VG86 Bellton M J Ruth, a mature dry cow, sold to Earl Umble, Lancaster, for $2,650.

Danny Albright's fresh 2 year-old Echo Ridge Lincoln Beauty, from a VG87 dam and a VG85 granddam, sold to Smithmead Farms, MD, for $2,350.

Fred Pottinger's first place 2y dry heifer that had won at several shows this year, sold to Lester McWilliams, Beavertown, for $2,050.

And Richard sold his first place mature dry cow to Lant Land Farms, Horsehead, NY, for $2,050.

Pennsylvania DHIA Year-End Reports

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — An almost 5-year-old Holstein owned by Meadow Spring Farm in Newmanstown ended the 1995 test year for members of the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association (Pa.DHIA) with a 305-day lactation production of 49,348 pounds of milk, 1,408 pounds of protein and 917 pounds of fat.

That production started late last October when Nelson Sensenig's No.80 Holstein freshened at 4-years, 1-month old to start her third lactation.

No. 80 ranks as the top Pa.DHIA-tested cow in the state for milk and protein production.

A 4-year-old Holstein owned by Star Rock Farms in Elizabethtown, which is owned by Abram G. and John Barley, of Conestoga, made the highest record for fat production among Pa.DHIA members.

That cow, No. 174, made a 305-day record of 42,467 pounds of milk, 1,243 pounds of protein, and 2,055 pounds of fat.

Both cows' were on three-times per day milking schedules.

Sensenig had a total of three cows qualify among the top 10 milk producers and the top three protein producers.

His 94-cow, grade and registered Holstein milking string also had the top rolling herd averages among Pa.DHIA members for the production of milk and protein. That record was 30,758 pounds milk, 961 pounds fat and 980 pounds of protein.

A 145-head milking string of grade and registered Holsteins owned by R.V. and S.V. Hollenshead, of Mercersburg, finished with the top herd average for the production of fat. That herd average record was 28,161 pounds of milk, 1,140 pounds of fat, and 904 pounds of protein.

R.C. and J.R. Shoemaker, of Chambersburg, own the herd with the lowest average somatic cell count. According to records, their 56 milking head of registered Holsteins had a count of 65,000.

The breakdowns of records by breed follows.

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ATGLEN (Chester Co.) — John Cope, president of Holstein Association USA, addressed members of the Chester County Holstein Club Thursday evening during the club's annual banquet and business meeting, held at the West Fallowfield Christian School, near Atglen.

Cope, of Grantham, was elected president of the association in June at the national convention held in Pittsburgh. A past president of the state association, he is a 1952 graduate of Penn State with a degree in agricultural economics. Though out of the milk business, he continues to raise heifers on his home farm.

In his remarks to the group, Cope said he was proud of the support for the national convention that Pennsylvania gave. He said that the four-year planning process required 18 committees and 230 people.

According to Cope, the attitude toward this convention was different in that the goal was to break even, instead of shooting for a profit.

He said that the association met its budget goals with the convention. He said the national association kicked in $25,000 of seed money, and that the entire convention cost $400,000.

Cope said there is about $13,000 remaining and he said he thinks that there will be a recommendation at the next board meeting to place those funds into the organization's youth scholarship program.

Also, he said the sale was a likewise success with a goal of $1 million in sales being reached, and net proceeds of $17,000 from that.

He discussed the association's name change this past year, going from the old Holstein-Freisian Association to the new Holstein Association USA.

He said that to him the change signifies the difference in genetics between the old European dual-purpose bred Holstein-Freisian and the modern American Holstein dairy breed.

That difference is evident by world-wide demand for American Holstein genetics.

That leading position is being challenged, he warned. He said that according to people very familiar with the European areas — primarily Germany and the Netherlands — "(They) have virtually picked our pockets."

He explained that it has been observed that Europeans have been buying some of the best of the best American Holstein genetics and building upon that.

According to what has been happening, he said they are getting close to coming up to level, if not surpassing the U.S.

Cope described a series of breeding incentives and registration requirements placed on Europeans, such as in the Netherlands, that seen to have the potential to provide fast genetic advancement and better and faster verifications of suspected genetic advantages in bulls.

He basically described an applied socialized breeding scheme that penalizes those who don't follow the group, in an attempt to maximize everybody's resources toward the breed organization's goals. (For example, he said that those who don't use young sires on their first calf heifers are penalized.)

He said that the government, the artificial insemination industry, the breed organizations, and their Dairy Herd Improvement Association equivalent work in colusion.

He said that because of their use of American genetics and because of their strict system regarding dairy cattle breeding and registration, they have improved tremendously within the past 25 to 30 years and especially within the past seven years.

He said that, because of their system mandates, they can have a bull fully sampled by 10 months of age, and have from 100 to 150 daughters on that bull's first sire proof.

Cope said he was not suggesting that the average herd their surpassed the average herd here, but he said that the core of breeding stock they are currently using "probably exceeds some of (our) best brood cows."

He said that in France the lead bull, though under a different name, was bred and sold by Penn Supreme in Elizabethtown. The bull's name here was PennSupreme Mr. C.

He said his point in relaying the message was that breeders here do have and will have competition from other countries, and that breeders here will not be the dominant player in all markets anymore.

"I don't mention this as doom and gloom," Cope said, "but just to let you know what is going on."

He also briefly discussed some of the proposals of the 1995 Farm Bill — such as removing federal milk orders — and the uncertainties that lie within.

To this end he said that is should be noted that for the first time in the decade that Cope has served on the board of the national association, there has never been a complete new slate of leadership.

"I'm really proud of all in leadership positions," he said, adding that it was one of his goals to see younger faces involved in leadership because, "While older folks provide stability," he said the younger members are most likely the ones with the enthusiasm, energy and the mortgages and the longer term outlook.

Cope also outlined the downsizing of the national organization, going from 300 employees down to 200; the wisdom of former leadership to establish the organization's $14.9 million reserve fund, and how the interest earned on that has been paying for projects and expenses.

He said that this past year, the association realized a $1 million loss through the cost of operations. Money from the reserve (not principal) was used to pay it, giving the association a buffer in order to regroup and the new budget goal is to use no more than $900,000 of the reserve fund interest for operations.

Further, rental income from the headquarters building in Brattleboro is expected to be $365,000 this

Cattlemen Set Dinner

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — The annual dinner meeting of the Southeast Regional Cattlemen's Association will be held at Shady Maple Restaurant, four miles east of New Holland on Route 23, on Nov. 16 at 6:30 p.m. All interested beef producers and guests are invited.

Buffet cost to adults is $15, and children under 12 are $6.

Reservation deadline is Nov. 7. Contact Bobbi McMullen, secretary, (717) 548-3282.

Throughout the summer, the Pennsylvania Beef Council has been working with educators through the Pennsylvania Agriculture in the Classroom program.

The Beef Council offers a variety of educational kits for all age and grade levels. Kits are distributed through statewide mailings and workshops designed specifically for teachers and focus on beef production and agriculture in the commonwealth.

Educational materials are also available year-round to educators and producers. These materials are great for farm tours, group presentations, or mailings.

Tammy Balthaser of the Beef Council will share materials and ideas for educating both children and adults in your area about the beef industry. Consumer promotions are vital to increase consumption, but education is equally important because it maintains a positive outlook for the beef industry as a whole.

Beef supplies moved well this summer under an avalanche of marketing promotions, reports the Pennsylvania Beef Council:

- A partnership with Wendy's helped the chain move more than 1.5 million pounds of beef in August and September. Another 1.5 billion positive beef-buy messages are predicted in the coming year from ceiling banners and drive-up signs featuring old-fashioned hamburgers at 3,800 Wendy's nationwide.
- An estimated 100 million adults saw 1,000 "Beef It's What's For Dinner" television advertisements aired May through September. The commercials promoted quick easy preparation.
- More than 2,000 food-service sector requests for beef recipes resulted from a February through October campaign.

- An estimated 6 million women saw televised beef advertisements during the Sept. 16 Miss America pageant.
- Readers of national women's and parent's magazines found beef-meal ideas featured all summer, and more than 500,000 "30 meals in 30 minutes" recipe books were given to consumers May through September.
- In May dairy-partnership program, grocery stores gave 55 cents off coupons for ground beef to almost 14 million consumers.

Chester Holstein Club

year, coming mostly from the USDA office in Vermont.

Also speaking was Kenneth Raney, Pa. Holstein Association director of member relations, who discussed the sales opportunities offered through the organization and the programs available.

In other business, the Chester club elected Sharon Nolan, Victor Stoltzfus, and Ed Breckbill to serve as directors on its board.

Youth and adult production award recipients were also recognized.

Rachel Gibian had the top recordbook among first-year members, while Christy Guest had the best book overall.

Dwyane Stoltzfus received the youth division, 2-year-old cow high-protein award for his cow Dunwood Test Lindy. Merlin Stoltzfus received the mature cow high-protein award for his Arlow Ares Tonia.

In the adult division, Chester Stoltzfus won the award for having the 2-year-old with the highest protein production. It was his Crystal Ray Tesk Rhoda.

Alvin Stoltzfus had the highest protein-producing mature cow. Dunwood Farm had the highest BAA with 108.5

Tom and Joy Crothers has the high lifetime milking cow still in the herd with their 11-year-old Eber-Pep-L-Lea Wiseman Erica having made a lifetime 249,980 pounds milk, 9,377 pounds fat and 7,857 pounds protein.

On Being a Farm Wife

(and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

Twice in my life.

That's how often I've moved.

When I was six, our family moved from a country house on one side of our school district to another place in the country on the other side of our school district. I remember riding in the back of an enclosed small, rented, moving truck with a mesh rear door that you could see through. Such fun!

It was Easter weekend. Before bed that night in the strange, new (scary) place, mother gave me a soft, stuffed-bunny doll. That's the extent of my memory of that whole moving event.

Next move was to the farmhouse where I've been ever since, relocated by marriage only a few more miles from my birth home—to yet another corner of the same school district within York County. You can't be much more "native" than that.

So I'm somewhat at a loss to answer a question from a reader posed in a note that arrived in the mail a few weeks ago. Maybe you, wise friends and readers, can help me.

My correspondent is looking ahead to retirement a few years down the road, and considering moving to a rural part of the state. The farm on which the family now lives is being enveloped with urban sprawl, so one of our very rural areas of Pennsylvania is where they feel would be most attractive as a retirement location.

However, an acquaintance of our writer moved some time ago into a very rural area of our state and reportedly found the community to be very unwelcoming to newcomers. In fact, "...the local residents were very inhospitable to newcomers, to the point where he had to sell his place and move."

"If we were to buy a farm in rural Pennsylvania, do you think we'd meet with hostility from the local residents?" is the dilemma posed by the writer of this note.

Gosh, I would hope not. I like to think of us rural types as reasonably friendly. Maybe a little reticent and conservative and wary of strangers until we get acquainted. But basically friendly.

That was my immediate reaction, with a followup question in my mind as to what sort of "newcomers" they had been. Had they tried to fit into the rural atmosphere? Or had they tried to change the rural neighborhood?

For a more expert opinion, I talked with a wonderful former next-door farm neighbor and friend who moved a few years ago to a very rural area of Pennsylvania.

"How did they ever find this place?" I vividly recall her mother asking me on the day we helped move them. That mountain community and its people is now "home" to our friends. Their kids are involved in sports and 4-H and the whole family is active in school, community, and church activities. They've made a bunch of new friends and acquaintances.

"You have to get involved," she says, "but you can't be real critical or try to change everything." That approach has worked for them.

But it didn't happen the first week or the first month. Not even the first year. It evolved as they became involved.

What about you, friends? Have you moved to a rural area? What did you find? Were you accepted? Rejected? Ignored? How did you handle it?

Drop me a note, in care of this newspaper; mark it to my attention and indicate it's for "Moving Experiences."

Perhaps we can help our perplexed writer in coming to a decision.

Taking Time

Taking Time for Your Marriage

Recently I've been thinking a lot about marriage and the importance of finding/creating special times together as a couple. Just a few weeks ago my husband and I celebrated our anniversary. I really enjoy looking ahead to the day and concocting something special to do. Last year I sent him on a treasure hunt. I may never top that one.

This year's idea was simpler but still special. We made reservations for a late dinner at a tiny, local restaurant and spent our time answering two questons. This first was, "What were some of your favorite times that we spent together this past year?" The second was, "What hopes/visions do you have for our marriage and life together down the road?"

We took turns recalling memories. Taking the time to list these favorite moments allowed each of us to celebrate good things about the past year. Incidentally, this whole conversation probably wouldn't have happened if I had sprung the question on my husband. He always does better with a little warning!

Patricia Kramer, author of The Dynamics of Relationships, points out that the bottom line for a successful marriage is the commitment each person makes to the relationship. Making the marriage a priority by each person putting his or her partner first, without sacrificing other areas of one's life is essential. She advises that partners, early in a relationshp, recognize that marriages take constant nurturing and work to keep them strong. They have peaks and valleys; they include conficts and crises which do not need to be deadly to the relationship.

Recent research conducted by several marriage and family therapists reveals that couples who have a common vision of what they want to be/do in the future maintain healthy marriages. Their companionship and energy are directed in a common goal. Do you now what your spouse's hopes are for the future?

Last night I was reminded of the importance of not only celebrating anniversaries in creative ways but also finding "couple time" regularly throughout the year to bring some security and stability to a relationship. During a parenting workshop one couple expressed their frustration with not being able to get their one child to stay up in bed so that they can have some time alone in the evening. It was great to see how the other parents in the group surrounded and encouraged them to be consistent with their expectations for regular bedtime.

Finding couple time is difficult. If you're struggling, here are a few ideas to spark some special times with your companion or to renew your emotional connection to one another.

- Send your spouse a note at work.
- Cook the other person's favorite meal.
- Read a book of common interest together (I like Pennsylvania Magazine). You could try a newspaper, movie review, politial editorial. Then discuss it. Try this in the car or over dessert sometime.
- Drive with the radio off for more than 15 minutes and see what happens.
- Turn off the TV, and try something new like reviewing old picture albums. Or take turns picking favorite music to listen to on the stereo. Create a list of five things you'd like to do together in the next year. Set a date for one of the items.
- Go to the gym together, or participate in an athletic activity (driving range, volleyball) as a twosome.
- Work in the yark together or work on other side-by-side projects.
- Light candles and pour two mugs of coffee or cool drinks after the kids go to bed.
- Take a walk together, sit on the porch and watch the night settle in.
- Say I love you out loud to your partner.

These are great ideas for enhancing your couple time and reconnecting. But Kramer reminds each of us that our partners are not responsible for our happiness, sense of self-worth or well-being. They may be deeply concerned and committed to us, but they are not ultimately responsible for our feelings, actions, and attitudes.

Healthy Snacks For Kids

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.)—Montgomery County Cooperative Extension is offering a free two-hour training for workers in child care centers or family day care homes on Wednesday, November 8 at 7:00 p.m. The topic for the evening is "Healthy Snack-Time for Kids." The program will highlight inexpensive and nutritious snack ideas for children of all ages. Many ideas will be shared for involving the children in simple food preparation and for using common food items found in most kitchens to prepare the foods.

The training will be held at the Montgomery County 4-H Center on Rt. 113 in Creamery, one mile west of Skippack. Attendees will receive two DPW approved training credits and a certificate at the session. For directions or more information, contact the extension office at (610) 489-4315. Preregistration is requested.

Former Somerset Farm Boy's Mansion Becomes National Historical Landmark

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — North of town, caught in a pocket between Routes 601, 281 and the Lake Road, sits a stately edifice on a hill. Its red brick exterior, marble columns and asymmetrical wings would hardly remind one of somebody's private residence. Yet, it once was.

It's the mansion built by the late Daniel Burnside (D.B.) Zimmerman, a former Somerset area farm boy whose fortune was amassed from business interests begun in his youth. The $300,000 Georgian-Revival house built in 1915 was the only one in the area ever designed by Horace Trumbauer.

The venerable, 80-year-old mansion, in 1993 was officially opened as the Inn At Georgian Place, offering bed and breakfast accommodations. More recently, because of its architectural merit, the mansion was added to the National Register of Historic Places.

When D.B. Zimmerman, a man who enjoyed throwing parties, died in 1928, 13 years after having the magnificent house built, he left behind a success story that attested to his astute understanding of the coal and cattle industries.

Obviously, he lived by a sixth sense because at the age of 14, he dared to leave the family farm in Somerset County and head west for North Dakota. Probably he was called crazy by a few, and maybe his mother, if she was alive, was worried to death as she watched her son leave, but a magazine article he'd read had aroused his fancy.

In no time, the spunky teen-ager from Pennsylvania had made his first cattle purchase.

From there D.B.'s cattle successes spread much like a prairie fire. "Z" brands were soon grazing on ranges throughout the western United States, from the Dakotas to California. And every year, the growth of his financial assets coincided with the fattening of his cloven-hoofed critters. After all, the market was seeing some 40,000 head of Zimmerman cattle sold annually.

Folks knew about D.B. Zimmerman. By age 50, he was the largest independent cattle dealer in the country.

Meanwhile D.B.'s "Midas touch" was working equaly well in Somerset County where, at age 45, he was the county's largest independent coal operator. By 1907, he had acquired coal interests that totaled 140,000 acres.

Mines at Goodtown and later, in company towns called Wilson Creek, Ralphton and Zimmerman, were developed by the man in 1898.

Parties were popular with D.B. so the mansion was often lively with guests whom his daughter, Sally, acting as hostess, welcomed to these lavish fetes. Lizzie, her mother, opted out of the responsibility.

As D.B.'s spouse, the simplicity of life preferred by Lizzie must have seemed strangely out of balance with the rest of the Zimmerman household, because their son, Ralph also joined his dad in the business.

Lizzie enjoyed cooking in her large kitchen and directing the meticulous care of the house. Interior wood panels were oiled very frequently by a staff of servants.

D.B. had used native woods — oak, cherry, walnut, butternut and poplar, inside the mansion and for its nine fireplaces, Teakwood was chosen for the drawing room.

Were it not for Lizzie's appreciation of hearth and home, who knows if the beautiful house would have survived its later years of neglect after the last survivor, Sally, sold it in 1944 to a local coal operator. But despite years without occupancy, the paneling, grand staircase and Italian marble entrance hall have withstood the test of time. So have many of the original crystal and gold-leafed chandeliers, polished brass and silver wall fixtures still used in the mansion.

Records indicate that five years after Sally sold the house it was resold, at a sheriff's sale, for an incredibly paltry, considering its worth, $30,500.

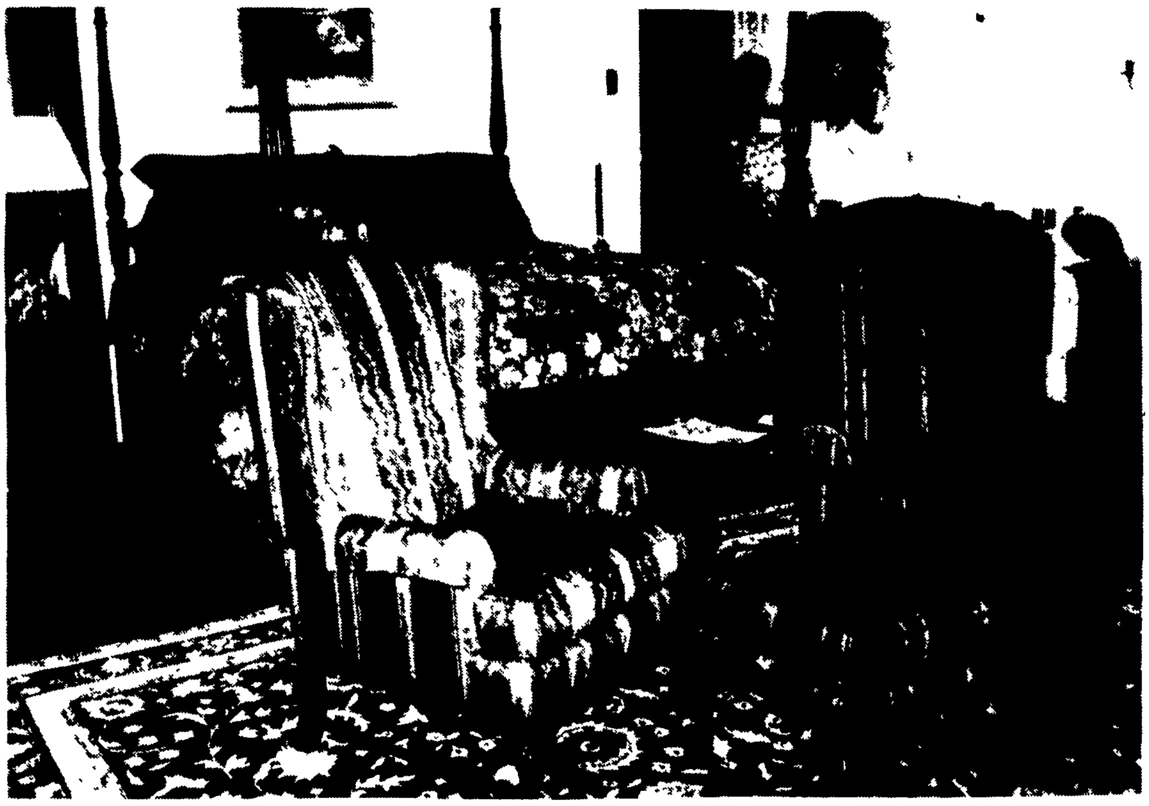
Inside of the 136-foot long mansion were living room, dining room, library, five massive bedrooms, den, three servants' rooms, three bathrooms, a library, breakfast room, kitchen, smaller rooms and nooks on the third level and the south wing's tile-floored conservatory.

Restoration of the mansion took place in the early 1990s. Now tea and tours are a daily occurence at the Inn.

Situated at a lower level and flanking the mansion are the shops of the abstract-shaped, Horizon, Outlet Mall.

For tours and other information call Jon Knupp at (814) 443-1043.

This Georgian-Revival-style mansion built by D.B. Zimmerman, a former Somerset farm boy, is on the National Register of Historical Places.



The Inn at Georgian Place offers bed and breakfast accomodations.

Overwintering Geraniums

Don't throw away those geraniums that graced your garden or porch all season. Instead, try your hand at keeping them over winter. There are various ways of overwintering geraniums the following are four possible ways.

1. Remove existing plants from their pots or dig those in the garden before frost. Shake all the soil from the roots. Hang the plants upside down inside a plastic bag, with a few air holes in it. Add a little moist peat moss to keep the plants alive during the winter and prevent total drying. Some gardeners soak a piece of cloth in water and slide it inside the bag once a month. Watch for any signs of mildew or mold inside the bag once the moisture has been introduced.

2. Dig up your garden geraniums, cut the stems back and pot them in flower pots or wooden boxes. A bright cellar, attic, or kitchen window or sun parlor, where the temperature is as cool as possible makes a good location for keeping them healthy until spring. Water them each week. It's best if geraniums can rest in temperatures below 60 degrees F. Keep the plants from freezing or you will kill them.

3. Store the plants in tubs filled with peat moss kept slightly damp in the basement. Add a little water now and then to keep the plants alive during the winter months. In spring as the weather warms, cut the tops back and repot the plants in a suitable soil mix and container or garden spot. Such plants may look dead, but most of them should sprout quickly once optimum growing conditions return.

4. Another method uses cuttings from the mother plant to start new ones for next year's population and plantings stock. Take slips or cuttings from the main plant and throw the old plant away. Root the cuttings in sand or vermiculite. Then pot them in a good soil mixture and keep the started young plants over the winter. This works well if you want to use them as winter house plants, but they sill need those 60 degree F temperatures.

Often by storing geraniums over the winter, the plants become leggy, scraggly and do little more than collect dust. Geraniums used to be considered a good houseplant but central heating and insulation now make most homes too warm for successful growing. Geraniums grow best in 50 to 60 degree temperatures. However, if you have an unheated room or an especially cool but sunny spot in your house, you may be able to coax a few blooms.

All geraniums need sun to bloom so put them near the windows with the most winter light. But be careful--no plant likes draft and cold temperatures. If your windows are drafty, try adding a cover of clear plastic over the inside of the window or even a protective shield of newspaper between the window and plant during especially cold weather.

Water geraniums regularly but allow the soil to dry between waterings. Average house humidity is adequate as long as there is enough fresh air. Don't be too quick to repot geraniums because they like to be somewhat potbound. Provide plenty of fresh air. Remove dead flowers and leaves and prune in the spring.

Pinch tips of the branches to avoid a single stem, leggy look. Pinching creates bushiness. Once new growth has begun in earnest in the spring yo may want to fertilize lightly.

If the branches on you plants are already long, supports such as stakes, trellises, or bent coat hanger wires will help your plant take on a denser look. Remove dead or diseased branches and leaves and turn the plant periodically for balanced growth.

Dispel Chocolate Milk Myths

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.)—Many opinions about chocolate milk are based on misinformation. Here are the myths explained by the latest research.

1. Myth: Flavored milks are not as nutritious as unflavored (or white) milks. FACT—Both milks have about the same amount of nutrients, such as protein, vitamin A, calcium and riboflavin. The difference between flavored and unflavored milks is about 60 calories. Since children 7- to 10-years-old need about 2,000 calories each day, 60 extra calories can easily fit into their total diet.

2. Myth: Chocolate milk is not a good choice as a breakfast food. FACT—Chocolate milk is a quick food for the "morning rush" and provides the nutrients that can give a boost to the day. A recent survey and taste test conducted for National Dairy Council among 8- to 13-year-olds found that 25 percent of kids reported having chocolate milk at breakfast at least once a week.

3. Myth: Flavored milks are high in sugar and contribute to hyperactivity in kids. FACT—Chocolate milk has two fewer teaspoons of table sugar per 8-ounce serving than soda. A recent study in the New England Journal of Medicine confirmed what several other studies have shown—sugar does not cause mood swings, including hyperactivity, in children.

4. Myth: Chocolate milk has more caffeine than soft drinks. FACT—Soft drinks may contain up to 10 times more caffeine than chocolate milk! The amount of caffeine in chocolate milk is too small to affect most children. In fact, the amount of caffeine in chocolate milk is similar to decaffeinated drinks.

5. Myth: Chocolate milk will harm kids' teeth. FACT—Becasue chocolate milk is a beverage, it will not adhere to teeth and therefore is less likely to cause cavities than sticky foods like candy. Also, the calcium, phosphorus and cocoa in chocolate milk actually may protect teeth from decay.

Pumpkin-Tasting Favorites

Pumpkin is a favorite fall vegetable. Although the most popular food use for pumpkin is the traditional pumpkin pie, pumpkin makes its appearance in a variety of dishes — from soups and stews to breads and desserts.

Pumpkin is a good source for beta carotene, potassium, and fiber.

One cup solid pack pumpkin provides 700 percent of the U.S Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) of vitamin A in the form of beta-carotene, which is considered a dietary inhibitor of certain cancers. The same amount offers 500 mg of potassium needed to maintain the heartbeat for proper cell function.

Be sure to choose pumpkins raised for eating. They are different from those raised for jack-o-lanterns. Whole ripe eating pumpkins should have hard, shiny skins with no soft or rotten spots. If it is soft, the pumpkin will spoil easily.

Whole ripe pumpkins should be stored in a cool, dry spot until ready to use. Under these conditions, pumpkins will keep for a month or two.

PUMPKIN CAKE ROLL

3 eggs, separated
¾ cup packed brown sugar
½ cup pumpkin
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat egg yolks until thick about 5 minutes, gradually add sugar, beat well. Stir in pumpkin. Fold dry ingredients into egg mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into batter. Spread evenly into greased, floured and wax paper-lined jelly roll pan. Bake 14 to 18 minutes. Invert. Remove paper and roll cake in towel until cool.

Filling:
8-ounces softened cream cheese
6 tablespoons butter
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream cheese and butter until fluffy, add sugar and vanilla. Spread over cool unrolled cake. Re-roll cake and put in serving dish and dust with confectioners' sugar. Serves 10.

PUMPKIN PUDDING

24 graham crackers, crushed
⅓ cup sugar
½ cup butter, melted
1 package unflavored gelatin
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
8-ounces cream cheese
3 eggs
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk
2 cups pumpkin

Mix graham crackers, sugar, and butter and press into bottom of 9x13-inch pan.

Beat together 2 eggs, cream cheese, and ¾ cup sugar. Put on top of graham cracker mixture and bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Dissolve gelatin in ¼ cup cold water.

Cook egg yolks, milk, and ½ cup sugar and pumpkin until thick.

When still hot, add gelatin to mixture; let cool and put in pumpkin pie spices to taste (optional: 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger). Whip egg whites and add pumpkin mixture when cool. Put on top of each other. Refrigerate until ready to serve then top with real whipped cream or a scoop of your favorite ice cream.

As dairy princess, I'm excited that holiday and seasonal treats can be made extra special by using real dairy products. Dairy products including milk, cheese, yogurt, sour cream and cream cheese are easy to use in cooking and taste great too. These products can be more nutritious when using low-fat and skim dairy products. So remember: add an extra specialty to your dessert or favorite snack. — real dairy products.

PUMPKIN FUDGE

2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons pumpkin
¼ teaspoon cornstarch
⅓ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
½ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine first five ingredients in a saucepan and heat until the mixture reaches the "fudge test." This involves dropping a little into cold water and if it forms a ball, it passes the test. Add the vanilla and beat with mixer until smooth. Pour onto a buttered cookie sheet or platter. Cut when cool.

Pumpkin makes its appearance in a variety of dishes — from soup to breads and desserts.

SENSATION DOUBLE LAYER PUMPKIN PIE

4 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon milk or half and half
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ cups whipped cream topping
Graham cracker pie crust
1 cup milk or half and half
2 packages instant vanilla pudding
16-ounces pumpkin
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves

Hint: Soften cream cheese in microwave 15 to 20 seconds.

Mix cream cheese, milk, and sugar in large bowl with wire whisk until smooth. Gently stir in whipped topping. Spread on bottom of crust.

Pour 1 cup milk into bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat with wire whisk until well blended, 1-2 minutes. (Mixture will be thick).

Stir in pumpkin and spices with wire whisk; mix well. Spread over cream cheese layer. Refrigerate at least 3 hours. Garnish with additional whipped topping and nuts if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 8

Farm Women No. 8 met on October 11 at Donegal Creek Farm. Kathryn Hess gave devotions and hostesses were Anna Mae Derr, Mary Ann Spangler, Molly Baer and Helen Wivell. Members enjoyed a harvest-time dinner. Helen Wivell spoke of the history of the farm and her son, Joe, talked of the details involved in dairy farming.

The November 8 meeting will be at the home of Alice Walter in Elizabethtown.

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society 18 held its October meeting at the Gathering Place. Husbands attended as guests.

Elmer Horst, a humorist, recounted many amusing events. His college life at Lebanon Valley showed in his adept play on words presented with a twist of humor.

The bus trip to Ott's Exotic Gardens and Chrysanthemum Mountain at Schwenksville plus a visit to Skippack's charming village of gift shops had every seat filled and no room for late requests.

Berks Society 6

The September meeting of Berks County Farm Women Group #6 met at the home of Sallie Hauseman, Boyertown. The members made name tags for the county convention. Five members attended the county convention held at the Ag Center on Oct. 7.

Ilona Houp was installed as a new members by Pres. Janet Schlegel.

November 2 is bingo at the Berks Heim Annex, several members will help

The next meeting will be Celebration of Farm Women's Day, it will be held at Roger Frantz County Manor.

Choosing The Right Childcare Program

NANCY WILSON
Penn State Extension

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—An important decision for working parents to make is selecting the right child care provider. Parents need to keep in mind that they are hiring a "substitute parent" to spend a large portion of each day with their child. A child care provider becomes a major figure in a child's life. At times the provider spends more "awake" time with the child than the parent.

Children are important. Choosing child care is a major decision. Consumers often spend less time to buy a service like child care than they do to buy a car, t.v., or washing machine. When it comes to selecting child care, many parents sign up for the first empty spot. Sometimes, the whole arrangement takes place over the telephone.

Parents first need to decide which type of care they prefer for their child. State regulated programs include: child care centers—seven or more children; group child care homes—allow a total of twelve children; family child care homes—up to six unrelated children; and nursery schools—usually part-time programs.

The second step is to visit several centers or homes and interview the staff. Questions need to be asked about types of activities, schedules, how discipline is handled, and if independence is promoted.

A parent needs to look around carefully for cleanliness. Safety issues should be checked. Is there a first aid kit? Are emergency telephone numbers posted? Are cleaning materials and medicines kept in locked cabinets?

Find out if parents are welcome to visit. What are the payment policies and how are vacation or sick days handled? These are just a few of the questions to be asked.

Several centers or homes should be checked out thoroughly to find the best one for the child.

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Farm Women Society 20 met October 5 for a brunch at the home of Barbara Stone. Marie Foose served as co-hostess. Roll call was answered by members donating a gift of clothing for Christ's Home.

President Nancy Axe presided at the business meeting at which time the nominating committee reported the slate for officers included the following: Marie Foose, president; Jean Ressel, vice president; Anna Mary Groff, secretary; Dorothy Eckman, recording secretary, and Vera Herr, treasurer.

Susan Bailey from Christ's Home told about the home's undenominational Christian work that was started in Philadelpia in 1903. There are two dorms for 25 children whose parents are alive but are unable to care for them. The home is not state funded but relies on contributions.

The November meeting at Dorothy Crawford's home with Pauline Reinhard serving as co-hostess.

Berks Society 4

Berks County Society 4 of Farm Women held its October meeting at the Leader Nursing Rehab Center in Pottstown. Evelyn Becker was hostess.

During the business session conducted by president Virginia Taylor, plans were made to visit member Jean Waldo, a resident of Berks Heim, to celebrate her 90th birthday.

Canned items for the Multi-Service Food Pantry should be brought to the November 7 meeting to be held at the home of Barbara Shaner, Boyertown.

Cook's • Question • Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — A reader has a lot of turkey burger and would like new and different recipes to use it.

QUESTION — A reader whose family likes sour and pickled foods is looking for recipes to can red or green bell peppers, preferably not whole.

QUESTION — Rosene Leinbach, Leola, would like a recipe for pasta salad that uses rotini macaroni and sliced black olives.

QUESTION — Gladys Lillya, Salem, N.J., would like a recipe for Amish Old-Fashioned Puffy Sugar Cakes, which are sold at Good & Plenty Restaurant, Lancaster.

QUESTION — Doris Stump, Denver, would like a recipe for coconut cake like that served at Country Table Restaurant in Mount Joy.

QUESTION — Mrs. Larry Groff, Denver, wants to know how to roast chestnuts. Are they roasted in an over or in the wood stove over an open fire.

QUESTION — Jack Sunday, Carlisle, wrote that several weeks ago a recipe for eggplant was printed in this paper. It called for eggs, cheese, and bread crumbs and was baked. If someone clipped the recipe, please send it in.

QUESTION — Joyce Shoemaker, Mt. Joy, would like a recipe for lemon dill bread.

QUESTION — Mrs. John Liston, Terra Alta, W.V., would like recipes using pure buckwheat flour, not buckwheat mix, to make bread, muffins, etc.

QUESTION — A reader would like a recipe for sour cream chocolate cake.

QUESTION — Debra Shull, Landisburg, would like a recipe for making sharp cheese using goat's milk.

QUESTION — Raydean Smith, Enola, would like a recipe for hamburger macaroni soup.

QUESTION — Rosene Leinbach, Leola, would like to know where to buy seeds to grow stuffing tomatoes. She writes that the tomatoes are about the size of a bell pepper and are hollow in the inside. Editor's note: To our knowledge tomatoes do not grow with hollow insides, but the insides are removed for stuffing. Perhaps some varieties are better for stuffing.

QUESTION — A McAlisterville reader would like a recipe for a friendship cake with streusel topping.

QUESTION — Susan Miller, Chester Springs, would like a recipe for banana butter, which she purchased in Martha's Vineyard. Her son requests "awesome" sandwiches made by combining the banana butter and strawberry jam.

QUESTION — Mrs. Elvin Geigley would like to know how to make French fries from raw potatoes and freeze.

QUESTION — Sadie Mae Stoltzfus, Bird-in-Hand, would like a recipe for coconut macaroons with almonds.

QUESTION — Mrs. Charles Creasy of Wrightsville would like a detailed recipe for making beef tripe.

QUESTION — A reader from Cumberland County would like a recipe for homemade ketchup made from tomato juice. The ketchup should taste similar to the Heinz brand.

QUESTION — F. Eleanor Rebuck is on a fat- and salt-free diet. She would like to know the ingredients used in soft ice cream or frozen custard.

QUESTION — Julianne Medaglia, Birdsboro, wants recipes for quick and easy (30 minute type) dinner ideas that can be made in the morning and cooked for supper or slow cooker ideas. Her husband and kids are not crazy about casseroles and that really limits things, she writes.

QUESTION — J.M. Koser, Narvon, would like a recipe for Brown Bobby Cookies, which were popular about 50 years ago. The cookies were triangular with a triangle hole in the center. They were made in a special griddle like a waffle iron and frosted. Flavors included chocolate, vanilla, and spice. She would like both the recipe and information on the griddle.

QUESTION — Mrs. Howard Glenn of Lawrence County is looking for a recipe for dumplings that are made, wrapped in cheesecloth and boiled in water.

QUESTION — A reader would like a recipe for corn pie that tastes like that served at Cloister Restaurant in Ephrata.

QUESTION — Becky Hedden, Lewisberry, would like a recipe for salt-rising bread made with salt-rising yeast. She had tasted it in western New York state.

QUESTION — Vivian M. Hillard, Narvon, would like a recipe for hot cauliflower that is yellow in color but turmeric is not listed as an ingredient.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like to know where she can purchase flaked hominy. She had requested this some months ago. Someone sent an answer but when Louise checked it out the Merchant's Grocery Co. Inc. wrote that they stopped selling it 25 years ago.

QUESTION — Katherine McCleary, Stewartstown, would like a good recipe for tomato paste.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

PUMPKIN PIE

2-3 cups cooked pumpkin
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons molasses
¾ -1 cup granulated sugar
3 egg yolks
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
2 cups milk
3 egg whites, beaten

Mix all ingredients except egg whites. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into pumpkin mixture. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake 10 minutes at 425 degrees. Reduce oven to 350 degrees and bake until knife or toothpick inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Filling for 2 pies.

PUMPKIN BREAD

2 cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup salad oil
3 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten
3¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup dates or nuts (optional)

Sift dry ingredients together. Mix pumpkin, oil, sugar, and beaten eggs. Add to flour mixture and stir until smooth. Pour into well-greased and floured bread pans, making pans ¾ full. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

PUMPKIN SQUARES

4 eggs
1⅔ cups sugar
16 ounces canned pumpkin
1 cup oil
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups flour

Combine eggs, sugar, pumpkin and oil. Add all dry ingredients and mix well. Spread in greased and floured 15x10x1-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Frosting: Combine 1 stick butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 cups confectioner's sugar, and 8-ounces cream cheese. Beat thoroughly and frost cake. Cut into squares.

PUMPKIN CRANBERRY COOKIES

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup mashed pumpkin
½ cup whole cranberry sauce, drained
½ cup chopped walnuts

Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, and cinnamon. Cream together butter and sugar. Add egg and vanilla, blending well. Add pumpkin, cranberry sauce, and dry ingredients and nuts. Drop by teaspoonful onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes.

CREAMY PUMPKIN SOUP

3 slices bacon, diced
1 large onion, chopped
1 large carrot, shredded
1 13¾ -ounce can chicken broth
2 cups half and half
16-ounces solid pack pumpkin
½ tesapoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
¼ cup sour cream

Cook bacon in large saucepan over medium heat until crisp. Remove with slotted spoon; set aside. Add onion and carrot to drippings; cook 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add broth; simmer, uncovered 10 minutes. Transfer to food processor; process until smooth. Return to saucepan; stir in half and half, pumpkin, salt and pepper. Bring to a simmer (do not boil). Tansfer to soup bowls; top with sour cream and reserved bacon.

Variation: Omit bacon. Cook onion and carrot in 2 tablespoons butter. Garnish each serving with freshly grated nutmeg. Serve warm or chilled.

PUMPKIN RIBBON BREAD

Filling:
6-ounces cream cheese, softened
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 egg
2 teaspoons grated orange peel

Bread:
1 cup pumpkin
½ cup vegetable oil
2 eggs
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1⅔ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts

For filling, beat cream cheese, sugar and flour together in a small bowl. Add egg, mix to blend. Stir in orange peel, set aside.

Mix bread by combining pumpkin, oil, and eggs in a large bowl. (Sift the dry ingredients) Add: sugar, salt, cloves, cinnamon, flour, baking soda and nuts. Mix to blend. Pour one quarter of batter into two greased and floured loaf pans. Carefully spread the cream cheese mixture over the batter. Add remaining batter, covering filling. Bake at 325 degrees for 1½ hours or until bread tests done with a wooden toothpick. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Store in refrigerator.

Note: I didn't use the orange peel. You don't need to worry about keeping the cream cheese layer away from the edges of the pan — the batter bakes around it and it handles well.

PUMPKIN RING

3 cups biscuit mix
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter, softened
4 eggs
16-ounces pumpkin
2½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
¼ cup milk

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Use a 12-cup bundt pan. Beat together all ingredients on low for 30 seconds, scraping bowl constantly. Beat on medium speed for 3 minutes. Spread batter in pan.

Bake 50 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool. Glaze.

Glaze:
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Ag Ambassadors Entice Student Enrollment

NEWARK, Del.—Who could get a bunch of city kids interested in majoring in agriculture?

Jean Lonie could, and does, year after year. Every autumn this senior in the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences returns to "Career Day," at her alma mater, W.B. Saul High School, in the Roxborough section of northwest Philadelphia.

Sporting her trademark sunny smile and an exuberant attitude to match, Lonie gracefully fields the inevitable jokes about how difficult it must be to raise cows in her family's city backyard. Then, Lonie directs the conversation toward the serious stuff of college and career plans. She explains about the diverse career opportunities available in agriculture—opportunities that extend far beyond the farm field.

It's all in a day's work for this walking, talking billboard, better known as an Ag Ambassador. Lonie and 24 other undergraduates appointed as Ag Ambassadors represent the College of Agricultural Sciences at a host of official receptions and events on the university campus, in the community, in the Governor's Office and Legislative Hall, and at high schools throughout the region.

They volunteer their time for such large-scale efforts as Preview Days, the university-wide open house held each summer for high school students. And they also will show up, sometimes on just an hour's notice, to give a prospective student and his or her family an informal tour of the college.

"It's a real honor for a student to be selected as an Ag Ambassador," says Karen Aniunas, assistant dean for student services. "We are very particular in whom we appoint because these students get involved in high-level advocacy work. For example, Ag Ambassadors have accompanied the dean to sessions with the college's visiting board and to meetings with the governor of Delaware."

Yet the most important connections the Ag Ambassador make are to the high school students who seek them out, at career fairs and campus tours, with a multitude of questions and concerns.

"The high school students see us their peers and feel comfortable talking with us," says Ag Ambassador Eric Benson, a senior majoring in agricultural engineering. "They ask us about college clubs and what life is like in the dorms, as well as about our majors and personal career goals.

"The message that I deliver as an Ag Ambassador is one that I really believe in," adds Benson. "The college is like on big family; we look out for each other. It's a great place to be."

Sophomore plant science major Andy Haynes is a recent addition to the Ag Ambassadors, appointed last spring.

"The College of Agricultural Sciences has done a lot of me," notes Haynes, a recipient of an academic scholarship. "I'm glad I can give something back to the college as an Ag Ambassador."

Ag Ambassador Lonie is scheduled to visit her old high school Oct. 30. And given Lonie's winning ways with students, the dean's office better brace itself for an avalanche of mail come November. Last year, after Lonie made her career day presentation, about 25 students from W.B. Saul High School wrote, seeking further information about the college.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

My husband and I have been grandparents for 15 years. However, it is only in the last few years that we have had the opportunity to see any of our 13 grandchildren grow up. You see, one was born in California, one in Tennessee, one in Texas and so on all over the country.

It is quite interesting to watch the three, who live on our dairy farm, change from month to month. Of course, the baby grows the fastest but the others change too.

The almost two-year-old is the one to watch as he gets into everything. His little legs will take him places that he should not go. The other day he ran way down into a field where his grandfather was picking up black walnuts. We had to hunt him as he was too far away to hear us calling him. Last week this little red-headed boy walked with me to some neighbors to deliver cherry tomatoes. Of course, grandmother had to show off the cute little fellow. He is really crazy about tractors and even thinks the sound of trucks on the highway is the sound of a tractor.

His older brother goes to preschool and can be quite a helper in my garden. He will dig the potatoes, he will pick the beans, and he will gather the pumpkins. So, the other evening I took him along fishing in the Conestoga River behind the barn. We were lucky and caught 10 fish in one hour. The catfish was the biggest of our catch. We put the three smallest back in the water to grow bigger.

Another experience for we grandparents is to have them come for a meal. I wanted them to taste the fist and when I served French fries with the fish they emptied the dish quickly. I like to cook for hungry people.

Giant Pumpkins Provide Hours Of Play

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

WRIGHTSVILLE (York Co.) — Question: How many pies can you make from a 325-pound pumpkin?

Answer: Lots!

The huge, 325-pound Giant Pumpkin contest winner from the York Fair may never become pies. But the Ellsworth Lehman family, of Wrightsville, grew so many other giant pumpkins that they have plenty of other ones for pies. In fact, the Lehmans also won second place in the Giants contest, with a 324-pounder, and third place, with one that weighed an even 300 pounds. They entered another in the fair's regular pumpkin class — and won that, too!

Actually, a whole farm-wagon load of huge pumpkins sits on the lawn at the Lehman family's roadside market near the Wrightsville exit of Route 30 in eastern York County. That wagonload of pumpkin giants, as well as several big ones sitting nearby on the lawn, have become a fun playground for the Lehmans' grandchildren. And there are even more still waiting to be harvested from the 20 stalks planted on the family's dairy and produce farm.

The five cousins all live at or close to the Lehman farm, and helped to keep watch over the growing pumpkin crop this past summer. They are Brandy Lehman, age 10; Brittany Lehman, 7; Melissa Darcy, 5; Stephanie Burns, 4, and Courtney Lehman, 3.

Last spring, they watched the special, large seeds poke through the soil in pots started in the farm's greenhouse. Then, the plants were set out in rich soil, surrounded by plantings of sunflowers. The sunflowers were planted as food for the groundhogs, so the rodents did not eat the pumpkin stalks.

It was fun for the Lehman cousins to walk to the patch and watch the pumpkins grow ... and grow ... and grow. By early September, the patch held dozens of Atlantic Giant pumpkins and a variety the Lehmans call "Cinderella pumpkins" (because they look like the pictures of Cinderella's pumpkin-coach in fairy-tale books).

To harvest the heavy pumpkins, a special canvas was made with hand holds for four people. The giant pumpkins were cut loose from their stalks, gently rolled onto the canvas and carefully loaded onto a wagon or truck.

Some of the Lehmans' market customers are buying the giant pumpkins for fall decoration and some will probably be used for pies and for seeds for next year. One will probably become a Halloween jack-o-lantern for the Lehmans.

For the York Fair children's pumpkin decorating contest, the Lehman grandchildren used several kinds of smaller pumpkins. They all entered different pumpkin creations — and all won prizes.

You can save seeds from a special pumpkin. Have a grownup help you cut it apart, and then carefully remove the seeds from the stringy pulp inside. Rinse the seeds well in cool water and lay them out on newspaper or paper towels to dry for several days. When the seeds are very dry, store them in a cool place. If they are too moist or stored in too warm a place, they may become moldy and spoil.

Plant them next spring after the ground has become warm. If you want to try to grow a Giant Pumpkin, only let one or two pumpkins grow on each stalk.

Cousins Melissa Darcy, Stephanie Burns and Courtney Lehman find puumpkins a great place to hide and climb.

These two pumpkins glued together make a great elephant.

Add a glamorous hat, eyes, ears, and hair and this pumpkin looks just like a pig.

The cousins call these pumpkins their Cinderella pumpkins because they look like the pictures of Cinderella's pumpkin coach in fairy-tale books.

Cut Cancer Risk

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.)—You're more likely to die of a heart attack. But you are more afraid of cancer. Heart attacks are quick and fairly painless. Cancer is usually a long drawn-out process with many interventions such as chemotherapy, and medications. You can cut your risk of heart disease with a healthy life style, but you may feel that cancer is out of your control. However, there are some basic life style changes you can make to reduce your risk of cancer.

Deaths due to heart attacks are on the decrease, but cancer deaths have risen seven percent in the last twenty years.

There is a lot to learn about cancer. Cancer isn't one disease, it's many. Each has its own high-risk groups, its own attack and cure rates, and its own causes. Like anything else the more you learn about cancer, the less you fear it.

Follow These Rules To Prevent	This Cancer
Don't smoke or use smokeless tobacco	Lung, pancreas, stomach, bladder, esophagus, mouth, throat
Limit alcoholic beverage to less than one a day (for women) and 2 a day (for men)	Breast, liver, esophagus, mouth, throat
Eat at least five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables every day	Lung, colon, pancreas, stomach, bladder, espohagus, mouth, throat
Cut back on fats, especially saturated fats and red meats	Colon, breast, prostate, pancreas, ovary
Use whole grains when possible	Colon
Consider taking an aspirin a day after checking with your doctor	Colon

Check Out These Pumpkin Facts

COLUMBUS, Ohio—You're not quite sure why, but as autumn arrives and the air becomes cool and crisp, you feel drawn toward those roadside stands with their apple cider, Indian corn and ripe, orange seasonal globes—pumpkins. As you carve, cook and can these vegetables, which are native to America, the following little-known facts will help justify your yearly interest.

•There are two main kinds of pumpkins—yellow cheese and orange stock. The cheese pumpkins are canned and sold as pie filling, while the stock varieties are used for carving or as livestock food.

•Most of the pumpkins in the United States come from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Morton, Ill., boasts to being the pumpkin capital of the world.

•Squanto taught the Pilgrims to plant pumpkin seed in the spaces between corn hills so the spreading pumpkin vines would keep the weeds down.

•The first jack-o'-lanterns were carved out of turnips and potatoes by the Scots and Irish.

•The jack-o'-lantern tradition started when people began reporting sightings of eerie lights around marshes and bogs that bobbed like a lantern in someone's hand. The mysterious lantern-carrier was dubbed Jack, a common name of the time.

•Pumpkins are rich in phosphorus, calcium, iron and vitamins A and C.

•Pumpkin seed tea is said to be good for the bladder and for killing tapeworm.

•Males in New England once turned pumpkin shells upside down on their heads before haircuts and had their hair trimmed around the base of the shell. Thus, the term "pumpkinhead" began.

These fun pumpkin facts were gleaned from Edna Barth's books, Witches, Pumpkins and Grinning Ghosts, and Turkeys, Pilgrims and Indian Corn; and from The All-Around Pumpkin Book by Margaret Cuyler.

Why do jack-o'-lanterns get all wrinkly and gross?

Pumpkins seem to last for months, so you'd think jack-o'-lanterns should last just as long. But once you carve a gruesome face into that fat orange ball — yukko! They get slimy pretty quick.

Pumpkins last a long time because growers cure them. Curing (say CURE-ing) is just a way of toughening up the pumpkin's skin Growers cut the pumpkins off of the vine (the leftover vine stem gives pumpkins that really cool handle) and either let them sit in the fields if the weather conditions are right, or bring them inside and store them at a high temperature with a lot of humidity for about a week. This whole process makes the pumpkins' outer skin become like a hard shell.

But once you cut into them — look out. Our scientist friends think those carved eyes and teeth give bacteria and disease a handy place to attack. Plus, pulling out all the insides doesn't help any. That gooey mixture of seeds and squishy, stringy stuff keeps pumpkins moist Once those insides are gone, pumpkins shrivel up fast.

So enjoy your jack-o'-lanterns while they last, but don't keep them forever — they'll be a stinky mess in no time!

Scientifically yours,
Twig

Josef Probst whistles and the sheep fall in line and follow. Still whistling, Josef rewards a sheep for coming when called.

American Hosts Reciprocate By Visiting German Sheep Farm

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.)—Twenty-four years ago our family hosted a young, married, German couple through the American Host Program.

It was the time of the "ugly American" in Europe and the object was to erase that image. Rural Americans were asked via newspaper articles to take European, English-speaking teachers, into their homes for a one-to two-week time period.

Response was overwhelming! There were more hsots than guests.

Having been one of those to answer the call, we developed a life long friendship with Dieter and Gerlinde Blahak from rural Bavaria.

Cards, letters, and packages sailed back and forth across the ocean. Each year came an invitation to return to visit. Each year we said, "Maybe next year."

In 1995, having joined the ranks of the senior citizen set, we decided that time was "now."

We found ourselves in the heart of German farm country in the Bavarian forest. Small farms surrounded the ivy covered home of the Blahaks.

As I looked out my bathroom window the first morning in Germany, I saw a Bavarian lady, dressed in skirt, headscarf, and boots, loading hay onto the front of a small hayloader.

"Most of the men work for BMW or other industry," Gerlinde explained. "The wife and children do most of the farm work."

Potatoes were an adundant crop and we saw a lot of mechanical potato pickers at work in the fields. Cabbages, kale, and broccoli were also plentiful.

I was extremely pleased to have the opportunity of interviewing a sheep farmer, Josef Probst. Like many sheep farmers in America, he raises sheep as an avocation.

He is the president of the Sheep Farmer's Association of the Bavarian Forest.

There are approximately 550 sheep farmers in the Bavarian Forest and about 4,500 in all of Bavaria.

"We have only eight sheep farmers who make their living with sheep," Josef said.

As he talked, a smiling German baby crawled about a spotlessly clean, white marble, floor in the duplex farm house where the Probst family lives.

Josef speaks in German which is translated to me in English by my friend, Gerlinde.

Eight different breeds are raised including Merino, Black Headed Meat Sheep, Welch Sheep, and the German Milk Sheep. The rest are crosses of these individual breeds.

A few of the Bavarian farmers milk sheep and make their own cheese, which is sold at the many outdoor markets around the numerous towns and cities of Germany.

"You can get a good price for sheep milk or cheese," Josef says. "About six marks per liter for the milk and about 20 marks for a kilo of cheese." One mark is equal to about $1.30.

Josef raises some of the German Milk Sheep and while he does not milk them, he says they produce very healthy lambs.

Just as in America, the low price of wool is often discouraging. They get some of their best prices from those buying it for insulation.

German homes, all built according to government standards, do not have insulation. Instead, the walls are extremely thick. However wool insulation is sometimes used in the attic. "It is," Probst says, "something that is approved by the environmentalists."

Wool is bought once a year by a salesman who deals through the Sheep Farmer's Association of the Bavarian Forest.

Wool that is used for insulation is sold separately. For every two kilos of wool, the Bavarian farmers get back one mat. A mat can be sold for about 32.5 marks.

"Insulation with wool is more expensive," admits Josef. "But it is also very safe."

All meat must be government inspected in order to be sold and the slaughtering must be observed by a veterinarian or government inspector.

Best prices for meat are gotten at outdoor markets. Other marketing avenues are ads in the newspaper. People buy it for their freezers or sell directly to the butcher shops.

Most farmers receive ten to 12 marks per kilo for butchered sheep or five marks per kilo for live sheep.

Once a year, the-Turkish population of Germany has a huge celebration with lamb as the main dish. "This is a good time of year for the sheep farmers," Josef says smiling.

Like America, the German's main competition with both wool and meat comes from Australia and New Zealand where sheep are raised in much larger numbers.

Josef does feel they get a lot of help by being organized. The Association of the Bavarian Forest has only been in existence for 25 years and was founded by Franz Hirtreiter. He saw a dwindling of the sheep population and was concerned because there are so few cows that the sheep are needed for grazing.

Josef's own flock of 40 crossbred sheep are fed a diet of primarily grass which is supplemented with hay, beans, wheat, oats, and barley.

Sheep graze as long as weather permits but the harsh winters in Bavaria call for the sheep to be housed in the barn at least three months of the year.

There are not 4-H clubs or other organizations to attract young people to sheep farming. "Therefore," Josef says, "the number of sheep farmers is dwindling. Many of them are already in their 50s or 60s."

"However," he adds, "the younger farmers we do have are raising larger amounts of sheep so the population is remaining about the same."

While there are no competitions regarding breed standards, there are shearing competitions and Josef is proud that one of the Bavarian Forest members won the champion title in Munich this summer.

German shepherds are the most popular herding dog however, few are used. Most sheep farmers simply train their sheep to answer to a whistle. Such is the case with Josef. As he whistles, the sheep form a line and march forward.

Natural predators are not a problem in Bavaria. However, in northern Germany, the lynx gets its share of the sheep population.

Josef feels that spinning and weaving are dying arts in Germany, but is proud to say that his mother does some spinning and sells the wool to local knitters and crafts people.

Novelty Isn't Squashed In Pumpkin Fields

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — It used to be that the mention of the words pumpkin, squash or gourd conjured up a distinctive image of the item. Pumpkins were bright orange jack-o-lanterns, squash were tan butternuts, and gourds were miniature duplicates of pumpkins and squash.

But today an onslaugh of pumpkin, squash, gourds, and ornamentals in all sizes, shapes, colors, and varieties can be found at roadside stands and produce auctions.

Pumpkins vary from brilliant orange miniatures to milky orange shades that reach weights of 600 pounds.

Squash may be found in black, blue, green, white, yellow, and orange shades. They vary from smooth oblong shapes to rough rugged Blue Hubbards.

Ornamental gourds come in multicolored and solids in smooth and warty textures and in delightful shapes such as Turk's Turban, Crown of Thorns, snakes and alligators.

"Novelty is in. People get tired of the same old thing. In the vegetable field, anything that looks different has appeal," said Tom Elkner, horticultural agent for Lancaster County.

How can you tell the difference between miniature squash and a gourd? Take a Jersey Golden Acorn, which is a bright golden squash that may be eaten when it is no larger than a golf ball. How do you know that bright orange, smooth skinned pumpkin isn't a delightful ornamental grown strictly for a touch of color in fall arrangments?

"That's a hard question," said Elkner. "Squash and gourds are from the same family. Generally gourds are really hard shelled. If you cut open a gourd, it is thin fleshed. A squash has softer, thicker flesh and the skin is generally softer."

Gourds or ornamentals are hard-rinded inedible fruits or plants that are cultivated for beauty rather than food usage.

While gourds are often arranged in their natural beauty, some craftspersons capitalize on unusual shapes and add artistic touches. Gooseneck gourds are adorned with hats, eyes, ribbons and aprons. Crown of Thorns are rounded gourds with unique thorn-like protuberances. The white variety is often painted to look like miniature ghosts. Large bottled gourds make unique birdhouses with an opening inserted and hung from a tree.

Although one can technically eat pumpkins grown for jack-o-lanterns, a seasoned cook will tell you to never use them for baking pies. Squash are considered the favorites but the varieties that make the best pies are a hotly contested issue.

"Definitely neck pumpkins," said the mother of John Meck who grows several varieties to sell on his Willow Street farm.

Many people agree with her. But just as many prefer acorn or butternut varieties.

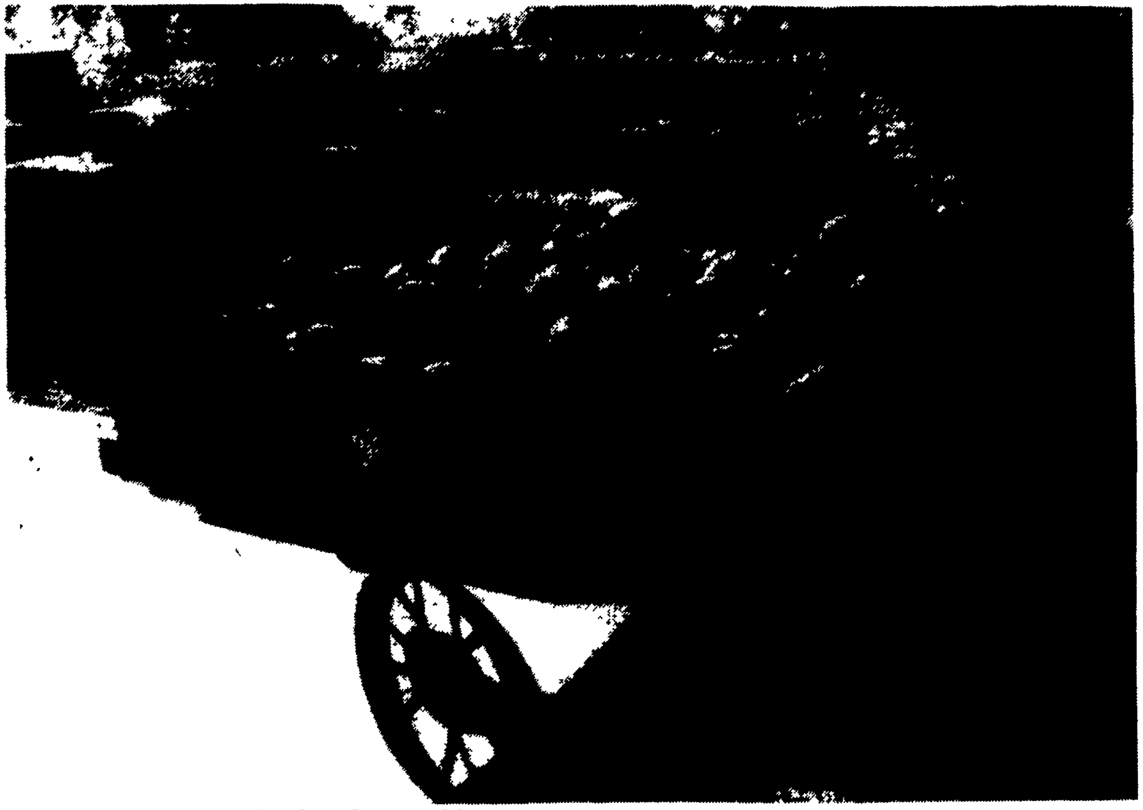
It's the recommendation from Nolt's Roadside Stand in Talmage.

"I've never actually baked pies from all the different types at the same time and compared them because I'm so busy taking care of this," said Mrs. Nolt as she pointed to the hundreds of pumpkins arranged inside the barn and outside on farm wagons and children's wagons. "Lately, I've used the Hubbard variety and it makes really good-tasting pies."

Fay Strickler, extension home economist who writes the column "Consuming Thoughts" for this

(Turn to Page B15)

Elaine and Jeanette Nolt play with gourds and pumpkins to which their mother added an artistic touch to portray the shapes they are named after shapes such as alligator, goose, and snake.

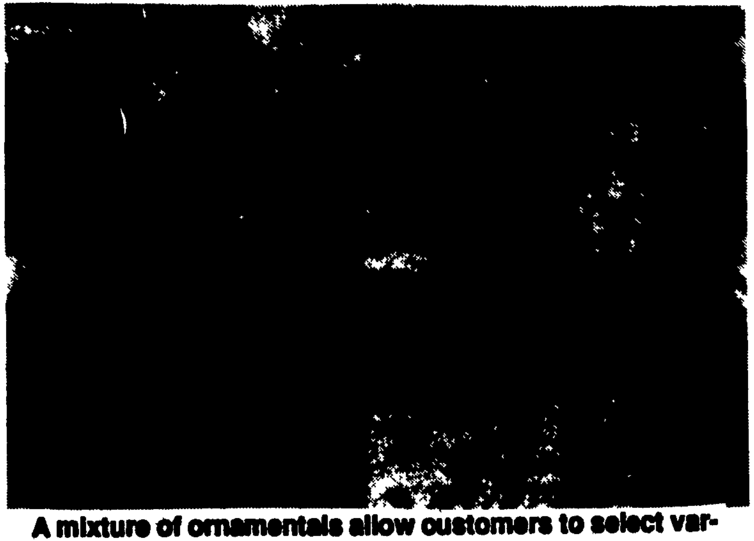


Wagonloads of pumpkins reflect the richness of the season.

John Meck of Willow Street unloads pumpkins and squash at the Leola Produce Auction.

Turk's Turban and other varieties.

Elaine Nolt finds pumpkins arranged in the barn a neat place to play. The Nolts sell hundreds of pumpkins in all different sizes and shapes at their farm located along Rt. 772 in Talmage.



A mixture of ornamentals allow customers to select varieties in shades and shapes they prefer.

paper, agrees that Hubbards are probably the best for pies.

Pumpkins and squash are touted as great sources of Vitamin A. You can't tell from the external appearance of pumpkin or squash which contains more Vitamin A, but research shows that one cup of cooked and mashed acorn squash contributes 2,700 IU's of Vitamin A; the same amount of a Butternut squash contains 13,120 IU's, and a Hubbard squash has a little over 10,000 IU's. An orange pumpkin has 2,650 IU's of Vitamin A.

Squash is classified as either winter or summer squash. Winter squash, such as Hubbard or butternut squash, has a tough, hard skin that is never eaten. Winter squash tastes a good bit like sweet potatoes and may be substituted for them. Summer squash such as zucchini or basic yellow squash has soft skin and lots of seeds, both of which may eaten with the flesh of the squash.

Acorn squash is a hard-skinned squash available from fall to early spring. Because of its bland flavor, it is ideal to stuff.

Here are some of the different varieties and a brief description of them.

PUMPKINS

- Howdens — big with uniform size, very solid with extra-thick flesh, skin hard, ridges and a wonderful rich orange.
- Jackpot — first hybrid pumpkin and still the one to beat. Uniform round shape and bright color adapt well for Halloween carving, and may be eaten.
- Atlantic Giant — known for its huge size and for growing the world's largest pumpkins. It requires plenty of space to grow because vines spread 25 feet or more.
- Pankow's Field — unique feature — the famous sturdy handle, stems are thicker and sturdier making them easy to pick up.
- Munchkin — delightful miniature pumpkins 3-4-inches wide and a bright orange color with pronouced scallops.
- Spooky — a cross between jack-o-lantern and sweet sugar types bred for both carving and eating. The bright orange pumpkins grow 7-9-inches in diameter.
- Baby Pam's — Spookie types that are about 5-inches in diameter. The deep orange color and smooth skin make them ideal for painting on faces. They are also rated excellent for pies.

SQUASH

- Acorn squash — large-shaped acorns in black-green to light tan shades. Bright orange flesh is smooth and delicious.
- Sweet Dumpling — grows to 4-inches in diameter in ivory green with sweet, tender orange flesh.
- Blue Hubbard — huge blue-gray color, rough and rugged. Flesh is deep yellow with good flavor and texture.
- Jersey Golden Acorn — bright golden variety may be eaten like a summer squash when no larger than a golf ball or allow to grow to the size of an average pumpkin. Flesh is bright orange, smooth, sweet and rich.
- Spaghetti Squash — produces spaghetti-like strands of flesh which add interesting variety to menus. Scoop it out or boil in the shell. Serve it topped with spaghetti sauce or served cold with salad dressing. Oblong 8-10-inches long. Sweet meat— golden yellow 10-15 pound round with hard, slate-gray skin.
- Golden Delicious — developed especially for baby food. Richer orange flesh color and higher vitamin C content than other squash. Large and bright orange outside with finegrained and well flavored.
- Butternut — long thick, cylindrical necks. Skin is a creamy tan, flesh is a richer tan. Ideal size for the average family meal.
- Buttercup — extra rich and sweet in flavor, deep orange and entirely free from stringiness. Small dark green color.
- Seneca Autumn Queen — dark green skin with orange flesh. Yields 2 table servings.
- Scallop squash — in shades of green are fun to serve or use in fall arrangements.

GOURDS

- Turk's Turban — brightly colored in richly varied colors. Flattened gourds are 8-10-inches in diameter, brilliant orange-red with prominent buttons striped and spotted with scarlet, orange, cream, white and dark green.
- Ornamental mixtures — includes orange, pear, apple, crown of thorns, spoon, warted varieties in multi-colors, striped types, and solids.
- Large bottle-shaped gourds make unique birdhouses. A Saudi Arabian visitor to the Nolt farm stand reported that in his country, the gourds are dried and hollowed out and turned into water jugs fitted with a cork top.
- Luffa gourds have dual purposes. They may be used as miniature vegetables if harvested when they are about 2-inches in length. But most luffas are harvested after 90 days and used as long bath sponges.

Crown of Thorns is a rounded gourd with thorn-like protuberances in a wide range of different colors.

Veal Sales Get A Boost

CHICAGO, Il.—Two new veal promotion programs, developed for the veal industry through the checkoff, are building on veal's strengths with consumers to increase demand for the product in selected markets throughout the country. The programs are managed by the Veal Committee of the Beef Industry Council.

The continued popularity of Veal Marsala, a classic dish in Italian restaurants, has established a link in consumers' minds between veal and Marsala wine. That link is being promoted to help increase veal usage in homes through a cooperative promotion between the Veal Committee and Cribari Marsala cooking wine—two ingredients that taste great together.

During the month-long October promotion, more than 7,000 retail locations nationwide are displaying cards in the meat case and wine aisle that feature veal recipes and coupons. One card offers an instant $1 off coupon for any veal cut at the meat case, while a second card offers a $1 mail-in rebate for the purchase of Cribari Marsala cooking wine.

Wool Election

FREEPORT (Armstrong Co.) — Candace Burke of Burkes' Little Twenty Sheep Farm, Freeport, is the newly elected regional district 5 director for the National Natural Colored Wool Growers Sheep Breeders Association. The elections were held at the Virginia State Fair, Richmond, Va., after the National Natural Colored Sheep Show in September.

Region 5 consists of six states: Pennsylvania, West Virginia, North Carolina, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia. Candace Burke will still be the western Pennsylvania representative, a position she has held for two years.

The Natural Colored Wool Growers Sheep Breeders Association is a national registry, with the goals to produce the best colored wool fleeces on the best structure sheep and lambs possible and to encourage good animal husbandry and good show ring ethics for the young and old.

CHIMTEK™
ADVANCED CHIMNEY TECHNOLOGY

SAFER: CHIMTEK is designed to withstand severe chimney fires without breaking or transmitting high temperatures to adjoining combustible materials.

LESS CREOSOTE: Wood smoke contains moisture (H_2O). When the smoke comes into contact with a surface under approx. 250 degrees F the water will condense to a liquid. This liquid combined with other products in wood smoke will result in creosote. Creosote can be very dangerous when it ignites. The inside of a CHIMTEK chimney stays much warmer and greatly reduces the amount of creosote formation. In many cases CHIMTEK chimneys are completely clean after years of use.

IMPROVES STOVE PERFORMANCE: The draft produced by a chimney is what pulls oxygen into the fire for combustion. The three main factors affecting draft are the chimney's height, size and temperature. CHIMTEK contains a great amount of a very special insulating material that is not affected by moisture saturation and will not seattle or deteriorate. Poor draft will result in poor combustion. Poor combusion will create more smoke. Smoke is wasted fuel. Newere EPA certified stoves are especially dependent on proper draft to perform properly.

A SURE SOLUTION TO MASONRY
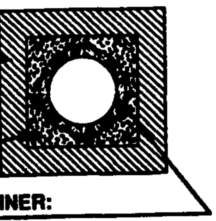
CHIMNEY PROBLEMS:



Outer casing of chimney; made of brick, stone, block, or other suitable masonry material.

CHIMTEK INNER LINER:
- Made of volcanic pumice and high-temperature refractory cements.
- Round shape provides even temperatures inside flue, and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gases.
- Highly resistant to thermal shock.
- Even if cracks should occur, the round shape and Chimtek Secondary Liner prevent pieces from falling into chimney.
- The volcanic pumice in Chimtek liners adds considerable insulating value.

CHIMTEK SECONDARY LINER:
- Provides exceptional insulation to make chimney more efficient and reduce heat transfer to combustible materials.
- Provides structural support for inner liner.
- Will not absorb moisture or creosote.

FFA Members To Receive National Recognition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — National recognition will be given to Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, and Virginia FFA members at the world's largest annual youth gathering, the 68th National FFA Convention, to be held here Nov. 9-11. More than 34,000 FFA members, guests and supporters are expected to attend.

Opportunities for personal growth and leadership development continue with presentations by educational and motivational speakers including John Alston, motivational speaker; Emanuel Cleaver, mayor of Kansas City; Diana Golden, Olympic gold medal skier; Fred McClure, motivational speaker and former national FFA secretary from Texas; Jeanne Robertson, humorist; Miss America Shawntel Smith; and David Toma, former New York City policeman. Other speakers will be announced as they are confirmed.

Laser light shows will be part of each convention session, courtesy of the Kansas City convention sponsors as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

In addition, convention participants will have opportunities to attend leadership workshops, tour Kansas City manufacturing and agribusiness sites, take in American Royal Livestock Show and Rodeo performances, and meet with fellow FFA members from around the nation.

Other highlights will include the selection of top FFA members in 29 agricultural proficiency award areas, national career skill competitions, prepared and extemporaneous public speaking contests, and a parliamentary procedure contest.

The American Star Farmer and American Star in Agribusiness will be named, and 1,466 members will receive the American FFA Degree, the organization's highest award. Top chapters in safety, community development, and overall chapter activities will also be recognized.

In addition, the 1995-1996 national FFA officers will be elected and installed. The National Agricultural Career Show and the National FFA Alumni Convention are held in conjunction with the FFA convention.

Cream Filling

¾ cup sugar
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine dry ingrediants slowly. Stir in milk. Cook in double boiler over boiling water for 15 minutes or until thick. Add a little of the hot mixture to eggs. Stir in remaining hot mixture. Cook over simmering water for 3 minutes. Cool and add vanilla. For a richer filling, add 2 tablespoons butter to hot cooked custard.

Banana Filling: Substitute 1 teaspoon lemon juice for vanilla. Add medium-sized mashed bananas to filling.

Butterscotch filling: Substitute ¾ cup brown sugar for granulated sugar. Add 2 tablespoons butter to cooked filling.

Chocolate filling: increase sugar to 1 cup, add 2 squares unsweetened chocolate to milk before cooking. Beat until smooth.

Coconut filling: add 1 cup shredded coconut to filling.

Coffee filling: Substitute ½ cup strong fresh coffee for ½ cup milk. Proceed as directed.

Creamy custard filling: Fold ½ cup whipped heavy cream into chilled mixture.

Pineapple filling: Substitute lemon juice for vanilla. Add ½ cup crushed drained pineappple to filling.

ANSWER — Becky Hedden, Lewisberry, wanted a recipe for spice cake using mayonnaise. Thanks to Dixie Fix, Harrisonville, for sending variations to make from a basic recipe. She does not recommend substituting the lower fat versions for regular mayonnaise.

Rich Chocolate Cake
Basic Recipe

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cocoa
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup cold water
⅔ cup mayonnaise
1½ teaspoon vanilla

Applesauce cake: Omit cocoa, vanilla and cup of water. Add:

½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 cup applesauce
½ cup raisins
¼ cup water

Banana Cake: Omit cocoa and cup of water. Add:
1 cup ripe mashed bananas
¼ cup water

Spice Cake: Omit cocoa, vanilla, and use ¾ cup instead of 1 cup water. Add:

1½ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon cloves
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ cup molasses

Mocha cake: Omit cold water, add 1 cup cold strong coffee.

ANSWER — Estella Fink, Allentown, wanted a recipe for dried peach pie topped with crumbs. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending her recipe.

Dried Peach Or Apricot Pie

2 cups dried peaches or apricots
1½ cups water
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 recipe plain pastry

Soak dried fruit in water for several hours or overnight. Cook slowly without sugar until tender. Dredge prepared lower crust with flour. Fill with a layer of fruit. Sprinkle generously with sugar. Alternate fruit and sugar until crust is filled. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust, moisten edges and flute. Dredge top slightly with flour. Bake in 375 degree oven until well browned. Lattice strips may be substituted for top crust.

QUESTION — David Hoover, Ephrata, wants to know if Joseph Barr one dollar bills are collector items. There are five in a set.

ANSWER — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, wanted a candy for Arkansas Travelers Bread. Thanks to Josephine Matenus, Dallas, for sending a recipe for Arkansas Date Bread.

Arkansas Date Bread

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup prepared bran
1 cup dates
½ cup molasses
1¼ cup sour milk
1½ tablespoon melted fat
1 egg, slightly beaten

Sift white flour once, measure and sift again with salt and baking soda. Add whole wheat flour and bran. Cut dates in small pieces and mix through dry ingredients with finger tips. Add molasses, sour milk, and fat to the eggs. Stir this mixture into the dry ingredients. Pour into a well-greased loaf pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 1½ hours. Cool before slicing. Yields one loaf.

ANSWER — Donna Balascat, Coopersburg, wanted a recipe and specific instructions for pit cooking a 60-pound pig. Thanks to Anne Wiegle, Pottstown, for sending the following instructions.

Whole Pit-Roasted Pig

You will need:

Whole young pig, dressed and shaved
Rock-lined pit dug ahead of time
Several rounded rocks from a stream, in 1 to 4 pound weights. (Sun dry for a week).
3 bushels or more of dry hard wood
Green corn stalks and leaves
Big tongs for handling hot rocks
Chicken wire or fencing—enough to encircle a pig
2 baling hooks to carry roasted pig
12 clean burlap sacks
Canvas large enough to cover pit

- Allow 1 pound dressed meat per person.
- Dig hole about 2½ -feet deep at center, with diameter of 5½ - to 8-feet depending on size of pig. Line with rocks.
- Stack wood on rocks, Indian-tepee style. Light fire. Place round rocks in fire where they will get the most heat.
- While fire burns down, wet the burlap, and prepare pig. Rub inside of pig with salt and pepper, and garlic if desired. Place pig on chicken wire. Under legs, make slits big enough to insert round rocks. When fire has burned down and rocks are very hot, use tongs to fill abdominal cavity and slits in legs with hot rocks. Tie front legs together, then back legs. Wrap pig in wire, fastening well (so it can be lifted).
- Completely cover ashes and rocks with corn stalks and leaves. Lower pig right onto leaves. Cover it generously on top and sides with more leaves.
- Place wet burlap over leaves (this will hold heat and steam).
- Cover with large canvas; shovel gravel over canvas to keep steam in.
- Cooking time starts now. For 25-pound pig, allow about 2 hours; for 50 pound pig, allow about 2½ hours; anything heavier, figure on at least 4 hours. If in doubt about doneness, leave pig in longer (because of steam, it won't burn).
- To uncover, remove gravel, canvas, burlap and covering leaves. Lift and carry wire-wrapped pit with hooks. Remove wire to serve.
- In Hawaii the servers dip their hands frequently in cold water as they pull pork apart for individual servings. On the mainland, the servings of hot, juicy pork often are best liked when served in buttered buns, with barbecue sauce.

ANSWER — Fern Myers, Summerhill, writes that she has a copy of "Doctor Goat," which was requested by an Annville reader. Fern wants to keep the book, she writes, for its pictures and because it was well-loved by her children. However, she sent the words to the poem authored by Georgiana and copyrighted 1950 by Whitman Publishing Co.

"Doctor Goat"

Doctor Goat put on his coat
And went out to make some calls.
He went to a house of a mouse with mumps
He cured a frog who had the jumps.
He fixed a fox who suffered from measles
He did the same for two small weasels.
Busy old Doctor Goat!

Then he warmed a worm whose tail was cold.
And felt the pulse of an elk who was old.
Pink pills for an owl with fuzz on his tongue,
Blue pills for a bat who was very high strung.
Wonderful Doctor Goat!

Early one day in the month of May
The doctor got out of bed.
He felt his throat and then his head,
"I think I'm ill," the doctor said.
"I must find a pill to fix my throat."
Atchoo! Atchoo!"

"Oh what will I do?
I gave my last pill to Grandmother Goat."
Poor sick old Doctor Goat got into bed
With a cloth on his head and another around his throat.
For a whole long day in the month of May
He slept, did Doctor Goat.
His bag on the floor, on the wall, his coat.

While he slept, his friends came in
They swept the floor as neat as a pin
They fixed the fire, they brought some food.
Then fondly brushed the shabby coat
Of tired old Doctor Goat.
And — the very next day
He was on his way.
Three cheers for Doctor Goat!

280 ACRES OF JUNIATA CO WOODLAND AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Fri. Eve., Nov. 10, 1995

7:30 P.M.

Property located 2½ mile south of East Waterford, off Rt. 75, BUT WILL BE OFFERED FOR SALE AT JUNIATA MARKETS, Jct of Rts 75 and old 22, at the blinking lights, 1 mile north of Port Royal. From Hbg. take Rt 322 west approx. 40 mi to the Port Royal Exit, take Rt 75 south to property. Sale direction sign along Rt 75.

This 280 ac tract of woodland, located in Tuscarora Twp., is not only a great opportunity to buy prime, secluded hunting land, but also a good investment. There is presently some marketable timber on this property, but given another 10 years to mature, it would provide a great return on your investment. This 280 acres not only provides dozens of its own great hunting spots, but also gives access to 1000's of acres of Penna. State Game Lands, along its entire southern border, a distance of over 4000 ft.

This 280 ac tract is not all steep Mountain ground. It offers areas suitable for a cabin or camper.

The property was recently surveyed and well marked. All right-of-ways and maintance agreements have been signed and copies will be available for your inspection.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR A HUNTER'S PARADISE, WITH GREAT POTENTIAL TO PAY FOR ITSELF, DON'T MISS SEEING THIS ONE — ON THESE SHOW DATES: Sat., Oct. 21 and Sun., Oct. 22 from 1 to 4 PM each day and on Sat., Oct. 28 and Sun., Oct. 29 from 1 to 4 PM each day. OR CALL 717-527-2405 for an appt.

PLEASE NOTE — If want to see it all, pack a lunch and bring your hiking boots.

TERMS — 10% down at time of sale, balance in 45 days, other terms at sale.

LOCAL BANK CURRENCY SALE to be sold at Absolute Auction

Sat., Nov. 18, 1995

9:30 am, preview from 8 am

by E.M. Murry Associates
23 North Water St., Lititz, PA

This outstanding PRIVATE COLLECTION of Bank Paper Money, Checks, Private Issue Notes and Advertisements dating from 1814 was assembled over a 35-year period.

Items bear many local signatures including bank officers and local merchants. The 208 lots include unique pieces, many of museum quality.

Highlights include a rare Civil War Era Fractional Shield used in banks to detect counterfeit money and the #1 uncut sheet of $10 notes issued to the Lancaster County National Bank in 1929. A comprehensive Coin and Currency Reference Library is included.

If you wish to secure a piece of LOCAL HISTORY this is an excellent opportunity.

A complete illustrated listing will be mailed to you by contacting the auctioneer, E.M. Murry Associates at 626-2636.

Our corn hybrids deliver proven field performance in the Mid-Atlantic geographical area. We test and develop our hybrids in your fields! And they're winning in competitive test plots. Listen to what your neighbors are saying about Mid-Atlantic Seeds:

"I planted MA9200 with Pioneer 3171 and MA9200 outyielded the Pioneer brand. The Mid-Atlantic Seeds hybrid was a higher quality product at a substantially lower cost. I was very pleased with the performance of this corn."
Steve Wilson, Parkton, MD.

"I am very impressed with Mid-Atlantic Seeds corn hybrids. The seed quality and grading were excellent. Their corn averaged 148 bu. per acre and I am very happy with that yield...especially considering the dry season we had. I couldn't have been more pleased."
Wayne Wessner, Kutztown, PA

"MA9200 harvested 27.3 tons per acre. It outyielded 3 competitors hybrids by an average of 1.7 tons per acre. I was also very happy with MA9170 which averaged 147 bu. per acre. Mid-Atlantic Seeds proved to be a reliable, economical and very effective product."
Harold Smith My Ladys Manor,
Monkton, MD

"I was very happy with the field performance of MA9050 and MA9090. They both had high yields and excellent standability. Next year I definitely plan on going back to Mid-Atlantic Seeds."
John Barstler, Jr.,
Stewartstown, PA

"This year I planted Mid-Atlantic Seeds corn in all my fields and it performed exceptionally well. With Mid-Atlantic Seeds I got a high performance hybrid and great service, at an affordable price. I will absolutely be planting Mid-Atlantic Seeds next year."
Sam Gessaman, Cullen, VA.

"As soon as we started feeding it"

Cows Ate Better and Milk Production Increased

"As soon as we started feeding the silage grown from the corn hybrids recommended for our farm, we noticed the cows started eating better and our milk production per cow went Up by 4-5 lbs. of milk a day," says Jake Tanis, a Center Hall, Pa., dairy producer (shown in photo with son Adam).

Tanis is referring to hybrids specifically selected for top corn silage traits. He chose them from the innovative corn silage Menu from Cargill Hybrid Seeds.

When Tanis first heard about the Cargill Menu, he said it sounded promising, but he wasn't sure it could be as good as advertised.

"We planted 24 acres in what turned out to be a bad year, but we got great silage," says Tanis. "The Cargill corn was superior to anything else I planted for silage. I couldn't believe the vigorous growth, the size and strength of the stalks and the large, consistent ears of the hybrids suggested for my farm."

Production Improvement

Silage from other hybrids came out of Tanis' silo first. As soon as he hit the Cargill corn he noticed a difference in production of 4-5 lbs. per cow per day.

Tanis, who farms with his wife, Sally, and son, has a milking herd of 100 Holsteins, all registered and on DHI test. In the purebred evaluations they have 20 cows rated excellent, 46 very good, 28 good plus. The herd has a Breed Age Average ranking of 109.

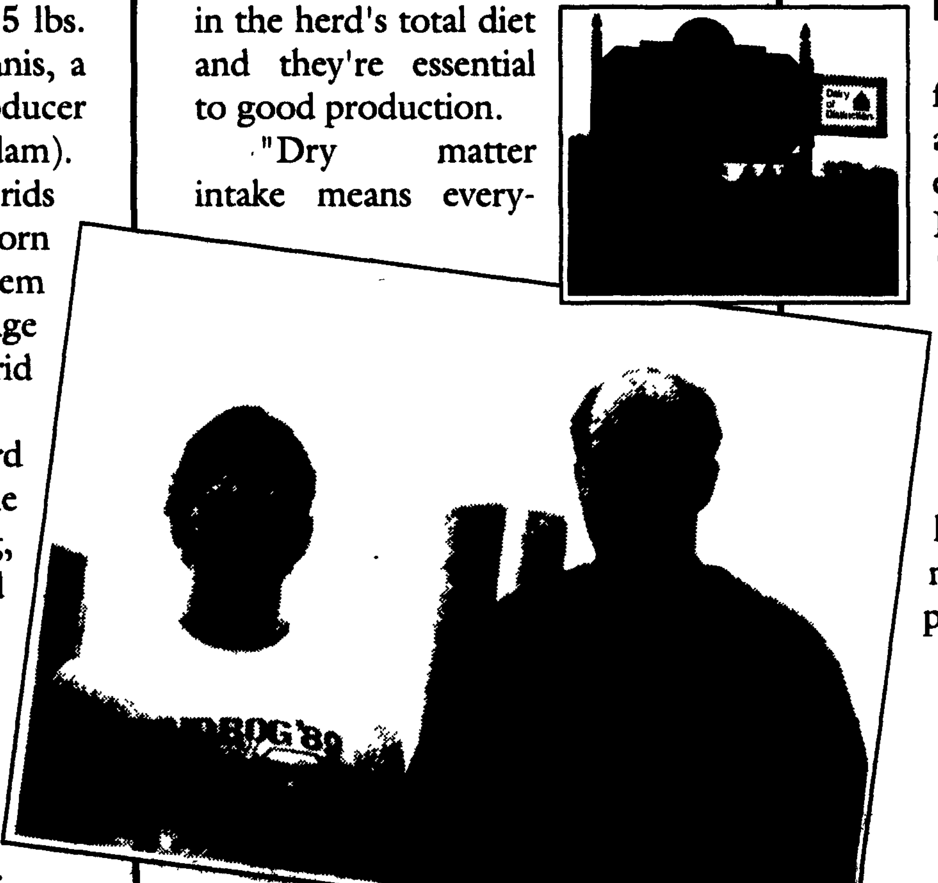
27,800 lbs. Per Cow

With a rolling herd average of 27,800 lbs. per cow per year, 1,050 lbs. fat and 900 lbs. protein, Tanis believes that every increase in production is a bonus.

Besides silage, the cows are fed a total mixed ration (TMR) twice daily. It includes haylage, roasted soybeans, distillers grains, energy booster (a fat product) and protein meal.

The TMR is essential to assure that they receive a balanced ration, Tanis emphasizes. But highly digestible corn silage and haylage are vital components in the herd's total diet and they're essential to good production.

"Dry matter intake means everything in making milk profitably," he points out. "We're very fussy about our feed. That's why we like the hybrids recommended in the Cargill corn silage Menu for our area. This Cargill program is a lot better than I thought it would be. It really made me a believer."



Field of Dreams

This year Tanis has a field of Cargill hybrids along the road by the entrance to his "Ideal Holsteins" farm driveway. "It looks so good that everybody I bought seed from claims it," he reports. "But if you look on the Cargill corn silage Menu, that's one of the hybrids recommended for my farm. It's as good as promised

York Plans DHIA Awards Banquet

SHREWSBURY (York Co.) — Awards presentations and gospel music entertainment will share the program at the annual meeting of the York County Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA), scheduled for 7 p.m. on Monday, November 20, at the Shrewsbury Fire Hall.

The annual dinner and awards program will also feature election of new directors to the county board, a report from district director Neal McCullough, Newville, and information on the Milk Urea Nitrogen (MUN) testing available through the state DHIA.

Cost for the roast beef dinner is $8.50 for adults, $4 for children 6 through 12, and free for children 5 and under. Tickets may be ordered through the county's DHIA technicians or by contacting Scott Cooper at 717-456-5355 or 717-456-5484, or Gary Thoman, 717-428-1832.

The Shrewsbury Fire Hall is located in Shrewsbury, on Route 851, west of Exit 1 of Interstate 83.

Setting Beef Patterns Is Conference Goal

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The 12th World Hereford Conference, hosted by the American Hereford Association (AHA), will set the international pattern for Hereford beef into the 21st century. The three-day conference will be held at Colorado State University, Ft. Collins, Aug. 15-17. 1996.

The World Hereford Conference is held every four years and is hosted each time by one of the 19 members countries, which represent the major beef producing areas of the world. This is the second time the event has been hosted by the U.S.

Hereford breeders from each of the member countries are expected, along with sizable attendance of U.S. and Canadian cattlemen.

The format of the 12th Conference will feature a full scale Hereford evaluation clinic. Breeders, producers and animal scientists will use extensive live animal demonstrations to assess the performance of the breed during the past half-century and will establish goals and direction for the future.

A major highlight will be a display of Hereford cattle representing three distinctly different eras of the past 50 years. In the spring of 1994, some 200 Hereford cows were divided into three groups and bred to bulls which were prominent in the 1940-50s, and the 1970-80s, and the 1990s. Results of these matings will be presented and discussed.

The conference will focus on identifying desirable Hereford traits and tracing the genetic transfer of traits for seedstock to the final beef product. The Colorado State University staff will prepare unique and dramatic displays enabling visual appraisal of carcass composition of various Hereford types.

Other program highlights include feedlot tours, international beef survey reports, genetic variability ranges and biological maturity evaluation in slaughter steers, optimums for different environments, plus intensive workshops on embryo splitting, gene probes, worldwide EPDs and economic efficiencies.

Pre- and post-conference tours will give international visitors a thorough overview of U.S. farms and ranches.

For more information, contact American Hereford Association, P.O. Box 014059, Kansas City, MO 64101, (816) 842-3757.

Young Farmer News

National Young Farmer Educational Association, Inc

WHAT IS THE YOUNG FARMER ASSOCIATION ALL ABOUT?

Richard Hoppes
PYFA Education Coordinator

I'm Richard Hoppes, PYFA education coordinator.

As a grain farmer and former dairy farmer, I will be writing articles in Lancaster Farming that relate to Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association activities.

"Young" in our organization name does not mean age. We have members from age 18 to 90. Our motto is "A Young Farmer Is Any Farmer Willing To Learn." With technology advancing so fast, we need to keep educating ourselves.

PYFA's Mission Statement reads:

"The mission of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association is to educate and promote the environmentally appropriate production, marketing, and processing of food, feed, and fiber."

We are a dues-structured organization. Membership in the organization costs $6 per year or $90 per lifetime. We are affiliated with the National Young Farmer Educational Association Inc., which has a $5 dues per year or $100 lifetime membership fee.

Under the state organization, there are at the present 34 chapters throughout the state, which I will list at a later date. You can contact me at (610) 562-4945 or the membership chairman Terry E. Martin, 930 Swamp Fox Road, Chambersburg, PA 17201 at (717) 375-4581 to find out which chapter is closest to you.

I want to make a point that the dues are only a small part of financial aid. We have many agribusinesses to help with the cost and advice with the newsletters, awards, winter convention, and summer conference.

I also would like to point out that all meetings are open to the public. You don't have to be a member to come. Most meetings are held in the ag room in the school or on the farm. Meetings are regularly listed in the farm calendar of Lancaster Farming.

The educational meetings are for young and old, men and women, and sometimes for the whole family. They are geared to full-time, part-time, or hobby farmers. Come out and see for yourself.

Remember: A young farmer is any farmer willing to learn.

DAYCO SUPER II V-BELTS

Now there's a belt that beats the toughest drive problems.

Many heavy-duty industrial machines demand more than conventional wrapped v-belts can stand Their punishing drives make ordinary belts crack under pressure The result unnecessary and expensive downtime

Now there s a solution to the consistent costly problem of replacing or retensioning belts It s the revolutionary new Super II™ v-belt from Dayco The Super II belt was designed specifically for the most brutal applications And its performance blows the cover off conventional wrapped belts

In heavy torque high horsepower and extreme shock load comparisons it s not even a contest The Super II v-belt is stronger more flexible and lasts far longer

Innovative design & construction provide extra strength and stamina

The secret to the Super II v-belt s durability is its unique construction The central position of the polyester cords in the neoprene rubber core provides greater strength balance and longer life Multiple fabric plies top and bottom enhance flexibility And Dayco's unique raw-edged construction gives it a better grip for controlled slippage

These attributes combined make the Super II belt superior to conventional wrapped belts in every way

Test the Super II v-belt on your toughest drive

The Super II v-belt was field-tested for two years on the most severe applications rock quarry shaker screens lumber mill tree debarkers and pipe descalers In every case it outperformed conventional wrapped belts by a wide margin But the only test that really counts is the one you do on your own equipment

Try the Super II belt on your toughest drive problem You ll be so amazed by its incredible endurance that you'll want to put it on all your drives In fact, we're so sure you'll be pleased with the performance of the Super II v-belt that in the unlikely event you're not satisfied we'll refund the original purchase price, or replace it with a conventional wrapped v-belt

Machinery Sale At Goods Auction House

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — The new management at Goods Auction House located at 111 N. Maple Ave. off Rt. 23, Leola, has announced Leola Machinery Sales.

The monthly sale will be held the second Wednesday of each month starting Nov. 8 and continuing in January 1996.

The auction site has a 10-acre fenced-in yard, office, storage buildings and food court. A low commission rate schedule and a variety of items will be offered.

The sale starts at 9 a.m. with truck lots, including new and used tools, and will continue throughout the day with three auctioneers selling everything from contractor tools, compressors, welders, lawn and garden tractors, commercial mowers, trailers, farm tractors and attachments, industrial equipment, nursery stock, sheds, and field lots of the hard-to-find collectibles.

Wolgemuth Auction Services will provide the auctioneers and office staff.

Case Launches Advanced Farming Systems

RACINE, Wis. — It's been called the biggest change to hit production agriculture since the advent of herbicides — site-specific farming — and it will revolutionize the way farmers work their fields.

Leading the way into this technological revolution, Case Corporation has announced that customers from 12 states have leased the first products available as part of the Case IH Advanced Farming Systems.

These include a yield monitor, flow sensor, moisture sensor, GPS receiver and yield-mapping software. Case said it is preparing for full production of these products to begin in 1996.

"Our customers are faced with a variety of new challenges in today's agricultural markets," said James A. Stoddart, Case vice president, product management. "To compete successfully in the future, our customers need new tools that enhance their productivity. The Case IH Advanced Farming Systems meet those needs — today. These products enable a farmer to minimize inputs and maximize outputs by giving him a whole new way to look at his business."

According to Kelly Kravig, product manager, Advanced Farming Systems, Case customers leasing the limited production units have committed to an ongoing, three-year relationship with the company. "As with all our products, Case is dedicated to customer-focused research and development as we move forward with the Advanced Farming Systems," Kravig said. "These customers will work with us to make refinements to the current products and to help in development of future products."

A limited number of Axial-Flow® combines equipped with Case IH yield-measurement and field-mapping systems will be in use by farmers in 12 states this fall. This is the first site-specific farming technology unveiled as part of the Cash IH Advanced Farming Systems. Full production is scheduled for 1996.

While the products introduced today represent only one component of site-specific farming, they enable customers to take the critical first step toward fully utilizing this technology.

Looking into the future, Case has committed to an open-architecture environment for its Advanced Farming Systems products. This means that farmers will be able to share collected data with fertilizer companies, pesticide companies and others to establish specially tailored applications for specific areas of each field.

Deere Adds No-Till Drill To Seeding Line

MOLINE, Ill.—The John Deere 1850 no-till air drill is the latest addition to the company's growing line of air seeding equipment.

Designed for seeding into no-till, mulch-till, and conventional-till conditions, the 1850 No-Till Air Drill provides growers with accurate, high-capacity seeding and ease of transport.

The 1850 Drill features field-proven 750 no-till drill openers mounted at 7.5- or 10-inch row spacings on a two-rank, three-section, overcenter folding frame. Working widths are 30, 36, and 42.5 feet. When teamed with the John Deere 787 Air Seeding System, the 1850 provides the capacity to seed a lot of acres in a broad range of soil conditions, accurately and quickly.

The exclusive active hydraulic down-pressure system on the 1850 Drill provides up to 450 pounds of down-pressure per opener to penetrate hard soils and heavy residue. The down-pressure setting is adjusted with a simple turn of a control knob on the machine. When connected to "live" hydraulics, the system automatically maintains uniform down-pressure on the openers as conditions change across the field.

The John Deere 1850 No-Till Air Drill combines field-proven 750 No-Till Drill openers mounted on a two-rank folding frame with the air-seeding capacity of the 787 tank cart. The result is a machine that provides accurate seeding in no-till or conventional-till and working widths of 30, 36, and 42 feet for high productivity.

Side Shift Transmission Available

ATLANTA, Ga. — MF® 300 Series footstep (non cab) tractors, from 60 to 95 PTO horsepower, are available with the convenient MF 12x12 Synchro Shuttle Side Shift transmission.

"This 12x12 transmission has been a very popular choice for 300 Series cab tractors, and customers have been asking for this option in footstep models," said John Sargeant, Massey Ferguson product marketing manager. "The 12x12 Side Shift transmission is ideal for operations where frequent forward and reverse changes are necessary, and its 12 basic speeds make it well suited to field and utility work as well."

The MF 12x12 Side Shift transmission is fully synchronized in all gears including the forward/reverse shuttle. The synchronizers ensure the two gears being coupled are turning at the same speed before engagement to eliminate gear grinding, double clutching, and the need to come to a complete stop before shifting. Loader cycle times are improved, transmission life is extended, and operator comfort is increased.

The fully synchronized transmision has 12 evenly spaced gears with three speed ranges for slow specialty jobs, medium field work, and fast field and transport applications. A single side-mounted lever control selects both gear and range changes and eliminates the need to move two or three shift levers when changing the speed by a single ratio.

Location of the single control lever to the right hand side of the operator clears the cab deck for a more comfortable driving position, provides more convenient gear changes, and offers clear cab entry from either side with unrestricted seat access.

Massey Ferguson 300 Series footstep (non cab) tractors from 60 to 95 horsepower are available with the 12 x 12 Synchro Shuttle Side Shift transmission. This transmission is ideal where frequent forward and reverse changes are necessary.

Monitoring Shows Little Herbicide Presence

WASHINGTON, D.C.—None of the drinking water in 175 cities and towns monitored for the presence of Acetochlor, a new herbicide, exceeded the regulatory limit set for the product, according to a survey submitted recently to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Acetochlor, used to control weeds in corn, was registered by the EPA last year with the requirement that the manufacturers, Monsanto Co. and Zeneca Inc., monitor drinking water supplies. As part of the precedent-setting program, 175 communities that get their water from rivers and streams are being monitored every two weeks.

Analysis of more than 1,600 samples collected from March through June this year showed that no community's water was close to the limit by EPA. A water system would be out of compliance if the annual average of the semi-weekly samples exceeded 2 parts per billion.

"None of the water systems sampled in this spring quarter, the time of year when farmers use herbicides, even approached an average concentration of 2 parts per billion," said Dr. Andrew Klein, technical manager for Monsanto. "We expect the average concentration to be even less as lower or non-detectable readings from the rest of the year are figured in."

Company Signs Agreement

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Cenex/Land O'Lakes Seeds and Ciba Seeds have entered into a marketing agreement through which Cenex/Land O'Lakes will distribute Ciba's Maximizer lineup of insect-resistant seed corn, under the Ciba Seeds brand, starting in the spring of 1996.

On August 8, Ciba became the first company to receive U.S. Environmental Protection Agency approval to begin marketing seed corn with Bt-based resistance to European corn borer, a pest that costs U.S. farmers as much as $1 billion a year in lost yields. Through this strategic alliance, Cenex/Land O'Lakes agronomists and sales representatives will provide access to the Maximizer lineup to more than 200,000 customers of the combined Cenex and Land O'Lakes cooperative system.

Eastern National Hosts Genetic Focus Show

TIMONIUM, Md.—The Maryland Polled Hereford breeders selected Streamlined Genetic Focus as the format for their Eastern National Polled Hereford SOP Show.

Under this system, judge Jim Gillooly, Washington, Ind., scored the EPDs for the cattle; these scores were then added to Gillooly's visual scores for the cattle to comprise the final placings.

There were 123 cattle that competed in the Sept. 30 show held in Timonium, Md. The event was dedicated to Gordon Sheetenhelm of Frederick, Md.

Although he owns no cattle, Sheetenhelm has taken upon himself to be the public relations spearhead for Maryland Polled Hereford breeders since he attended his first Polled Hereford sale in 1947.

Dekalb Reports Improved Results For Seed

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation reported sharply higher results from its North American seed operations and a slight increase in total net earnings for the 1995 fiscal year.

Led by a market share gain in corn, all seed products in North America posted sales volume gains. The domestic corn business also recorded significantly higher margins.

For the year ended August 31, Dekalb reported net earnings of $10.7 million or $2.04 per share compared with $10.6 million or $2.02 per share in the previous year. Revenues in fiscal 1995 rose 6 percent to $319.4 million from $300.2 million.

Earnings from continuing operations and before non-recurring items increased to $1.80 per share from $1.71 per share. Fiscal 1995 earnings included an after-tax gain of $1.2 million, or 24 cents per share, from the sale of the poultry operation.

Fiscal 1994 earnings included an after-tax benefit of $2.1 million, or 40 cents per share, associated with the company's decision to suspend the defined benefit portion of its retirement program. Prior year earnings also included an after-tax charge of $400,000 or 9 cents per share, related to the change in accounting for income taxes.

"Our corn sales volume in North America increased three percent, despite a 10 percent decline in corn planted acreage," said Bruce P. Bickner, chairman and chief executive officer. "This translates into a market share gain of more than one percentage point."

For the fourth quarter, as anticipated, the company reported a net loss of $1.2 million, or 23 cents per share, compared with net earnings of $1.2 million, or 22 cents per share, in the year-ago period. Revenues for the quarter were up modestly to $25.1 million from $23.3 million.

Dekalb Swine reported an operating loss of $900,000 for fiscal 1995, down significantly from segment earnings of $5.7 million in the previous year. Revenues fell 10 percent to $47.4 million from $52.7 million.

The analysis of sample-day milk for urea nitrogen (MUN) is new to the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA).

MUN values are expressed as milligrams per deciliter (mg/dl). For a group of 10 or more cows with 40 or more days in milk, a target group-average MUN is 10 to 14 mg/dl.

Within a group, most animals will be within 6 mg/dl of the average MUN. (As an example, if the group's average MUN is 12 mg/dl, most test results on individual cows will fall within the range from 6 mg/dl to 18 mg/dl.)

MUN levels are affected by the total intake of crude protein, degradable and soluble protein, and the amount and type of non-structural carbohydrates supplied in the ration.

While low levels of MUN might indicate low protein intake and high levels of MUN might indicate high levels of protein intake, it is quite possible that extreme MUN levels result from a combination of several different nutrient intake levels.

For this reason, a trained herd consultant should work with you in interpreting MUN results.

To assist you in the analysis of your herd's MUN values, Pa.DHIA has prepared this report. It summarizes test day data for your milking herd by days in milk, and by group number.

The "Profile of Cows by Days in Milk" report summarizes data by days in milk catagories, for first, second, third and greater lactations. (See the accompanying example of the summary report.)

Cows are summarized across groups to provide additional herd averages.

The information that appears within each profile is described in an accompanying key.

For more information about MUN reports or any other questions about the use or value of Pa.DHIA tests, contact a field technician or call 1-800-DHI-TEST.

Cows:

Milking	Number of milking animals.
MUN Samples	Number of milk samples analyzed for milk urea nitrogen

Testday Values:

Milk Lbs	The average daily milk production on test day.
% Fat	The average percent butterfat of the milk produced on test day.
%Pro	The average percent protein of the milk produced on test day.
%SNF	The average percent solids-not-fat of the milk produced on test day.
Linear SCC	The average weighted somatic cell count of the milk produced on test day expressed as a linear score
Wtd SCC	The average weighted somatic cell count of the milk produced on test day.
Lo MUN	Of the test day samples analyzed, this is the lowest milk urea nitrogen value.
Hi MUN	Of the test day samples analyzed, this is the highest milk urea nitrogen value.
Avg MUN	The average milk urea nitrogen value of the milk produced on test day.
Days in Milk	The average days in milk through current test day for milking cows. This only appears for the Profile of Cows By Group Number.

Tour Explores Holistic Resource Management, Rotational Grazing

MANSFIELD (Tioga Co.) — Are you having trouble meeting a goal or even defining what your goal should be? And how do you find out if you are headed in the right direction?

A discussion and pasture walk is scheduled Saturday, Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. at the Bonanza Resturant in Mansfield to help you find out.

Holistic Resource Management (HRM) is a process of goal-setting, decision-making, and monitoring. The Tioga County HRM Pasture Walk will briefly explain the HRM model, how you could use this for your farm, or how HRM can be used in grazing. HRM is not a pasture management answer but another process to help you make decisions.

On Oct. 28 at 10 a.m., Joshua Silman from Vermont will talk to producers about the HRM model, pasture management, and observations about a case farm. Following lunch, those who attend will take part in a pasture walk on a neighboring farm.

Joshua Silman is a pasture consultant with the Vermont Pasture Management Outreach Program. He is also an HRM Instructor working with Ed Martzolf of the Center for Holistic Resource Management in Albuquerque, N.M.

The group will tour two farms, a grazing dairy and dairy heifers and pastured poultry. Fall grass management, this summer's drought, grass growth, and many other topics will be included in the discussion.

Each farm is prepared to discuss their goals for the farm and themselves and how they may attain them.

Call The Tioga County extension office to register at (717)-724-9120.

For more information, contact Craig Williams at 118 Main Street, Wellsboro PA 16901, (717)-724-9120 or e-mail Williams at cwilliam@psupen.psu.edu.

Seminar Explores New Trends In Feed Industry

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Feed industry professionals can get the latest information on dairy cattle nutrition and feeding management by attending the 1995 Dairy Feed Industry Seminar for agricultural professionals.

This one-day workshop, taught by dairy researchers in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, will be offered in five locations in Pennsylvania during November: Altoona, Butler, Chambersburg, Intercourse, and Tunkhannock. Each workshop begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 4 p.m., with a one-hour break for lunch.

"These seminars will give nutritionists, consultants, and feed sales representatives the latest information on managing nutrition and feed for dairy cattle," said Dr. Jud Heinrichs, professor of dairy science, who is coordinating the seminar with Virginia Ishler, extension assistant in dairy and animal science.

Other Penn State faculty participating in the seminars include Dr. Lisa Holden, assistant professor of dairy science, and Dr. Michael O'Connor, professor of dairy science.

Topics to be covered in the morning session include heifer costs, contract raising, ionophores, dry cow and transitional cow feeding, nutrient management of pastures, and nutritional concerns for optimal reproduction.

Topics for the afternoon session include feeding chelated minerals, coping with balage, troubleshooting nutritional problems, and an overview of Penn State's teaching, research, and extension activities in dairy nutrition.

Preregistration is requested by Oct. 30. The $40 registration fee includes meals and conference materials. Participants can receive six credits for the American Registry of Professional Animal Scientists.

The workshop will be offered at the following locations:

- Nov. 8 at the Ramada Hotel, Altoona. For more information contact Greg Strait, extension agent in Huntingdon County, (814) 643-1660.
- Nov. 9 at the Garden Gate Restaurant, Butler. For more information contact Gene Schurman, extension agent in Indiana County, (412) 465-3880.
- Nov. 13 at the Lighthouse Restaurant, Chambersburg. For more information contact Phil Wagner, extension agent in Franklin County, (717) 263-9226.
- Nov. 14 at the Harvest Drive Family Restaurant, Intercourse. For more information contact Glenn Shirk, extension agent in Lancaster County, (717) 394-6851.
- Nov. 15 at the Shadow Brook Inn and Resort, Tunkhannock. For more information contact Nick Place, extension agent in Susquehanna County, (717) 278-1158.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

> "As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

NO USED SILOS!
NO REBUILT SILOS!
NO PRE-OWNED SILOS!
ALL NEW FOR YOU.

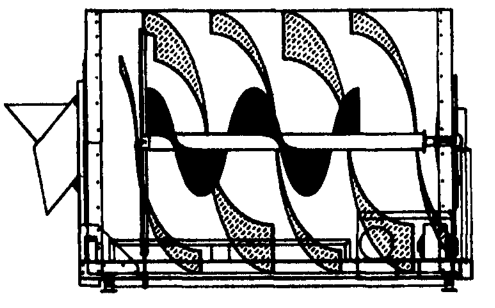
Patz



T.M.R. Mixer

Unique central spiral circulator
No bearings inside the mixer drum

Fewer working parts make the Patz Tumble Mixer reliable (only 3 grease fittings).

As the drum rotates, the central spiral circulator moves feed to the back of the mixer. At the same time, the fliting bolted to the drum in a spiral design move the feed to the front as it mixes with a tumbling action.

- Four sizes
- High-strength, corrosion-resistant steel mixer drum
- Electronic scale
- Low-rate financing available.

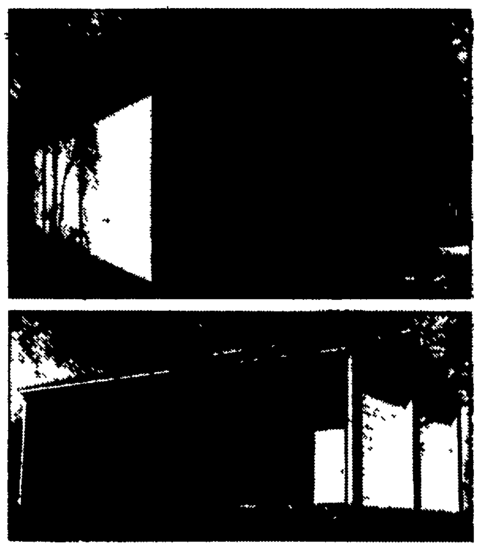
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel



When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE
  High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST
  To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL
  You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES
  Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

Rural Economy

Cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

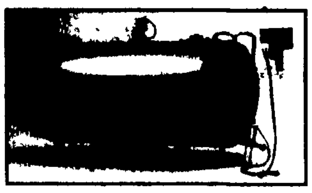
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

[illegible]

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

Quality Compost
for farms · for gardens
Lancaster County Composters
Healthy Soil.
Healthy Plants.
Healthy People.

After 10 years of both local and international research, Lancaster County Composters have developed the best solution for humus management...their quality compost!

Not only will application improve top soil fertility, increase water retention, and better your yield, but by using compost rather than manure you could reduce much of your manure application management as regulated by the EPA.

Write or call the folks at Lancaster County Composters for information about soil benefits, pricing, and delivery.

Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

Before choosing a new tractor, follow one simple rule

ASK AN OWNER

Every new tractor comes loaded with promise. But one comes backed by proof. The 7200 Series MAGNUM.™ • After 50,000 MAGNUM tractors, farmers across the country have discovered the difference that true reliability, durability and performance can make.

A difference that has inspired a new brand of loyalty. MAGNUM loyalty. • Loyalty built on late nights at full throttle in heavy soil, running hard against the weather. On hot afternoons, rim-deep in hard labor.On hectic spring mornings, squeezing three weeks of planting into a two-week schedule. Those are the times that a tractor shows its true colors. And those are the times that MAGNUM excels.Year in, year out, for owner after owner.

• From 130 to 215 PTO hp, there's a MAGNUM to fit any farm. If you want to know more, ask your dealer. Better yet, Ask An Owner.

Angus Association Sets Annual Meeting

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Angus breeders from 46 states and Canada will gather at the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) in Louisville, Ky. on Monday, Nov. 13 to conduct the business of the world's largest beef breed association. The 112th annual meeting highlights the three-day Angus event.

Some 307 delegates have been nominated by their home state to elect a new president, vice president, and five people to serve three-year terms on the American Angus Association board of directors at the annual meeting, which is scheduled for 2 p.m. in the south wing of the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. Only official delegates may vote, but the meeting is open to all association members as well as the public.

Angus activities at the NAILE begin Sunday, Nov. 12 with the junior heifer show, which starts at 8 a.m. in the Coliseum. That evening, the Angus reception takes place at the Executive West Hotel Queen and Scots Room from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The Angus Roll of Victory (ROV) Super Point Show gets under way Monday, Nov. 13 at 8 a.m. in the Coliseum. Mark Squires, Westby, Wis., will select the female champions on Monday and continue with the bull show at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 14. Tom Hook, Tracy, Minn., will serve as associate judge.

Opti-Flo M.T.S.

(Milk transfer System)

This control allows the milk pump to deliver a steady, gentle flow of milk to the plate cooler to achieve more efficient cooling. Since milk goes through the plate cooler at a slower pace, the water has a better chance to take the heat out of the milk, and increase the quality of the milk.

Market Share In Processed Food Markets Declines

AMES, Iowa — According to a report just released, the United States has been consistently losing market share in international markets for processed food products.

To many, this indicates that the international competitiveness of the U.S. Food processing industry is eroding.

The report was released by the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology (CAST), a leading consortium of more than 30 professional scientific societies.

Dr. Maury Bredahl, director of the Center for International Trade Expansion at the University of Missouri and chair of the CAST task force report "Competitiveness of U.S. Agriculture and the Balance of Payments," explains why increasing exports of processed food products is so important.

"If commodities are processed in the United States, business activity increases here, employment and personal income rises, the tax base broadens, and the balance of trade improves. On the other hand, if foreign countries process U.S. commodities, these benefits are realized abroad."

According to author Philip C. Abbott, professor of agricultural economics at Purdue University, "Agricultural export earnings this year are at record levels. But gains are largely due to commodity price increases following bad weather globally and increased foreign demand. Exports of high-value and processed food products are also increasing but more slowly than in competing countries."

The authors report that the unit value, or average price, of exports from the United States was below that of exports from countries like France and The Netherlands, which are the world's largest exporters of processed food products. Although the percentage has declined recently, about half of U.S. exports still consist of low-value-added commodities.

The CAST study identifies several determinants of the competitive position of the United States in international food markets. Several economy-wide factors, exchange and interest rates, and growth in productivity and efficiency have important effects. But competitiveness factors important in international commodity markets are different from the factors important in international processed food markets.

Natural resources such as fertile soils, favorable climate, and cost reducing technologies are crucial for competitiveness in international commodity markets. Product characteristics, quality enhancing technologies, product innovations, regulatory environment, and trade policies play more important roles in the processed food markets. And often food processors require that characteristics desired in the final product be imparted at the farm.

According to University of Kentucky agricultural economics professor Dr. Michael Reed, one of the report's authors, "The U.S. agricultural industry needs to do a better job of assessing international needs for specific food products if it wants to be more competitive."

The authors point to a need among Land Grant universities and experiment stations to link research priorities with economic payoffs to the entire food system, including processing. Firms are seeking technologies for delivering products at a time and place and in a form demanded by foreign consumers. Experiment stations must choose between downsizing and increasing collaboration on research with a payoff to individual firms.

The report notes that research and government policies should help small and midsized firms because they are especially likely to access foreign markets through exports. Large U.S. food multinationals are more likely to access foreign markets through subsidiaries than by exporting from their U.S. operations.

Export subsidies on agricultural commodities are of limited benefit to farmers and exporters. Benefits are exceeded greatly by costs to taxpayers and costs to consumers and processors through higher prices, and often are distributed unequally. The tendency of farmers and food processors to produce for government programs decreases the competitiveness of the U.S. food system at home and abroad. Public resources are better aimed at improving the information infrastructure and research base used by exporting firms and agriculture.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP

There's a new skid-steer champ and its name is the Model L865 New Holland Super Boom™. The "L865" is built tough all around so it's the most durable, reliable and powerful machine on the market.

It has a 60-horsepower, turbocharged diesel engine for the ultimate in power. And it has a massive 2,200-lb. operating load to pick up where all others leave off. Of course, it has the features you expect from New Holland, such as the best speed, stability, visibility, lift height and dump reach in the industry. Add that to the Pick Up 'n Go™ universal attachment system and there's nothing it can't handle. Stop by today and put the champ to work for you.

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future.

The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation A specially engineered hopper bolts directly on top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity

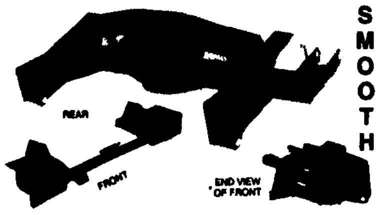
KELDERMAN AIR RIDE

SMOOTH



SMOOTH

Adding a Kelderman Air Ride Conversion system to your present suspension will result in a two stage suspension system. This is not to be confused with adding an Air bag mounted above the axle. Allows adding extra spring leafs to increase load rating and still maintain Air-Ride comfort.

The bolt on basic package utilizes an air stem mounted in a convenient location to add or remove air from the system

Optional 12 volt compressor allows changing air pressure setting on the go.

Currently available for front and rear suspension in Dodge Series 250 & 350 trucks. Available soon for Dodge Dakota models.

Also available for some Ford, Chevy and GMC truck models. Special orders available for most motor homes. This option will smooth out the ride on those rough-road fishing/camping trips.

REMOVE ROCKS BEFORE FALL SEEDING

Grated Hopper Bottom
We use spring steel straps in the hopper instead of using milder steel. The hopper is engineered to bounce back in shape.

Hydraulic Drive
The most popular drive on rock pickers is hydraulic which is standard on the 6000. We have incorporated a relief valve to take away the shock when disengaging the drive.

Flotation Tires
The 16.5Lx16.1 flotation tires are standard equipment and are a must to reduce soil conpaction.

Reel Assembly
We are using the same reel as the proven Super Picker 6800 The three paddel reel has a large diameter, hard surfaced teeth and heavy duty paddles

Swing Pole
The manual swing pole is easy to maneuver in both working or transport position.

Solid Shaft Grill Tines with Replaceable Grill Tips.
This modern grill is easier to maintain, has longer life giving you less down time. The unique grill provides five feet of clean shifting and virtually jamless performance may be the picker you'll need!

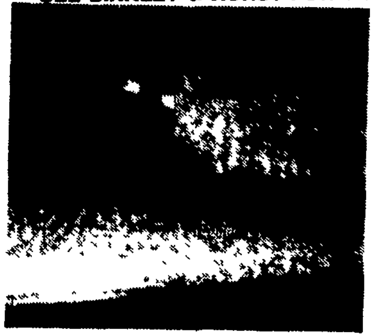
SEE BINKLEY & HURST FOR TRACTOR MOUNT DOZER BLADES



4600 & 5700 Series
The Degelman 4600 & 5700 hydraulic angle Bulldozer Blades attach to both front wheel assist and two wheel drive farm tractors. They incorporate a clean looking, low profile design and are built strong and tough, heavy duty construction to achieve a dozer blade that's ready to tackle demanding farm jobs
Ease of operation, built-in quality and the convenience of finger tip hydraulic angle control are only a few of the many features you'll appreciate.

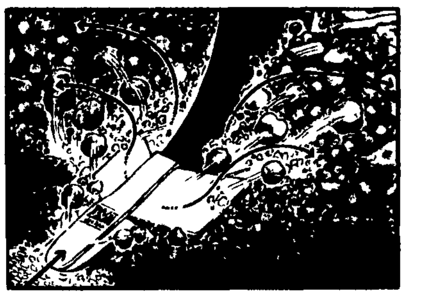
CONSERVATION TILLAGE SYSTEMS

Whether you are concerned about SOIL COMPACTION or RESIDUE MANAGEMENT

DMI

ECOLOTIL TILLAGE SYSTEMS Solve Your Problems!!!



DMI's Patented Point Makes The Difference

ECOLOTIL SYSTEMS

DMI SYSTEM	Min. HP Required
3 Shank Ecolotil	80
5 Shank Ecolotil	130
527 Ecolotiger	130
530 Ecolotiger	170
730 Ecolotiger	250

Each of these machines can be equipped to meet your particular needs. Your choices include shank style, shank arrangement, coulters/ discs, rear levelers or point style.

Soil Compaction is a problem on every farm we've checked. Breaking up the compaction layer

1) decreases soil run-off in wet years, by permitting water to percolate into the subsoil
2) makes room for plant roots systems to seek and find moisture in dry years

YOUR FIELDS PRODUCE MORE CROPS...

JOHN DEERE

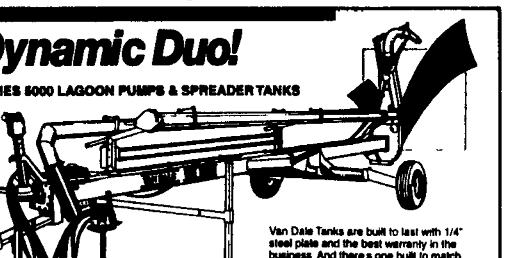
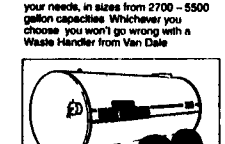
Dynamic Duo!

SERIES 5000 LAGOON PUMPS & SPREADER TANKS



Van Dale Tanks are built to last with 1/4" steel plate and the best warranty in the business And there s one built to match your needs, in sizes from 2700 – 5500 gallon capacities Whichever you choose you won't go wrong with a Waste Handler from Van Dale



Strength power and reliability It's all here with the new Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps These pumps have the perfect combination of agitation volume and pressure needed to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids with speed and power And with up to 5000 G PM agitation capacity it can blast a stream of manure 100 or more in any direction to create an easy pumping and spreading slurry The new Series 5000 trailer mounted or 3 point hitch by far the fastest and easiest to operate pumps on the market

THE VAN DALE ADVANTAGE

CHECK OUT THESE FEATURES
- ✓ Dependable Bearing Assembly
- ✓ Hydraulic Control from the Tractor Seat
- ✓ Aggressive, 36" High Pressure Impeller
- ✓ Adjustable Nozzle
- ✓ Heavy-Duty Drive Shaft

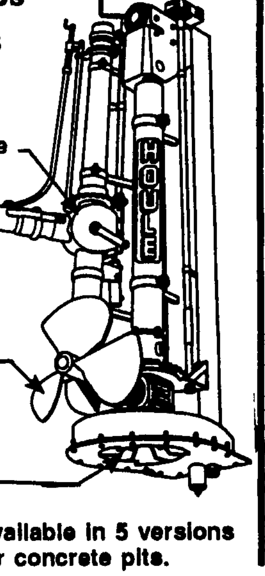
HOULE AGI-POMPE®

Liquid Manure Pumps

AGITATES BOTTOM SEDIMENTS AND SURFACE OF PIT AT THE SAME TIME



Rotative directional valve designed to be operated while P.T.O. is at low R.P.M.

Powerful nozzle to slice and agigate the crust of manure covering the surface of large holding area.

20" dia. impeller with self-cleaning blades.

Bottom gear box with oil bath protected by a greaseable 3 seals mechanism on each shaft.

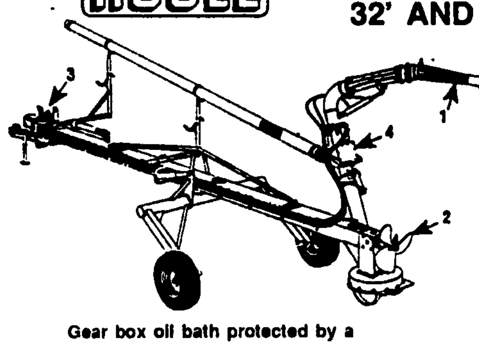
HOULE TRAIL AGI-POMPE®

32' AND 42' FOR LAGOONS



Gear box oil bath protected by a greaseable 3 seals mechanism on each shaft.

AVAILABLE WITH MULTIPURPOSE OPTION TO ALSO CLIMB INTO CONCRETE PITS UP TO 14' DEEP

GREAT PERFORMANCE IN HOG OR DAIRY MANURE

1-Highly articulated nozzle designed to slice and break the top crust from above the manure level as the propeller homogenises the liquid with the remaining floating chunks.
2-24" dia. mixing propeller providing full time agitation up to 21,500 US G.P.M. even when loading a spreader.
3-Hydraulic controls can be operated from tractor seat.
4-Rotative directional valve designed to be operated at low R.P.M. without stopping the P.T.O.

MASSEY FERGUSON®

Massey Ferguson's new 6100 and 8100 Series tractors have redefined the way tractor power is measured.

They deliver more of their engine horsepower-up to 90% - to your work. As a result, they can equal the performance of some competitive tractors with 10 to 20 more horsepower.

Stop in today and "Experience the Power" of these new tractors with their DynaTorque™ engines, Dynashift transmissions and the largest wet clutch in the industry.

Purina Calf Startena®

Assurance that the dairy replacement heifer will reach her full potential.

For over 50 years the leader – but never more so than today.

When Purina introduced Calf Startena back in the 1930's, it was widely recognized as the most advanced calf starter every made up to that time. Over the years, Startena has changed dramatically as researchers have discovered new information about the calf's digestive system, the onset of rumen changes, and nutritional requirements for proper rumen wall development.

WHY NO HAY

Since 1949, Purina researchers have recommended against feeding hay (or any other forage) to calves under two months of age. For years, this "no hay" premise was in dispute, but today most nutritionists agree. However, many dairy operations still include hay in their feeding programs, even though tests show it is an unwise practice.

Performance of Dairy Calves On Hay vs. No Hay Regimens

	Hay (Ad Lib)	No Hay
Total Weight Gain (lb)	58.20	69.50
Daily Intake Startena (lb)	1.71	2.10
Daily Intake Alfalfa Hay (lb)	.41	–

Duration of trials: 4 days to 2 months of age

An extra 11.3 pounds of gain, as averaged by calves that did not receive hay, is especially valuable in the early weeks.
